TWO BROTHERS CHOKED TO DEATH

Five and Three Year-Old
Lads Get Marbles in
Their Throats

Mother Removes Them
and Pulmotor is Used
in Vain

BOSTON, April 10.—A seemingly harmless game of marbles, that the two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Russ of Swampscott began happily yesterday afternoon ended in a tragedy when each of the lads, in the absence of their mother swallowed a glass "agony" and choked to death before a physician could reach them.

The victims were five-year-old Veryl and three-year-old Sherman. Three men with a pulmotor, summoned from Lynn, worked over them for three-quarters of an hour but could do nothing. In the opinion of the physician who was called the lads probably were dead when their terror-stricken mother with her fingers removed the marbles before he could reach the scene.

Mrs. Russ left the children in the kitchen in the middle of the afternoon and went upstairs to rest. When she last saw them alive they were playing with two glass marbles, half an inch and three-quarters of an inch in diameter respectively. They were rolling the spheres around a board and allowing them to trickle down past a series of pegs into slots in the base of the board.

Soon after the mother went to her room the children's prattle ceased and after a short silence she heard strange sounds, half-gurgling, half-choking. Mrs. Russ rushed downstairs and found both sons prone on the floor, black in the face.

She had the presence of mind to telephone for a doctor and then, pending his arrival, sought to assist her children herself. Though she got the marbles out without great difficulty, the boys did not stir or show any sign of life.

When the pulmotor was of no avail, Medical Examiner Joseph P. O'Shea was summoned, viewed the bodies and pronounced death due to asphyxiation. Only two weeks ago the Russ boys came near death when they swallowed some poisonous substance. Their recovery was due to the large amount they took, for most of it was thrown off. They had always shown in marked degree the childish propensity for swallowing anything and everything they could lay their hands on.

A CUPFUL OF HOT MILK
Not every one appreciates the value of hot milk. Many persons who cannot digest cold milk find that when it is heated and a pinch of salt added it agrees with them perfectly. Milk so hot that it must be sipped will often soothe the nerves of a person too tired and excited by the events of the day to sleep.

For a woman tired and hungry after shopping a cup of hot milk and a crisp cracker, a piece of toast or a graham wafer will supply the needed refreshment. A little flavoring is an acceptable addition, such as a pinch of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, vanilla or maple extract.

Then again hot milk is valuable for the toilet. It is good to apply to a burn. Should the skin be dry or chapped wash it night and morning with warm skimmed milk. This is far more healing than the average cosmetic. Milk has a way of softening and whitening dark complexion. It is beneficial for those who live in steam-heated rooms and might be used to advantage as a face lotion upon retiring.

TO VACCINATE NEW YORKERS

If a recommendation by Health Commissioner Goldwater is adopted, all unvaccinated persons in New York will have to bear their arms to vaccine points. A canvass was made recently of a cross section of the city and 12,437 persons were questioned. It was found that while about 90 per cent of these had been vaccinated, the average elapsed time since the last successful vaccination was 11 years. Vaccination does not protect beyond seven years.

In his report Dr. Goldwater said: "Infants and children under school age should be vaccinated in order to protect others as well as themselves. Of late years, owing to the comparative frequency of vaccination among children, smallpox has become a disease of adults. We run the risk in New York City of an outbreak among children, a reversion to the condition of bygone years when they were the first and heaviest sufferers."

The report went on: "Inspectors visited every home in typical city blocks, tenement houses, occupied by white and colored tenants, and blocks of high class apartment houses. By letters and inspectors the desired information was obtained from various large department stores, insurance companies and the three largest charitable organizations in the city. A vaccination census was also taken of the employees of the New York public library. The New York stock exchange and the bureau of infectious diseases."

The total result showed that 1 per cent had had smallpox, and that 3 per cent had never been vaccinated.

"These crude figures," the report added, "are, at first sight encouraging, and seem to show that New York, city is fairly well protected against an epidemic of smallpox; certainly as well as, and probably better than, any other large city in the United States. This view is borne out by the fact that New York city, notwithstanding its own population of nearly 6,000,000 and its large floating population from all parts of the country, accumulating there to 200,000, has been remarkably free from the disease for a number of years."

American and Federal Leagues Clash Over Signing of Hamilton

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—After the loss of Earl Hamilton to the Federals yesterday and the announcement that Clem Clemons would go to Chicago today, where it is said he, too, will join the new league, the local American league club today began building intrenchments to protect itself from further onslaught by the Federals. The first and strongest defense the Browns president has thrown about his players, it became known today, was the elimination of the 10 day release notice from all 1914 contracts. This clause had given the club right to drop any player upon ten days' notice. The Federal league in its attempt to retain Hamilton, it is said, will argue the lack of mutuality in the ten day release clause.

Branch Ricker, manager of the St. Louis Americans, has held interviews with the players who were said to have visited Stovall during his stay here and he announced he did not believe another member of his team would go to the Federals. Stovall returned to Kansas City with Hamilton but C. C. Madison, president of the Kansas City Federal club, remained here to continue the overture to the major league players. In answer to the declaration of Robert L. Hedges, president of the local Americans, that the American league, the National commission and organized baseball in general would prevent Hamilton from playing with the Federals, Madison said:

"We have George Baumgardner and Gus Williams of the St. Louis Browns under ironclad contracts to play with the Kansas City Federal league team and other Browns have expressed a willingness to sign contracts with us. If the American league makes a step to prevent Earl Hamilton from playing with us we will not take steps to enforce our contracts with Baumgardner and Williams, but we will sign other Brown players."

10 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE

PHILIP NOVICK, L. W. W. LEADER IN NEW YORK, FOUND GUILTY OF DISTURBANCE

NEW YORK, April 10.—Ten days in the workhouse was the punishment given Philip Novick yesterday for his participation in the L. W. W. disturbances in Union square Saturday. The last to be tried of the 10 men arrested, Novick, the evidence tended to show, interfered with a policeman who was arresting Joseph F. O'Carroll, a young L. W. W. leader.

O'Carroll, clubbed by the police, it is charged, was freed by a magistrate and the alleged assault upon him is being investigated. Of the others arrested, Vincento Minnella was sent to the workhouse, for 15 days, Joseph Larcia was put under bonds to keep the peace and the rest were discharged or received suspended sentences.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retting; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

THE JEWISH SYNAGOGUE ON MCINTIRE STREET

Greatest Jewish Festival of Year Begins at Sunrise Today—How it Will be Observed

The Jewish festival of the Passover, which marks the sparing of the Israelite first born and the exodus of the Israelites from Old Egypt, will begin this evening and continue until a week from tomorrow. Every Jewish home in Lowell is being prepared to usher in the Passover the greatest feast of the entire year among orthodox Jews as one of the most joyous of holidays.

The festival of the Passover is the oldest of the Hebrew calendar. For weeks great preparations have been going on, marked by unprecedented haste on the part of the housewives and their servants in an effort to have everything thoroughly cleaned. New dishes and other utensils are brought into use. Those who do not buy new dishes, must renovate the old ones by a process known as "kashrits" which is spread of matzoth, a shabone of lamb, commemorative of the paschal sacrifice; a roasted egg, a mixture of apples, nuts and wine, to symbolize the mortar used by the Israelites in the construction of the storehouse of the Egyptians while they were in a state of slavery.

Upon the table is always placed some parsley greens, indicative of spring and the resurrection of nature. The services are interrupted for the family dinner and close with a number of merry folk songs, expressive of the character and nature of the observance.

Services during the eight-day festival will take place in the synagogues on Howard and McIntire streets while the observance will be celebrated in nearly all of the local Hebrew homes.

The Jewish name for the Passover is Pesach, and it falls on the first full moon of the spring, from the 14th to the 21st of the month of Nisan, or April.

After all the preliminaries have been attended to, the ceremony proper begins. The hands are washed and various blessings are recited appropriate to the occasion. The master of the house, breaking one of the three matzoth in two pieces, and pointing to the roasted shank and egg, lying before him, recites in Chaldean: "Lo, this is the bread of affliction, which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt; let all those who are hungry enter and eat thereof; and all who are in need, come, and celebrate the Passover."

The youngest member of the house then asks the classic four questions, and then the head of the family replies: "Because we were slaves unto Pharaoh in Egypt, and the eternal, our God, brought us forth from thence with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; and it the Most Holy had not brought forth our ancestors from Egypt, we and our children, and our children's children would still continue to be slaves to the Pharaohs in Egypt."

As the story of the Exodus rolls on, each of the various dishes is taken in turn, and its significance explained in picturesque language. A portion of the Hallel is then recited, and the reply closes with a benediction, in which it is hoped that the holy temple will be rebuilt and the ancient rites and sacrifices restored. The hands are again washed, and after pronouncing grace over the matzoth, the meal proper is served.

In the days of the Second Temple this festival was observed in a most elaborate manner. In the year 55 A. D. history says 3,000,000 Jews visited Jerusalem for the celebration of the Passover, and in the days of Nero at the Passover celebration 255,500 lambs were slain, also indicating an attendance of nearly 3,000,000 Jews. The city could not accommodate all those who came from far and near. Tents were accordingly thrown up outside of the city walls. The Roman authorities, fearing the spread of sedition during these times took extra precautions to prevent political disturbances.

The Passover celebration of the present time differs, of course, from that of 2000 years ago; yet it differs only insofar as the changed civil and economic conditions have had their effect upon Jewish life. The sacrifices are not made and the journey to Jerusalem is not undertaken for the temple has been destroyed for many centuries. Nevertheless, apart from these features, the celebration by the orthodox does not differ materially from the Passover and it was celebrated by Christ and by the Jews before His day.

The Bulletin names in its "white list" 135 plays produced during the last 25 years, the titles ranging from plays of ancient memory to some of the latest New York successes. In February last a dozen plays were named by the movement as examples of those which would be placed upon the "white list." ## Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach and leading to the production of the excess of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and mechanical treatments are useless in such cases for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause greatest distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisulphate of magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and usually always kept handy.

THE BUSINESS LETTER

HOW TO WRITE IT SO AS TO HAVE THE DESIRED EFFECT—GOOD ONES BRING RESULTS

Well written letters bring business. Therefore, business men should give special attention to turning out such letters—letters that will attract and hold their readers' attention, get themselves read, convince and invite action.

Every important business letter is a proposition having these essential aspects: The need, that is, the conditions and requirements of the proposition, and the need met or the specific ways and means that were adopted to satisfy the requirements. When these have been expressed, only an introduction and a conclusion are required to be added, making the complete structure: 1. Introduction; 2. The need; 3. The need met; 4. Conclusion.

In composing a letter, I concentrate under this plan by dealing with one of these steps or sections at a time, giving to my entire and exclusive attention. I take my mental stand first on the need as defined and limit all my thinking force to bear to make a clear statement of some one actual condition or requirement, then of another, then of another. I write down the thoughts as they come on a slip of paper, a short sentence to each, sticking close to the particular point.

When the mental point begins to run dry I drop the need and start a fresh slip of paper with the need met, proceeding in the same way. The work done on this section also I read the several sections of notes, making corrections, cutting out repetition, jotting in afterthoughts; then I write an introduction and a conclusion if any are necessary.

Suppose it is a letter seeking employment as advertising manager. The need and the need met are your prospective employer's always. Get busy on the need.

Concentration brings to light first, let us say, the condition that the concern has a rapidly growing business. Put down the answer to that thought, perhaps in the words: "I take it that your advertising department is at a standstill where it needs super-vision," etc. Concentrate again and bring out another condition, that the advertising department is non-productive and its

Pinklets Really Do Correct Constipation

There are few persons who do not suffer more or less from constipation and because of the discomfort it causes and the ill-health that results from this condition everyone should know how to properly correct it.

Harsh purgatives, formerly much used, act violently and leave the constipation worse than before. Pinklets correct this unnatural and dangerous condition by gently assisting the sluggish bowels and torpid liver to regain their normal activity. Their action is gentle, but effective and thorough, and they do not cause a single gripe. Unlike strong purgatives, Pinklets do not upset the stomach nor irritate and over-stimulate the bowels. Because they have none of these evil effects, they can be taken with entire safety until the constipation is corrected.

To simply regulate the bowels or to temporarily obviate cases of constipation, Pinklets are the ideal laxative. They are safe for every member of the family to use. Any druggist can supply you at 25 cents per bottle. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a Pinklet book which tells all about the cause, symptoms and treatment of constipation and sick headache.

work is tentative and has to fight for recognition in the concern. Put down the answer to that point, perhaps saying: "The job of your advertising manager is to show results," etc. Are there any other conditions that come readily to mind? If not, concentrate on requirements.

The first that occurs perhaps is the need for a man to pitch right in and help to build up the work of the department until it makes good with the "powers that be" in the concern, and the question arises: What kind of man, with what experience and qualifications? Put down the answer. And so on.

Now for the need met. Concentrate to show what you, as an applicant for the place, can do to fill the requirements under the conditions as these have just been rehearsed by yourself. Mentally ask yourself: questions, put down concise, single point answers. Your letter will be ready before you know it, and it will be effective.

Try this method. Compare with it the driving of a nail. A strong man or a dozen strong men cannot push a nail into hardwood, but a child with a hammer can with a few strokes, each concentrating his puny strength into bliff, blug, bang on the nail head.

ARTIFICIAL MILK MADE

FLUID HAVING SOME CHEMICAL INGREDIENTS AND QUALITIES AS MILK DISCOVERED

Synthetic milk, containing all things needed, even to bacillus bulgaricus, is the latest product of the laboratory. The discovery, which is expected to be of great interest to mothers, is a process of manufacturing a pure and wholesome milk of high nutritive value, possessing all the virtues of the natural product, none of its many dangers. It can be made up in any proportions desired; that is, with more or less casein, fat, sugar or salts, and thus can be supplied to children and invalids according to a medical prescription.

The discovery originated many years ago as the result of the ingenuity of a Chinese, who saw a possible substitute for milk in the native drink prepared from the soy bean. His efforts, however, met with only partial success, owing to the fact that the fluid prepared by him had an exceedingly penetrating and to western palates—disagreeable taste. It was left to a German chemist to lay the foundations of the present synthetic milk by suggesting a composite fluid made up of all the ingredients of cow's milk in correct proportion.

The fluid as far as its appearance is concerned is indistinguishable from rich cow's milk. It is delightfully smooth to the palate. On the other hand, the taste seems to some persons slightly different from that of ordinary milk. It is said that even this slight "taste" can be removed at will.

The advantages of the new milk are obvious. It is of course free from all suspicion of being contaminated with "milk borne" diseases, like tuberculosis, scarlet fever or diphtheria.

HOME FOR ARTISTS PLANNED

Eleonora Duse, the greatest actress in Italy, has contributed $2000 toward the foundation of an artists' home or club in Rome. Signora Duse says that Italian actors and actresses in Italy are relegated to a sort of ghetto, and it is high time that they should have a home or club of their own in which to meet and live, with a library, a reading room, a lecture hall and other comforts. Very likely Signora Duse will give her villa in Rome for the artists' home, which she hopes to have inaugurated next May. A committee of the leading Italian actresses has already been appointed to make the necessary arrangements and collect funds toward the realization of this scheme, which is strongly advocated by the Women's national council.

Mascagni and Puccini are simultaneously composing two new operas taken from Duida's novel, "The Two Little Wooden Shoes." It is not known whether the choice of the same subject was a mere coincidence or not, but it is certain that both composers are rushing their work with the object of producing their new operas one before the other. Mascagni says that he is well on and ahead of his rival and he hopes to get in first. In any case, he adds, he is quite prepared for a fight, meaning of course litigation.

Gabriele D'Annunzio has composed a scenario for a moving picture film. He admits that it is a "dishonor and an indelible shame" for a poet like him to fall down so low, but as he has to earn money to "buy raw red flesh" for feeding and exciting the "courage of his greynoses," naturally he decided to make the experiment and wrote a play entitled "Cubana," which will shortly be produced.

The mere announcement that I am selling these celebrated goods at popular prices ought to be and was sufficient for the record business you saw in my store this week.

It is an old saying, go farther and fare worse. Is there a man in New England who hasn't heard of Sherriff's Worsteds? Is there a man in Lowell who thinks he can buy better goods than Sherriff's at any price? Is there a man who reads this ad. that would buy a suit elsewhere, without investigating my offer?

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Anti-Vaccination Bill Allowed by Senate — The Boston Elevated Condemned

BOSTON, April 10.—The state senate, by a vote of 25 to 3, yesterday ordered to a third reading a bill which will permit unvaccinated children to attend the public schools if their parents are opposed to vaccination. The bill was favorably reported by the committee on public health although the three physicians on that committee dissented.

Senator Clark of Brockton, one of these physicians and chairman of the committee, opposed the bill. He gave a brief history of the discovery and use of vaccine and of the smallpox epidemics which have ravaged the world in years past. He said this bill would tear down the barrier which for generations had held the terrible disease of smallpox in check.

Senator Norwood said the matter had been thrashed out in the committee and that only the three doctors had dissented. He was sure he could give some terrible cases of those who had died because of vaccination. He hoped the bill would go through as reported by the committee and without amendment. Senator McCarthy favored the bill. He also said that lockjaw resulting from vaccination had caused many deaths.

Senator Buzley said he thought this bill one of the most dangerous from the point of view of the public health that had been before the legislature, and he hoped it would be killed. The thing to do, he said, is to stop the outbreak and not to wait till the epidemic is at our doors.

Senator Doyle of New Bedford said that vaccination alone had saved his city from a serious epidemic of smallpox. The amendment offered by Senator Mack was adopted, as was also an amendment proposed by Senator Norwood, that unvaccinated pupils may be excluded from the public schools when it is deemed necessary. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

Boston Elevated.
A bill to remove all elevated railway structures in Boston proper, Roxbury and Charlestown and providing subways instead was yesterday substituted by the Massachusetts house for an adverse committee report. The successful fight for the bill was led by Rep. Tague of Charlestown.

In opening the debate, Mr. Tague declared: "We were told in a public meeting in my district by the officials of the Elevated company that the road would be absolutely noiseless; that it would go through the back of the town and not hurt the property. The people of Charlestown get absolutely no benefit from the Elevated road and it has demoralized the property we have bought with our life savings."

"We are willing to pay back the money the company has invested in the elevated structure, but the Elevated continues to shake its finger in the faces of the people and refuses to do anything to remove this nuisance unless the people build subways and give the Elevated company the perpetual right of way. We have no right to give this company an eternal monopoly of the Boston subways."

The committee on metropolitan affairs has voted, 7 to 6, with two members not committed, to report the bill based upon petition of Robert Robinson of Boston, to amend the Boston city charter so as to provide a city council of 17 members elected by districts.

The social welfare committee resumed its hearings on the pension bill, Asst. Adj. Gen. Wilfred A. Wetherbee of the G. A. R. urging the bill, which provides that any Civil war veteran who has worked for the city for five years or more and who has become physically incapacitated shall be entitled to a pension.

Rep. Murphy
Rep. Murphy of Lowell spoke for the bill to pension Lowell laborers. Rep. Henry of Salem urged pensions for city and town laborers. Rep. Curley of Cambridge advocated a bill to prevent present city hall employees in Cambridge from being discharged.
Rep. Casassa of Revere and John F. McDonald spoke for the matrons of the Boston House of Detention. Dr. Rufus W. Sprigg asked for a pension. He had been examining physician of the firemen for 31 years, devotes all his time to the work and is now too old to do the work. Mr. McDonald said he understood Mayor Curley was in favor of the bill.

Although a hearing was set for yesterday afternoon before the committee on taxation on taxing bachelors, no hearing was held and a postponement granted until April 16. About 40 were present including Mrs. Charlotte Smith and four or five other women, in favor, with several bachelor legislators to oppose it. The gallant Rep. John L. Donovan of Boston espoused the cause of the women, asserting that no gentleman could speak against the bill without having first given the women an opportunity to indorse it. None of

Public Health
A telegram was yesterday received by Gov. Walsh from Surg. Gen. Blue, U. S. N., stating that he had detailed Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr to consult with the governor and the legislative committee on public health regarding pending health legislation in Massachusetts. It was in response to the request made by the committee that he obtain experts to aid in forming a plan for the reorganization of the state board of health.

Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr has made special studies of organization, powers and duties of state and local health authorities.

The annual communion service was held last evening in the First Congregational church with a large number of people present. Rev. A. F. Dunne preached a sermon on the topic, "In Remembrance of Me."

LODGE ON TOLLS REVISION

In speaking on the tolls question before the senate yesterday Sen. Lodge made not only the greatest speech heard in congress during the controversy but one of the greatest speeches of his career as statesman and student of international affairs. It is in the main a calm and dispassionate statement of facts, revealing the distinguished senator's knowledge of international law and treaty rights, but there are times when it momentarily abandons the facts involved and runs true with declarations of principles that should actuate every patriotic American in putting aside political differences, personal dislikes and party affiliations in a sincere effort to help his president and his government to solve questions in which are involved so many serious international complications.

Up to the present the opposing parties in the Panama tolls matter either took the view that this country has the right to exempt its own ships from paying tolls, or has not the right, under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty—and they supported the president or opposed him accordingly. Senator Lodge takes the view that this country has the right to exempt its own vessels, even in the strict interpretation of the terms of the treaty, but he goes farther than anyone who has hitherto spoken on the matter by declaring that to exempt our ships merely because we are strong enough to interpret the treaty any way we choose is a great economic and political mistake. He, therefore, throws his immense influence on the side of President Wilson, declaring that his party politics ends "at the water's edge" and he advocates the policy advanced by the more sincere leaders in congress, viz.: that government aid be given to our domestic shipping if it be found desirable, by some method that will achieve the same end without arousing the animosity of any foreign power.

Mr. Lodge in his introduction wisely dwelt on the historical facts leading up to the disputed treaty, thus applying to its terms the interpretation of the period rather than the interpretation of the present. After introducing many astute arguments and acknowledging that the language of the treaty is too vague to admit of a positive reading of its intent, he finally says: "I am of opinion that under the terms of the treaty we have a legal right to exempt our own vessels no matter what trade they are engaged in." He also said that in his opinion the "all nations" of the treaty does not include America, though this he calls "a fairly arguable point." To support his theory he advances the fact that of the six rules of the treaty, the other five do not in anything apply to the United States, and sums up this view as follows: "It seems to me difficult as a general proposition to argue that five of these six rules adopted by the United States for the use of the canal should not apply to the United States and that one and one only should so apply."

"At this point, however," continued Mr. Lodge, "I part company with those who insist that because we have the right to refuse to collect tolls from or to exempt our own vessels from the payment of tolls, we, therefore, should exercise that right." In this case it appears to me that it would be most unwise to exercise the right of exempting our own vessels from tolls simply because we have the right to do so. It gives as the first reason for this view the honest difference of opinion that exists as to the aims of the treaty, and the fact that England is supported by the opinion of the world. "With such a division of opinion among ourselves," he said, "I am not willing to expose the United States to the imputation of bad faith among all other nations by insisting on deciding a doubtful point, upon which we ourselves are not agreed, in our own favor simply because we have the power to do so." The second reason he gives is that the same end could be achieved by another and inoffensive method. "If the American ships pay the tolls," he explained, "and the United States hands back the amount of the tolls, no one denies that this procedure is wholly legitimate under the provisions of the treaty." He went on to explain that this method is pursued by all nations which use the Suez canal, and he condemned those who urge the retention of the clause with the avowed intention of throwing defiance at other countries.

The most delicate part of Senator Lodge's address and that which reflects most credit on his broadness of view and his diplomacy in international affairs was the clause in which he urged the support of the administration, on the ground that the foreign policy of this country would be confused by retaining the offensive clause. He showed how other nations would hesitate before entering into treaties with a country whose international reputation for honor is not high, and he also pointed out the industrial need for cultivating feelings of good will with other nations particularly with South America. In no uncertain terms he also scored the insincere elements in and out of congress who would make of the tolls controversy a political machine, and in conclusion he launched forth in laudation of the great Panama canal enterprise and voiced the hope that no action of the American government should cloud its benefits in the opinion of all the nations of the earth. Surely those who heard the speech and those who read it will view with disdainful resentment the effort being made in other quarters to throw discredit on the president in his high purpose of establishing the reputation of this country for international probity with all the nations of the world.

MUST MEET COMPETITION

There was a time when this part of the country assumed industrial superiority as a matter of course; industries and manufactures were few and New England had almost a monopoly. The feeling of security engendered by this state of affairs is still alive in all our important centres but it is becoming more and more apparent daily that if this part of the country is to keep the industrial lead or even keep up to its present standard, there must be more individual effort and more community effort of the type advocated by the principal speakers at the prosperity conference called by Governor Walsh recently. The slogan must be "Lowell for Lowell and for New England," and all who have political, financial or moral influence must become imbued with this enthusiastic spirit if Lowell and New England are to be what we would wish them to be.

The south and the west are competing with us daily, and many of their leading cities are adopting methods of booming their advantages that would put us to shame. A Lynn paper noted an instance in point. Circulars are flooding the mails emanating from Chattanooga stating that the chamber of commerce of that city will give $100 to any individual who will give information that will eventually land a new industry in the southern city. It is only the keenest type of competition that gives rise to movements of this nature and to ignore such enthusiasm or its fruits is to be guilty of civic folly. Circulars such as that mentioned—and they are but one form of advertising activity—go all over the country and create a favorable impression for the enterprising city which sent them broadcast.

In New England, or in Massachusetts, to be more specific, while a few cities are forging ahead with great strides, the great majority of industrial centres are standing still or making only enough effort to keep them from positive retrogression. Yet during this time the western cities are doubling their population and their area within ten or twenty years, and they are never finished in their campaigns for industrial and commercial supremacy. Occasionally we hear of spasmodic efforts being made to get a remedial spirit aroused in this section but what we need most is a calm, cool, persevering effort at civic booming which shall include the needs of all New England as well as the specific needs of such community. We must not be too selfish in our efforts at up-building, for when we lend a helping hand to a neighboring community we encourage others to do likewise to us. It will be a grave mistake if the seed sown by the prosperity conference will be allowed to fall on stony ground, for there is evident need for the work mapped out and while we are neglecting it the west and south are pushing such activity to the limit.

Massachusetts especially needs the cultivation of the energetic boom spirit, because we have some natural, political and economic disadvantages which other states do not bear in the same degree. We are far from raw material; we have long freight hauls; taxation is not equitable or calculated to aid our industrial centres; labor is inconsistent and legislation occasionally blooms out in something which imposes a check on industrial expansion. When Canada and other parts of this country offer more favorable conditions, or conditions that seem more favorable there in every incentive for our thoughtful public men to organize for the betterment of New England as a whole and each of its component centres in particular.

TREATY WITH COLOMBIA

An international agreement that both directly and indirectly affects the Panama canal tolls controversy is the treaty with Colombia which has been successfully negotiated by the administration after years of animosity and disaffection in the southern republic. Coming at the same time as the commendations of Senator Lodge regarding the necessity for cultivating the good will of foreign countries, this treaty is peculiarly gratifying, but it is still more acceptable as the righting of an evident wrong, for though expediency may have justified the taking of Panama by this country, through the instrumentality of Roosevelt, it has never been denied that the isthmus was taken merely because we wanted it, and until now no reparation has been made. It is to be hoped that the financial consideration will heal the wound made on little Colombia's dignity as well as the more specific but less important financial damage.

No country, no matter how great or how powerful, can afford to have an international reputation for dishonorable dealings, and this fact becomes more apparent yearly, for just as popular opinion is becoming stronger the world over, under all forms of government, so is it becoming more evident that national greed and intrigue cannot be hidden successfully under the robes of suave diplomacy. The standard that governs individuals is held to govern nations, and America has not been held blameless by the world generally in its dealings with Colombia. The little republic which believed itself wronged protested vigorously but, being only a little republic, without much apparent effect, yet the Colombian affair did the reputation of America for fair dealing incalculable damage, and hurt trade and trade opportunities not only in Latin America but throughout the world.

If by the payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia and by the other concessions the southern republic becomes reconciled to the United States a great step will have been made in the creation of the spirit which President Wilson, Senator Weeks, Senator Lodge, Secretary Redfield and other eminent statesmen point out as necessary for the furthering of American foreign trade, and what is still more important, removing a great stain from the shield of this country. If this is followed—as there is every hope—by the revision of the tolls provision to which England objects, the present administration may well claim to have again restored the reputation of this country for honorable dealings with every nation of the earth. The government has at last realized the fact, apparently that to exercise a right merely because we are strong enough to do so is not always good policy. This great and prosperous country cannot afford to be unfair or unjust to any nation on earth, whether it be a great nation like England or an unimportant one like Colombia.

VETERANS ON WAR

When in the past this country went to war, the loudest shouters did not make the best fighters, and at the present time a great many who would not be called upon to serve in Mexico are urging a war that would mean the death of thousands of our best young men. Those who have fought are surely qualified to judge of what war entails and, therefore, it is significant that when the policy of President Wilson towards Mexico was praised a few days ago at the Boston gathering of the G. A. R., the speaker was roundly cheered. To advocate war is one thing and to take part in it is another, and those who have borne the brunt of battle are usually loudest in praise of peace.

Seen and Heard

The more we see of April the more sorry are we for the mean things we said about March.

In Germany the newspapers play April fool jokes on the people. In Berlin a week ago a crowd gathered in a square at midday, expecting to see an aviator who had been announced to fly upside down, and later in the day many people collected at the zoological gardens to see a chimpanzee perform the Tango.

About all of the "beach combers" know that gulls are fond of sea clams and can tell of clam feasts of the birds, but the champion yarn along that line comes from Chatham, where it is told that a couple of clambers left several bushels of the big bivalves on the shore for a little time and when they returned they found the gulls, which had discovered the feast, had eaten all of the clams and were ready for more.

The horse cars are to disappear from the streets of Cambridge, Eng., and motor bus service is to be instituted in their place. During the last weeks of the horse car service each car bore a placard urging mothers to take their children for a ride before it was too late, and before such a remarkable present experience and such a fruitful reminiscence for the future should be snatched from them forever. As one of the Register of Yarmouth, once famous for fish and salt sheds, now given over, we fear, to summer folks, has a large class of fence-makers, and one of them is perhaps first in war poetry as the Sonnetown singer is first in peace poetry. Ponder these mighty and resonant lines on "The Fate of Mexico":

"Vile gun
Has popped the Sun.
The Federals are strung to the trees.
The final blow
In Mexico
Has set the faces like bees.

"Rum and toddy,
The uniforms gaudy

Spring practice is as important for fly-swatters as it is for those who go to the southern training fields in the hope of improving their batting average. And one good swat now is worth 100, thereafter, later in the season. Not only is it good to get the muscles limbered up for the outdoor season, but the results are better. Scientific fly-swatters tell us that a fly is capable of depositing 150 eggs at a time and producing five or six hatches in a season. Grammar school arithmeticians can figure out the advantage of swatting the fly at the first peep of spring.

Preventive medicine is engaging the attention of some of our most useful citizens. Preventive fly-swatting may be practiced by anyone. No preliminary practice or scientific knowledge is required. School children, instead of being urged to bring in the earliest flowers that bloom, might well be encouraged to compete for the fly-swatting championship of the school. It is not only necessary to swat the fly but to swat him early and often.—Boston Traveler.

Cape Cod has been made envious by the laurels of the bard of Loyalsock Creek, that Pennsylvania genius to whom the world owes this incomparable and perfect stanza:
"But Sonestown is lovely;
There's where you can have the fun;
The girls don't whistle, the boys don't smoke,
And the big men seldom drink rum."

The Register of Yarmouth, once famous for fish and salt sheds, now given over, we fear, to summer folks, has a large class of fence-makers, and one of them is perhaps first in war poetry as the Sonestown singer is first in peace poetry. Ponder these mighty and resonant lines on "The Fate of Mexico":

"Vile gun
Has popped the Sun.
The Federals are strung to the trees.
The final blow
In Mexico
Has set the faces like bees.

But tomorrow it's fight

BIG TEXTILE SHOW

TO OPEN APRIL 27—NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR BIG EXHIBITION AT BOSTON

About everything new and old in use for economical production of cloth from cotton and wool will be displayed in Mechanics building, Boston, during the week of April 27-May 2, when the fourth national textile exhibition will be held. It will be "Textile week" in Boston, for thousands of experts in the industry will be in the Hub to attend the many conventions of associations within the industry that are to be held in connection with the exhibition which is to be the largest ever held in America.

To the layman who is interested in things mechanical, the coming textile exhibition will be nothing short of phenomenal for many of these wonderful machines that seem almost human will be in operation during the show turning out the finished product. During the two years that will have intervened since the last show there have been many wonderful improvements in textile machinery and with most of these in operation the textile show ought to be the most interesting show in Boston for many years. The coming show will occupy 125,000 square feet of space, and will be five times larger than any previous show of its kind in the United States.

Several hundred textile experts will come from Norfolk, Va. This party will be made up of members of the southern textile associations which party will hold its convention in Boston during the exhibition. The National Association of Woolen and Worsted Overseers, the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, the Southern Textile club of New England will also hold their conventions during "Textile Week."

The American Cotton Manufacturers' association which is to meet in New York has changed the date of its

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

MRS. MARY A. P. DAVIDSON

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion. Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative—tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University Heights, Boston, who writes: "I have had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy. A bottle can be bought at any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, its Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

QUARANTINE LAWS

Three cases of the department of agriculture against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co., for violation of the twenty-eight hour law have recently been terminated in Kansas. The penalty in each case was $100 and costs which were respectively $16.60, $16.50 and $16.25. The Union Pacific Railway Co. was fined $100 and costs of $53.31 for violating the same law.

The law in question prohibits the confinement of live stock in cars for more than twenty-eight hours without unloading for feed, water and rest (when a special request is signed by the shipper the time may be extended to thirty-six hours.)

A case against Henry E. Brown for violation of the live-stock quarantine law was terminated on March 23 in the eastern district of Pennsylvania. The defendant was fined $100.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Discussed at Board of Trade Meeting—Must Have Cleaner Streets

There was a conference in the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon and it had to do with the cleaning of Lowell's streets, yards and alleys. The conference was attended by Mayor Murphy, City Engineer Kearney, Supt. Kernan of the park department, Chief Saunders of the fire department and Supt. Welch of the police department.

Chief Saunders told of the work being done by the fire department relative to the inspection of dangerous alleys and congested blocks with the idea of obliging tenants and abutting property owners to free from accumulations of rubbish. He said that the children were responsible for a great deal of the rubbish in the street and the rag or junk men are a close second. He said that the junk man would dive down into a barrel on the sidewalk or in an alley and scatter paper to the four winds.

Supt. Welch called attention to the fact that there is a law against throwing rubbish of any description into the streets, and he believed that it would be a good idea to make an example of some of those who are in the habit of throwing everything into the street. He believed that a few instances of actual punishment for disregard of the law would have salutary effect.

It was suggested, however, that before proceeding to the right enforcement of the ordinance that came or receptacles of some kind be placed at convenient points for the deposit of such refuse.

Mayor Murphy told of one piece of corporation property that had been cleaned three times in one week by the board of health and yet remained filthy. It is understood that the ordinance relative to public ways would not cover alleys on private land. The mayor suggested that perhaps it would be well on account of so much paper falling from ash teams that the ash men be instructed to remove nothing but ashes. He believed there were concerns that would be glad to remove the papers.

The matter of clean streets and alleys was discussed pro and con and the mayor will shortly call upon the citizens for a general clean-up day as a result of yesterday's conference with the board of trade.

He also gave the members of the expedition permission to take photographs of the king's village of 100 huts, each with its paintings and carvings, and also of his three queens, in whose royal dress figure are rare kelpi belts and numerous ornaments.

The expedition has also visited Dongu, Faraje and Aba, traveling with a caravan of 150 men, which gives an idea of the size of the collections. In a former report it was stated that the collection numbered approximately about 5000 specimens.

H. E. Anthony, who has been conducting an expedition for the American museum through Gatun lake and the Panama canal zone and who accompanied former Congressman George Shufas on his houseboat in that region, returned yesterday with a collection of 126 specimens of mammals for the museum's collections. The specimens are considered valuable for scientific study and are mostly new to the museum.

DIAMOND NOTES

Local fans who expect to see fireworks the minute Manager Red McMahon strikes town next week will probably be disappointed. Red is an unusually gentlemanly fellow but he has enough red blood not to stand anything but a square deal.—Lewiston Journal.

"Chubby" Carroll of the Worcester club evidently has a pretty lofty conception of his value to the Busters. According to the Income Burket, "he wants the park" before he will sign up for the season. As Jesse has need of the park for a location for the home games, "Chubby" will have to take his pay in some other form. That form declares Burket, will be the same salary that was paid him last year, and not a cent more.

Binghamton of the New York State

league was after Fletcher Emerson "Studs" Watkins, who has been signed by Manager Duffy of the Portland club. Watkins has had a successful career as a twiler in the amateur regions of Pennsylvania, for several seasons. He is 21, and weighs 155 pounds. He is a left-handed deliverer.

Binghamton was put on the map by Eddie Henderson, he of the strong arm and silent tongue. From Binghamton Edward wended his way Lowellward.

Fred Lake, in a little speech to the Fitchburg Trade and Merchants' association, Wednesday night, urged the members to give their support to his New England league team this season. Trust Freddy for being there with the smooth talk. He probably talked them all into buying season tickets.

Jake Pfeiffer says he is going to make things fly around Pawtucket this season and that any team that wins the pennant from his entry will know that they have been in a pennant struggle. Jake always was a fighter and it's a good bet he keeps pretty close to the top.

Hugh Duffy says he keeps hearing good things about Oswald the outfielder he has secured from the Southern association and he expects this new burner will fill the vacancy left by Joe Burns much better than he had thought possible.

Mgr. Frank Chance of the New York Highlanders refused yesterday to discuss his probable pitching selection for the opening game with the Athletics. He admitted, however, that he had been captivated by the work of Keating in Saturday's game. It would not be surprising if the youngster who proved the only winning pitcher a year ago were honored with the first assignment.

"No one has to tell you what I think of Ed Walsh," said the leader of the New Yorks. "I ought to appreciate his value. I saw him enough in the world's series of 1906 and later in the city championships we played with the White Sox out in Chicago.

But just listen to this. Walsh never in his life had such a fine spitball as Keating showed Saturday. You should have heard Sweeney growling. Why, Ed's hand was puffed up from catching it. There is no reason why Keating should not be a second Walsh if he behaves himself. He certainly has the physique."

Ira Thomas, captain of the Athletics, has wired Jack Coombs to come north from Palestine, Tex., and assist in the coaching of the pitchers. Thomas had a chat with Coombs' doctor on Saturday. Ed's hand was puffed up from catching it. There is no reason why Keating should not be a second Walsh if he behaves himself. He certainly has the physique."

The baseball public is beginning to clamor for the Federal league schedule, but the outlaw magnates are acting with the same sagacity in regard to the schedule, as they have employed in certain other matters. To draw up the best possible schedule is a matter which requires a great deal of time and much consideration.

President James H. O'Rourke of the Eastern association said recently that he had not heard anything from the league directors who are said to desire a meeting in which to repeal the provision for 20 extra Sunday games, made at the last meeting. It is reported in Springfield that four of the directors have decided to ask for the meeting, but as yet Mr. O'Rourke has received no request from them.—Bridgeport Post.

Joe Burns, the outfielder whom Providence bought from Hugh Duffy's Portland, has not been delivering the goods. In Manager "Wild Bill" Donovan's opinion, in the spring training, and will be disposed of shortly. Burns was sold to Portland by Jimmy Gray.

Bill Rose, who finished the 1913 season son with the Worcester team after having been shown the gate by Hugh Duffy, is still filling the role of a balking mule, not having signed his name to a contract. Business in Worcester is going on as usual despite Duffy's holdout and Burket is continuing his plans for opening the season.

GIRL KILLED BY A CAR

HAD JUST BOUGHT STICK OF CANDY—MOTORMAN ARRESTED

BOSTON, April 10.—After spending a penny for candy in a neighborhood store, Mildred Sweeney, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney of 3 Dunn court, Dorchester, was knocked down and fatally injured by an inbound Quincy car as she was crossing Dorchester avenue near her home about 6 o'clock last night. The little girl died on the way to the City hospital.

Chapman Dunlap, motorman on the car, was taken to Station 11, Fields corner, where he was charged with manslaughter. Frank I. Wilkins, superintendent of Division 2 of the Elevated, furnished bail for his release. The amount of the bail was not stated. The little girl was given a penny while playing about her home by a neighbor and she at once hastened to a nearby candy store at 1152 Dorchester avenue. With a stick of candy in her hand she began to retrace her steps, and ran in front of the big electric car.

The car was jacked up and the body of the little girl taken from the forward trucks. She died on the way to the hospital, where it was stated that death was due to a compound fracture of the skull.

GUESTS OF MOTHERS

The Lowell Rescue league were the invited guests of the Maternal circle of the Unitarian Congregational church in Boston street, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. A. Fletcher.

The program consisted of solos by Miss Lena Bowen and an address, "Advice to Mothers," by Mrs. E. E. Beebe of Lynn. Her remarks were of a most helpful nature and pointed out the duty which mothers owed to their children in warning of the sins of the day. Mrs. Beebe was followed by Miss Emily Skilton who briefly recounted the need of vital rescue work in this city.

Reports were rendered which showed that the membership of the league had made a material gain in the point of numbers. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Maternal circle.

CLAIM RAILROADS UNDERPAID

The railroad companies of the United States claim that data compiled by the post office department, properly interpreted, shows the railways to be underpaid by $29,000,000 annually for carrying the mails.

This statement is made in a pamphlet issued by the committee on railway mail pay, representing 224 railroads handling mails on 218,000 miles of line, through its chairman, Mr. Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad company.

The railroads point out that whereas post office revenues increased over $23,000,000 from 1907 to 1912, the railway mail pay in that time actually decreased over $300,000—before the parcel post was established.

The pamphlet also directs attention to the fact that the post office department estimates a further increased annual revenue of about $60,000,000 on account of the parcel post, and in spite of this, no practical action has as yet been taken adequately to compensate the railroads for carrying the increased burden.

POWDERY SCAB DISEASE

A NEW AND DANGEROUS POTATO DISEASE—METHODS FOR THE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Powdery scab of the potato is a European disease which doubtless followed imported potatoes before the quarantine law went into effect. Every possible effort is being made by the U. S. Dept. of agriculture to prevent this disease making inroads on our potato industry, and the cooperation of all interested in this crop is much needed. In dealing with this new potato malady. The department is issuing a bulletin (No. 32) entitled "Powdery Scab of Potatoes," which thoroughly explains the disease and gives all the practical advice available at the present regarding its control.

Powdery scab does not attack the portion of the potato vines above the ground. It is primarily a disease of the young tubers, which develops as they mature in the ground. The disease is caused by a small, slightly raised papules and a slight discoloration of the surface. When cut open, the infected areas appear faintly purplish and extend from approximately the outermost cells of the tuber toward the deeper layers.

The "powdery-scab" fungus, if conditions are favorable, may eat large cavities into the immature potatoes. Besides consuming parts of the tubers it stunts their further growth and causes them to be deformed.

Last spring the department imported 13 varieties of potatoes from Scotland for seed purposes. All were found to be infected with powdery scab and had to be condemned. Nine varieties were imported from England for similar purposes and were all infected in the same manner. The disease has been found on potatoes from Belgium, Norway and Sweden. On the potato's native heath—South America—the disease has been found. It was reported in several provinces of Canada in 1913. From Canada the disease has now come headway across the border into northern Maine. This is the one place where there is real danger at present from the infection, but active measures are being taken to drive out the disease and to prevent the shipment of diseased potatoes to other sections.

The seriousness of powdery scab may be realized from the following statement by a conservative Canadian scientist:

"The disease should by no means be regarded lightly. Severe attacks occur when potatoes are planted year after year on infected land. Where this is practiced the result will be potatoes badly affected in quality to those healthy potatoes. The disease has been since, as in the case of canker, no preventive measures have proved of much value."

Object to "Scabby" Potatoes

Any kind of scab or other injury that mars or deforms the potato tuber is a more serious handicap in the American markets than those of some European countries, due to the fact that consumers abroad offer fewer objections to scabby potatoes than consumers in the United States. There is even a belief prevalent abroad that scabbiness is an indication of superior quality. In the United States, when potatoes are put on the market, scabby potatoes must be sorted out, and therefore are of no use except for stock feed or the manufacture of starch. In Maine the price of scabby potatoes in the autumn of 1913 was 50 cents per barrel, while clean stock brought $1.50 per barrel.

In the country as a whole, hundreds of thousands of bushels of potatoes are left in the fields because they are too scabby to market. There are frequent instances in the New York markets, according to potato dealers, where carload consignments are rejected because of the presence of numerous scabby potatoes. When the sort becomes infested with scab its value as potato land materially depreciates. This is especially true in sections where potatoes constitute the chief crop.

In addition to the fact that potatoes affected with powdery scab are probably less acceptable to the American than to the European consumer, there is also the probability that American varieties of potatoes may prove more susceptible than the European. Introduced parasites are often more destructive in a new environment than in an old one. The varied climatic and soil conditions of several of our states offer a wider range for the new potato malady. The brief experience with this disease in Eastern Canada gives no hint of what its behavior might be in the southern trucking districts, the central west or the irrigated sections of the United States. Related potato diseases have proven more destructive in the western than in eastern potato territory.

Particular importance also attaches to the fact that Maine is the one state now seriously menaced. Maine is the chief source of seed potatoes for the Central Atlantic and southern states, and a portion of Canada where the powdery scab is now most serious. If Maine potatoes should become generally affected, only the most extraordinary efforts can check the spread of powdery scab to nearly every other state.

As yet no method of controlling this disease, when it once gets in the soil, has been found. The new bulletin of the department relates the results of certain experiments which are interesting, but they are of such a preliminary nature that further study will be required before they can be recommended. The best advice that can be given a farmer whose fields have produced a crop infected with powdery scab is this: Don't grow potatoes for several years on a piece of land that has produced a crop infected with this disease.

It is not yet known how many years the fungus may live in the soil, but its nature suggests that it can probably live for several years.

Sacks and Barrels Spread It

It is well known that second hand sacks, barrels, and boxes are often used in marketing potatoes.

Seed potatoes shipped from the northern states to be grown in the south are put up either in sacks or barrels. European potatoes coming to this country are shipped in 168-pound gunny sacks. In some of the western states, similar sacks but holding 120 to 150 pounds, are used. These sacks cost from 12 to 15 cents each, depending upon their quality and whether they are new or secondhand. Sacks of good quality can be used many times, and this has come to be common practice. In both New York and Boston there are firms that act as clearing houses for potato sacks, buying second hand sacks from any one who may wish to sell them and shipping them to potato dealers either north or south. It may happen, therefore, that sacks that have previously contained diseased tubers coming from Europe or elsewhere will be used for shipping select seed from the north to the south.

There is considerable chance of potato diseases being spread by means of old sacks. Second hand barrels may also communicate these diseases. The question arises as to how this spread of disease can be prevented and, of course, the solution is a simple one—by using only new sacks. But this would increase to some extent the cost of potatoes and bring about the accumulation of large quantities of old sacks. It seems very likely that some means of sterilizing old sacks could be put into practice which would make them fully as harmless as agents in disseminating diseases as new sacks. This could probably best be carried out by firms dealing in sacks. It seems probable that subjecting the sacks to steam sterilization for several hours at a pressure of 15 to 20 pounds would render them free from noxious diseases without increasing their cost to any appreciable extent.

VIRTUES OF A NAME

THERE'S A GREAT DEAL IN THE NAME IS CATCHY AND BACKED UP BY ACTIVITY

"What's in a name?"
Well, scores of clever young women who are engaged in quality named enterprises in any large city will tell you that there is a great deal in a name. They have proved that there is charm and drawing power and very, very good business in it.
In fact, in a good many of the attractive lines of business which women have chosen for themselves nowadays the name's the thing, and a little shop which otherwise might be passed by almost unnoticed will have a hollow worn in its threshold if it has a unique name, a catchy swinging sign and an individuality of its own.
A rose by any other name might perhaps smell as sweet, but a millinery shop dubbed simply "Jones Hats" would never look half as inviting to the majority of womankind as "The Buff Bonnet" near by. And what woman with an ounce of imagination would lunch at commonplace, uninteresting "Smith's Restaurant" when she could refresh herself "At the Sign of the Old Iron Kettle," say—a shadowy little place with gay flower boxes on the sills!
Wouldn't you yourself prefer to buy your gifts at a tiny shop where everything you got was marked with a little green paper announcing that it came from "The Treasure Chest," and aren't you always convinced against your better judgment that milk coming from the Pink Clover farms must be better than any other milk?

New York probably has more odd little shops and artistic handiwork studios than any other place in the world, and there isn't any doubt that a good share of their allurements is due to the novel and pretty names that have been chosen for them. Women are at the head of many of these attractive establishments, and these women have learned that when the glamour of imagination is added to the plain matter of buying and selling the result is apt to be doubled and tripled business. They know, too, that in no way is the imagination appealed to more quickly than by a name indicative of a charming interior.
Most of the eating places that are oddly and prettily named are the ones that cater to that vast class, the shopping woman. The best of good is always to be had—that goes without saying; but the real magnet that draws hordes of women to the tiny tables scattered in quaintly shaded corners or in the open court at the rear is the name and the charming atmosphere lent by an open fireplace, oddly decorated china, or a collection of antiques on the softly colored walls. And mostly it's the name that brings in the patronage.
Many of the little novelty shops in New York have begun to adopt enticing names, with prompt results in added prestige and dollars. If you are a mere woman, you can't help wanting to see the hats to be had at "The Little Bonnet Shop," and "The Mending Shop" has a comfortable, every-day sort of air—like the sewing room upstairs, you know—that sounds like a haven of refuge to the woman who has to have something done to every garment she owns.

The little touch of imagination and sentiment with which women are investing their business ventures is making it much more attractive to other women to enter commercial life. The pretty name and the refined, artistic setting make it seem almost more like entertaining than like commerce, yet these very features bring a pleasant jingle of dollars to the dainty table which serves instead of a cash register, and the pleasant play which such surroundings make of a business transaction is a delight both to the business woman and to the shopper.
Ask the successful woman who has invested her commercial work with poetry and imagination, and she will tell you that there's everything in a name.
SCHOOL BOYS IN THE SHOPS
Real industrial training that prepares for real jobs is described in a bulletin on the co-operative plan at Fitchburg, Mass., issued by the United States bureau of education. Boys in the Fitchburg high school, who attend alternate weeks in school and shop, are made to feel that their vocational training is serious business. Here are some of the directions given to each "co-op" student when he starts as an apprentice:
"Remember that the object of work is production. Your foreman measures you by the quantity and quality of your work. Social position does not enter. In the shop you are not a high school boy, you are an apprentice. Wear clothes accordingly. If you get the mistaken idea that any work given you is beneath the dignity of a high school boy, just remember you are an apprentice and get 100 per cent busy."
"It is your business to get along smoothly with the workmen and foreman; and theirs to get along with you."
"Do not expect any personal attention from the superintendent. He will probably ignore you entirely, but he knows whether or not you are making good, and in most cases his idea of you depends upon your ability to please your foreman. Don't be a kicker and don't continually bother your foreman for higher wages."
"Never try to conceal defective work. Take your full measure of blame, and do not make the same mistake twice."
"Watch, in a quiet way, what things are being done around you, and don't be afraid to ask sensible questions. A good rule is to think over a question twice before asking. A reputation for having 'horse sense' means that you are making good."
"Foremen and workmen will take pleasure in showing you, if you show yourself genuinely appreciative of little attentions. If they tell you something you already know, don't spoil their pleasure by telling them you already know it, but let it be impressed on your mind all the deeper; for the conversation may lead to something which is entirely new to you."
"The cool act of one co-op hurts every co-op. See that your actions in and out of the shop do not bring discredit on the Co-op course."
Representatives of the United States bureau of education and others who have observed the work say that the spirit of these directions is carried out everywhere in the Fitchburg plan. Vocational training of the Fitchburg type is an opportunity for "worth-while" work, not an easy way of dodging the grind of academic studies.

THE REJECTED STORY

Magazine Readers Should Be Spectators in the True Sense and Well Compensated

Doubtless unknown merit will be heartened and some magazine, pundits annoyed by Mr. Henry Snyder Harrison's direct testimony in the case of contributors versus the editors, which is always on the trial docket but will never reach the court of last appeal, says the New York Sun. Mr. Harrison's evidence is given in the April number of the Atlantic Monthly, and he calls his statement "Adventures with the Editors." He deposes that in December, 1910, he had the good fortune to have two "book" manuscripts accepted for publication, one of them being the story "Queed."

While waiting for royalties Mr. Harrison wrote several short stories, all together, and put them in circulation among the magazines, only to find that there was but a limited market for his wares. "Speaking in the large," he says, "I could not sell any stories; few seemed to find them meritorious at all, although there was said to be 'a short story famine' in the land." Five days after he wrote a letter to the New York editor to the author and craved the pleasure of publishing some of his short stories. This editor had rejected five of Mr. Harrison's manuscripts within a brief period and was politely reminded of it. But business being business, the editor, putting the blame upon his (anonymous) assistants, asked to see the stories again. The author concluded that he would not share the fruits of his success with one who had seen no merit in his work, a most valiant resolution. To another editor who in the remotest past had accepted and published a story of the now successful author three timeworn manuscripts were sent upon request. One of them this editor had rejected the year before, but after publishing it he wrote that all the stories printed by him had been "tremendously successful." The author asked the editor about the phenomenon, and for once got an honest confession.

"I think I can tell you why editors so frequently reject the earlier and often the best work of writers; it is because any new writer who sends in first class work sends in work that is very different from what editors are used to. That is reason Kipling's work was rejected by the —s when he brought his great body of books from India."

Not regarding himself as a genius, Mr. Harrison did not lay this flatteringunction to his soul, but he thought the statement might explain why editors were often cold to the unconventional story. A third member of the guild having written to the rising author to express pleasure and envy upon reading some of his stories in a rival magazine was also put on the witness stand. Why had he rejected three of the stories that now excited his enthusiasm? Thus cornered, this editor marshalled those reasons for rejection with which contributors are so familiar, but also spoke of "the lack of judgment of our readers." The fact was, however, he had signed the rejection slip with his own initials.

It seems to be Mr. Harrison's opinion that "the tradition of chief editorial infallibility" is a hollow pretension and he thinks there is warrant for the conclusion that "the editor sometimes lacks the reasonable faculty of discrimination." That is to say that the magazine editor is human; never more so than in trying to keep up appearances. It may also be honestly doubted whether the manuscripts of the obscure are conscientiously read, if read at all. Mr. Harrison makes one excellent suggestion. In other businesses the buyer is generally a competent and well paid employee. Why, he asks, should readers for magazines not be specialists in the true sense and well compensated? We fancy that genius would be discovered sooner and that greater profit would accrue to the magazine if it were enough to require discriminating judgment in its sub-editors.

Co-operation

Every person who reads the following paragraph and gives it a moment's consideration will, I think, accept it as true:

Our operators are desirous of giving good service and are anxious to avoid errors. Error calls simply make additional work for them; therefore, every instinct of self-interest suggests that they answer calls promptly and correctly.

Mistakes occasionally will occur, some unquestionably resulting from operating errors, others from the calling of wrong numbers by subscribers. Not infrequently some defect in the delicate equipment of the central office is found to be responsible for a fault which the subscriber attributes to the operator.

It is our duty and our desire to strengthen these weak points in our service, whether the weakness be human or mechanical, and we can do it if subscribers do not wait until criticisms become complaints.

May I suggest this form of co-operation: If there are slow answers, or if there is doubt of the accuracy of "wrong number," "line busy," or "don't answer" reports, I recommend that the chief operator be called at once. She is directly in charge of the operating room and responsible for the discipline. Therefore service criticisms should be discussed with her rather than with the regular operator whose obligation of service to other subscribers forbids the consideration of matters outside the regular routine of handling calls made by number.

If the trouble is persistent, I want to hear of it and I will be especially grateful to those whose criticisms give dates and facts upon which to base a definite inquiry.

WELFARE OF THE CHILD

Important Questions to be Discussed at Third International Congress April 22-27

"Are the fundamentals in education taught as thoroughly today as they were in the old-time school?"

"Are pupils developing the power of concentration today as fully as they did in the schools of our forefathers?"

"Are present-day schools preparing children for life as fully as did the schools of a quarter of a century ago?

These three questions of the highest concern to every parent and teacher, not only in the United States but in the whole civilized world, are set for discussion and authoritative answer at the forthcoming Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child, to be held under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in Washington, April 22-27.

The particular discussion of which the three questions form the subject, is to be led by Dr. M. V. O'Shea, professor of psychology in the University of Wisconsin, who is chairman of the national department of education of the National Congress of Mothers. Dr. G. Stanley Hall, of Worcester, Mass., and Dr. Helen C. Putnam, of Providence, R. I., are among others expected to participate in the discussion, which has been arranged for Saturday evening, April 25.

Dr. O'Shea is making careful preparation for this feature of the congress program. It is stated at the Washington headquarters, and is selecting as participants those whose opinions will have the weight of authority based upon wide study, observation, and experience. The discussion is thus assured of being one of the most valuable contributions of present times toward a solution of the problems involved.

Following this symposium on present-day educational methods and tendencies, Dr. O'Shea is also planning for another, entitled "New times bring new problems in child training." This discussion, like the first, will attempt to throw light upon the following important questions:

"Can the individual home train its children effectively with regard to social, ethical, and moral problems in contemporary urban life?"

"Is it feasible and desirable for communities to act as a unit in determining the conduct of the young in present-day life?"

"Will a school as a social center solve the problem of the social, ethical and moral training of the young in present-day American life?"

These three questions, vitally touching the relation of the parent to the training of the child, are also designed to focus attention of parents and teachers upon new problems that are the product of modern civilization.

The tendency of parents to shift the responsibility for the entire training of children to the schools, community action, as expressed in juvenile courts and otherwise, in determining youthful conduct, and the value of the modern use of schools for social center purposes are to be fully considered in this supplementary discussion.

The whole program, extending for a week, is rich in contributions to child welfare, and is expected to be one of the most important international gatherings ever held in Washington or in the United States.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff, of Philadelphia, an official of the United States bureau of education, is president of the national congress under the auspices of which the Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child is to be held. Its officers, councilors, and managers comprise many of the leading educators and philanthropists in the United States.

NEW REAL ESTATE OFFICE

EDWARD F. SLATTERY, JR. HAS OPENED QUARTERS IN THE NEW SUN BUILDING

One of the latest tenants in the new Sun building is Edward F. Slattery, Jr., son of Edward F. Slattery, probate officer, who will engage in the real estate business. Mr. Slattery, Jr. is a very popular young man. After graduating with honors from the High school he secured a position in the office of Albert R. Campbell, and for three years has shown remarkable talent in the real estate business. He entered as clerk and desk man with Mr. Campbell, and after that experience went out as field man and learned the methods of buying and selling property. Having acquired knowledge of these important branches of the business he decided to embark in business. He engaged quarters in the Sun building, Room 314, on the 3rd floor, where he is pleased to meet his friends and customers. Mr. Slattery is a very talented young man with many friends and has contributed his talents to many of the local musical and literary entertainments showing natural gifts in that direction. While at High school he was a member of the dramatic club in which he always made a decided hit. He is one of the most prominent members of the Knights of Columbus and Mathew Temperance Institute. He is possessed of hustling qualities that never fail to bring success, and in this chosen field of efforts his friends believe that he will meet with success. His business consists of real estate, insurance and that of notary public. Anybody who in his respective lines desires to transact business will find him always ready, willing and anxious to attend to their wants.

Make it "Yellowstone" this Summer. Why Not?

If you have never been to the Yellowstone Park, you are missing the most wonderful scenery in the world. You can talk about your "trip to Europe" but right here in good old U. S. A. is the world's wonderland of beauty and interest. Just imagine the scenery which is as high as Niagara—then a 1700 foot chasm with sides a riot of color that rivals the glory of the rainbow. You'll never cease to wonder at "Old Faithful" the Geyser—the magnificent natural lakes and on every hand scenery that defies description. You will surely delight in the stage coach navigation, reminding you of the frontier days. And then I would like to tell you about the attractive and comfortable hotels.

Leave it to me and I'll plan every part of the trip—there and back—and take the details of preparation, and starting off your hands. It's a part of the service of the road—"The Burlington Route" (P. & O. R. R.) I shall appreciate it if you will stop at the office or write and get our folder about Yellowstone Park with a splendid map in colors and full description.

BALSAM OF PERU

Said to be Valuable in the Treatment of Tuberculosis

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Naturally one would expect Balsam of Peru to come from Peru—but it does not. It is like the American Indians that didn't come from India and the Panama hats that came from Ecuador, or America which was not discovered by Amerigo Vesputi—it is a case of misnomer. Balsam of Peru comes from Salvador, and the little Central American republic has something of a corner on the market for it seems to be the only country able to produce this valuable pharmaceutical resin in commercial quantities.

"Balsam of Salvador (or Peru, as it is known in the Pharmacopoeia) is a viscous grayish red, semi-fluid mass, of pleasant odor not unlike vanilla, and bitter, burning taste," writes Albert Hale in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union. "It is not very stable when exposed to air and must therefore be kept for many kinds of ointments, salves, pomades and local applications.

The historic, or even prehistoric, use of the balsam was almost altogether surgical. Applied to wounds, it seemed to have a wonderful power to stimulate the healing process, while being at the same time a natural antiseptic, incapable of doing harm. Even today, with all the eliminations that have gone on in surgical practice, the balsam is of great value. It is good for certain skin diseases and the parasite irritations that so frequently distress the resident of the tropics, whether called chancie acid. In tuberculosis value, however, comes through the particular ingredient which characterizes the balsam and which has been called chancie acid. In tuberculosis preparations of chancie acid have had their vogue, and are still trusted for certain stimulating effects so that this balsam should be treasured as another of the contributions of American flora to the welfare of mankind.

After the conquest of the west coast of Central America by Alvarado, shipments of indigenous products from there went eastward across the isthmus of Panama and as the European came but little about the real source of this balsam came from the same place with the fever-curing Peruvian bark from which quinine was made—hence he misnamed it, and the erroneous appellation stuck.

The balsam tree flourishes only along the western Pacific slope of Salvador, between the ports of Acapulco and La Libertad, a distance of not over 40 miles, and covering an area of not more than 750 square miles. It is one of the most beautiful trees of the tropical forest and grows rather isolated from its kind. At full development it measures about 40 inches in diameter and reaches a height of 80 to 115 feet. The bark looks somewhat cracked and is of a grayish or ashen color, with whitish blotches due to the parasitic lichens that cling to it. Few branches spring from it until the spread is reached. The outer wood is white, the inner red or almost black, and very hard. As it is also very durable it affords good material for construction work and furniture.

The balsam, or sap, is gathered during the dry season and in the following manner: A hole is made in the outer bark either by pounding the surface with a blunt instrument or stone, thus separating the outer from the inner layers, or is cut with a sharp knife, to form an opening six or seven inches wide by 10 or 11 inches long. From this portion of the tree the exudes, after a period of from five to eight days, the mature sap, which is collected by means of tying pieces of absolutely clean cloth over the wound which absorb the liquid. When the flow ceases it is again stimulated by heaving the tree by means of burning torches. The cloths in which the sap has been collected are subsequently boiled and this sap expressed mechanically forms the crude balsam.

This is again boiled, foreign substances removed and the liquid poured into rectangular tins containing about 55 pounds each, and thus shipped to its final destination. A good balsam tree will yield from four to five pounds of sap a day and if properly cared for will live to be 100 years old. Salvador exports annually about 130,000 pounds of balsam of which the United States takes something like 57,000 pounds. The price is usually about from $2.35 to $3.25 per kilogram (2.2 pounds), and an export duty of 1 peso (40 cents) per quintal gross (101.4 pounds) is imposed by the government of Salvador.

FOR THE SUMMER COTTAGE

It is not too early to begin planning the furnishings for the summer house. An attractive and inexpensive material used in several different ways is the allover fillet, really designed for curtains. It comes in both cream and white and is about a yard wide, there being seven of the five-inch squares in a width. These squares when cut apart can be used in various ways.

A luncheon set has the runner made up of squares put together with an even linen insertion or a loose fagoting stitch done with heavy linen thread. The plate doilies may be similarly made of the four squares while one square constitutes the tumbler doilie.

These squares when finished with

DO NOT SCOLD THE CHILDREN

Nervous mothers, worried from morning till night by the care of children and the duties of the household, nervous children worn out by over study, unable to sit still or stand still or to keep their minds concentrated on anything long, both need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Try a short treatment with these strengthening pills and watch the color return to pale cheeks and lips, see how the worn nerves recover their poise, note how much less irritating the children become and how much less scolding they need. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to nervous people everywhere, men as well as women, because they build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They lighten the cares of life because they give you new strength to meet them.

Nervousness in children should be corrected at once as it is but a short step to St. Vitus' dance. Give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up their blood and they will become sturdy, pink-cheeked and rugged.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in the house. Your own druggist can supply you. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders."

narrow lace put on plain make a smart looking, inexpensive set. Buffet and serving table scarfs are also made to match.

For dresser covers in summer bedrooms, bouffant pillows and pincushions no prettier material could be chosen than this fabric. Some hostesses provide the guest room with pretty nightgowns to rest against the pillow, and for these envelope affairs nothing is more suitable than this fillet, lined with a soft satin in a pale shade and finished with a border of satin ribbon roses fastened to the flap.

When serving tea on the veranda the tea caddy is indispensable. Fascinating-cosies can be made of the allover fillet net. Little pasteboard cases to place over cake or sandwiches to protect them from flies may be covered with the lace.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

Following the customary rule, the Opera House will be closed today to the pictures, but tomorrow, Saturday, the house will be open for the pictures. "Zingo" will have a hearing. Last Saturday saw this new idea in pictures pack the theatre and it is safe to say this second edition will do the same. The story of the second part shows "Zingo" in a war in the clouds, how he has numerous episodes as in the first part, but evades capture by his quick wits and the help of a pretty girl who has fallen in love with him. During the battle in the clouds several types of balloons are seen and it is a war of wits and not of force. If a war broke out with the nations at the present time, who does not know what a Melles comedy means? It is a comedy in the theatre in pictures. They are considered in glass by themselves as far as real comedy goes. One of these noted films will be seen at the picture theatre in conjunction with "Zingo" and other releases from the General Film company.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The seat sale for J. Hartley Mann's comedy of youth, "Peg o' My Heart," will commence tomorrow, April 11, for the forthcoming engagement at the Opera House Wednesday evening, April 15. The mail orders for seats have been very heavy for this attraction and it is not to be wondered at when the managing director, Oliver Morosco, comes out with the announcement that "Peg o' My Heart" which is now in its second year at the Cort Theatre, New York, will undoubtedly continue through two solid years of uninterrupted run, which will be the longest engagement on record for a comedy in this country.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

For downtown funny comedy played in an unusual vein, there is nothing better than "A Dramatic Cartoon," which Norton and Nicholson present at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week. The whole situation is out of the ordinary, and the character sketches introduced by Miss Norton and Mr. Nicholson are of the "different" kind. No story is told in the sketch. It just shows a condition wherein a bride and groom of three weeks run into many difficulties in their restricted quarters in New York. They work in a department store and have a hard time making both ends meet. Misses Gayford and Herron offer a snappy character comedy, in which two vaudeville actresses show their troubles. Guerrero and Carmen, instrumentalists, offer in fine manner the better-known grand opera airs, and Kayser & Dunn have a very pretty sinking and whistling act. Robbins' elephants run through a lot of difficult stunts, to the great delight of children, and Wed & Burns offer an Italian singing and comedy act. Sid Aldine, clown, opens the bill, and the Pathe Weekly pictures close it. Phone 28.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Miss Gladys Malvern, the new leading lady who is to appear with the Merrimack Square theatre players in their opening spring engagement next week, commencing Monday afternoon, is a young woman of unusual ability. She was engaged at one time with Leola Mann in the piece, "The Man Who Stood Still," and at other times appeared with Amelia Bingham and other stars. She just closed a long and successful engagement at Schenectady, N. Y. The other new members of the company are all capable and well-known in theatrical circles. "The Man Who Stood Still" which is to be the opening attraction, is one of the best comedies of seasons. In it Walter Scott Weeks is sure to appear to particular advantage. He is sure to be with the "first nighters." Coming for the first four days of next week, films of Miss Sarah Bernhardt and Miss Rejane plays with themselves in the leading parts, will be shown. A big treat is being prepared for the Sunday patrons.

THE KASINO

You won't forget the date—Monday, April 13. Naturally, you are interested in the inauguration of the dancing season, and of course you want to know—if you dance, you want to know where dancing is to be enjoyed under conditions altogether wholesome. The mere dancing motion means nothing. Unless the conditions are right for the dancer, you might as well remain at home. First of all, you must have a hall properly ventilated, otherwise the exercise of dancing is distinctly detrimental. Then, of course, the music is a big factor. The thrill of dancing—its very life—depends upon melody, and the least discord is instantly reflected to the dancing atmosphere. The Kasino offers you every thing to dance in, beautiful comfort and with positively beneficial results.

Freckle-Face

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength ointment as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

James A. Watson, Councillor City of Boston.

INVESTIGATE DEMANDS

EASTERN RAILROADS FORM BUREAU TO COLLECT DATA AS TO WAGES AND CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, April 10.—As a result of the negotiations over the demands of their engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, the eastern railroads have decided to form a bureau to take up the work hitherto done by the managers' conference committee. The bureau will collect data as to wages and working conditions.

The secretary of the new bureau will be J. G. Wolber, assistant to the vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The bureau was to have opened April 1, but has been delayed by Mr. Wolber's work as one of the arbitrators having complaints of misapplication of the award of the arbitration board.

It was not decided whether the managers conference committee which was appointed two years ago would be abolished.

WATSON'S HAT IN RING

BOSTON CITY COUNCILLOR ANNOUNCES HE WILL GIVE CONG. PETERS BATTLE IN 11TH DIST.

BOSTON, April 10.—City Councillor J. A. "Jerry" Watson has officially cast his hat into the congressional ring in the 11th district.

Yesterday he announced that he will give Congressman Peters a battle for renomination, and that he will begin his fight at once.

His open letter to the voters of the 11th district is as follows:

To the Voters of the 11th congressional district: Gentlemen: After thoughtful consideration, and at the suggestion of a number of my personal and political friends, I have decided to seek the democratic congressional nomination from this district. In order to wage a winning contest, and as I am without any great financial means, and as I am not seeking financial aid from the public service corporations, I must start my campaign early. Consequently I beg to inform you at this time of my candidacy, and respectfully request you to give it such attention as you deem worthy. Sincerely,

NOTED PUBLIC MEN WHO WOULD CORRECT LAW'S DELAYS BY PASSING CLAYTON BILL

1. JUSTICE WHITE—2. ROOT—3. CLAYTON—4. McREYNOLDS—5. SUPREME COURT ROOM

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Important reforms in the methods of pleading, procedure and practice in federal courts are proposed in the Clayton bill reported to the house by the committee on the judiciary, of which Congressman Clayton is chairman. This bill will unquestionably be enacted at this session, as the sentiment in its favor is overwhelming. It has been approved by President Wilson, Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, Ex-President Taft, Attorney-General McReynolds, Senator Root, the American Bar association, the bar associations of forty states and many commercial organizations. The Clayton bill provides that the supreme court of the United States shall have power to prescribe the forms and manner of service of writs, and other processes, the mode and manner of framing and filing proceedings and pleadings and to regulate generally and prescribe rules and forms for the entire pleading, practice and procedure to be used in all proceedings at law of whatever nature by the district courts of the United States. In reporting the Clayton bill from the judiciary committee Representative Webb of North Carolina, who drew the report, said: "The committee in favorably reporting this bill does so only after painstaking research and inquiry, aided by experienced lawyers in active practice, law teachers and authors. It is keenly conscious of the difficulty and gravity of the subject, the previous inability of the lawyers to agree on the form that the practice should take, the organized struggle of the last five years in procedural reform, the present urgent public demand for it made known by thousands of communications and the imperative necessity of a speedy, complete and fundamental reorganization of the entire pleading, procedure and practice in vogue in the inferior federal courts. The committee believes the bill makes possible the complete solution of a problem in a manner surprisingly in accord with both professional and lay sentiment. This has been effectuated by the character of the program embraced in the bill, that made it possible for lawyers entertaining wholly divergent views to accept it. Provision is made for these views to be discussed before and settled by the supreme court, to which plan there is no dissent. The bill deals only with one great principle, leaving all details to the supreme court, which is its traditional merit."

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men, Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Keweenaw's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

county should be nominated through a legalized direct primary.

"That the stockman is a worse enemy to the forests of North Carolina than the lumberman;

"That the town of ——— should establish a tax-supported library;

"That it is expedient for county to increase the salaries of its public school teachers at least 25 per cent.

"That the farmers of ——— should form a co-operative marketing association."

These are only illustrative of a wide range of subjects.

The manual points out that "public discussion in North Carolina during the past decade has undergone a most desirable change. Emphasis hitherto placed largely on things political and national, is being placed on questions affecting the every-day life of North Carolina. To make this change even more far-reaching every North Carolina community should resolve itself into a community club and devote itself seriously to the quiet, persistent study of its economic, social, educational, and religious problems.

"The plan of organization and the method of procedure in such clubs should be simpler than that of the school societies. Their object should be open, frank, earnest discussion. The building up of a strong, constructive, community spirit, and community interest should be a second object. Out of such discussions, characterized by such a spirit, will inevitably come the solution of problems upon which the welfare of the community absolutely depends.

"If a place of meeting is the only obstacle in the way of the formation of such a club, the local schoolhouse can well be used for this purpose. It ought to be widely used and made the real social center of the community."

THE RUINED CHIMU CAPITAL

Chan-Chan, the ruined old capital of the Chimu, is not in China, notwithstanding that the name might suggest such a location to the uninitiated. If the Chimu ever lived in Oriental lands our archaeologists have failed to discover the fact. They were Americans, just as were the Incas, whose traditions traced back an unbroken line of kings for a thousand years before the Spanish conquest, and whose civilization is so much better known to us and once upon a time these same Chimu were formidable rivals in all the arts of war and peace, of the Incas. They dwelt along the shores of

CIVIC EDUCATION

University of North Carolina Stimulates Interest in Problems

The arousing of a state-wide civic consciousness and civic interest among young and old by means of discussion of the questions of local concern in the clubhouse and at the country cross-roads, is the undertaking of the university of North Carolina. The university stands on the doctrine of Wendell Phillips that "agitation is education. Agitation is marshalling the conscience of a nation to mold its laws." This is the attitude taken by Arthur W. Dunn, U. S. Bureau of Education.

With a record of emphasis upon debate from its founding in 1785, the university has gone about to systematize and universalize discussion of every conceivable question of vital local interest, not only by the youth of the state in the high schools, but by adult organizations of farmers, of women, or of any other available group.

For some years graduates of the university have established debating clubs in the schools where they have gone to teach, members of the faculty have answered communications, and materials have been sent to all parts of the state from the university library and the state library commission. Recently a high-school debating union was organized, including more than one hundred schools, to conduct state-wide debating contests.

As a part of its extensive plans in this direction, the extension bureau of the university has just issued a manual on Public Discussion and Debate to stimulate discussion of public questions chiefly by high-school students, but also by community clubs and public organizations." This manual suggests a large number of questions of immediate interest in North Carolina. A considerable number of the questions are analyzed, arguments pro and con being given. References are given to easily available material, much of which may be obtained by application to the university, to the library commission, or to public officers. In addition to this, instructions are given as to how to organize for such discussions and how to conduct them.

While some of the questions suggested for discussion are of national significance, the chief value of the work of the university lies in the way it focuses attention upon real problems of immediate local concern. For example, it is "Resolved,

"That ——— county should provide a medical inspector of schools;" "That all county officers in ———

Peru, as did the Incas on the high Andes, and like the Carthaginians of old, were a seafaring people.

"Mystery abounds in pre-Columbian America," writes Walter Verner in the March issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, "and the farther modern research penetrates into the ancient civilizations of Mexico, Central America, and the west coast of South America, the more the mystery of their origin seems to deepen. Among the problems presented to archaeology and anthropology none, perhaps, is more fascinating than that of the Chimu people of Peru. What we read of these dwellers of the north coast of the land made famous by the Incas is contained in casual references by the early Spanish chroniclers; what we see of their civilization consists of stupendous ruins near the modern town of Trujillo."

The ruined temples and palace walls of this ancient city, richly ornamented in bas-relief, the vast irrigation works, the tombs containing the sepulchers of once powerful rulers, all indicate that the ancient Chimu were worthy rivals of the "children of the sun" who finally conquered them.

The Incas, so tradition says, came from the south to settle the region once occupied by an ancient race of Chimu builders. The Chimu of the coast are said to have come from the north on a flotilla of rafts, and savants are not agreed as to the time of their invasion. Some think there is evidence of two earlier civilizations; others that everything points to a relatively short occupancy of the valleys, extending over only a few centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. Racially the Chimu, in common with nearly all the Pacific coast peoples of South America north of Chile, present the characteristics found among a large portion of the ancient and modern inhabitants of Central America and Yucatan utterly distinct from the highland type of the Inca Conquerors.

and the neighboring territory. The empire was conquered by the Incas some 150 years before Pizarro arrived upon the scene—and as a race they have vanished from the face of the earth, having been scattered and finally absorbed by the conquerors.

The Incas, so tradition says, came from the south to settle the region once occupied by an ancient race of Chimu builders. The Chimu of the coast are said to have come from the north on a flotilla of rafts, and savants are not agreed as to the time of their invasion. Some think there is evidence of two earlier civilizations; others that everything points to a relatively short occupancy of the valleys, extending over only a few centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. Racially the Chimu, in common with nearly all the Pacific coast peoples of South America north of Chile, present the characteristics found among a large portion of the ancient and modern inhabitants of Central America and Yucatan utterly distinct from the highland type of the Inca Conquerors.

Be that as it may, there are remarkable evidences of the advanced civilization of this extinct race. The irrigation works, aqueducts, reservoirs, and canals whose ruins may still be seen make it certain that the engineering skill of the Chimu was of the very highest order. The water was brought down from the Muchi river, which was tapped at a considerable distance from the city. The aqueduct is 60 feet high and from the top of the bridge overlooking the city one can trace the plan by which the water was distributed down the slope over the city and the surrounding land. Everywhere are canals and reservoirs irrigating fields and gardens, protected by a great wall which ran for miles on the island side of the city. A study of these canals suggests a differentiation in irrigation land for cotton and corn cultivation. The long-staple cotton of Peru was extensively cultivated even in the remote period, and finely woven cloth, dyed in gorgeous colors, was worn by the wealthy Chimu.

In the art of pottery they were in advance of even the Incas, for of all the remarkable work in clay that has been excavated in Peru none can compare with the skillful workmanship with that found in Chan-Chan. Some of these earthen vessels representing human figures, heads and groups, were portraits of contemporaneous persons, and the observer is struck with the forcefulness with which the varied expres-

SNOW IN SOUTH

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Winter's belated touch enveloping the entire east set new records at official thermometers.

In New Orleans, straw hats and spring finery were replaced with winter overcoats. Throughout the South Atlantic and Gulf states heavy damage to fruits and early crops was feared. A 30 degree drop in a few hours was recorded at Mobile. Snow flurries were recorded as far south as Greenville, S. C., breaking the April records of several years. Fruit trees in blossom in the Norfolk tidewater section were blighted.

April snow in Richmond was recorded for the first time since the Spanish war.

The weather bureau predicted heavy frosts as far south as northern Florida tonight and cold weather nearly every where east of the Rocky mountains. Partial relief is expected by Friday except on the Atlantic coast.

CARNEGIE AT CAPITOL

INTERESTED SPECTATOR IN HOUSE GALLERY AND APPLAUDED SPEECH

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Andrew Carnegie was an interested spectator in the house gallery today and applauded vigorously a speech supporting the Panama tolls exemption repeal by Rep. Vulliamy of Iowa, the newest member. Mr. Carnegie predicted that the repeal bill would pass the senate and jokingly suggested that "only prayer will help some of those democrats in the senate the way they are behaving now."

Later Mr. Carnegie visited the White House, where he chatted a few minutes with President Wilson.

FIRE DEPT. REPAIR WORK

Done Mostly by Firemen Who are Experts in Various Trades—Much Expense Thus Saved

Chief Edward F. Saunders of the local fire department has started an economic campaign in his department, for he fears that he cannot live within his appropriation unless something is done to reduce expenses. This department was given $194,000, and this would have been enough had it not been for the unforeseen expenses that were suddenly brought to the department by the fact that a boiler of one of the engines was condemned, and that new ladders and new sides for the large Eubank truck were needed, the total cost of the boiler and the ladders to be about $1200.

The chief in conversation with a Sun reporter yesterday said he was economizing in every way in the department and by so doing he hopes he will get along with the money voted his department by the municipal council. However, in order to do so he has to be very careful and look into every small detail in the administration of the department and even watch carefully the amount of gas burned in the various stations each month.

Speaking about gas, the chief said last month's bill for gas, which is being used in the stations for lighting purposes amounted to $146, which is very high. Each station was supplied with a large arc light and some with two, and in many cases after he started an investigation he found that even though the men were all in the same apartment, lights were burning in other rooms, a thing which he said the men would not do at home. In order to reduce lighting expenses the chief had all the arc lights, 21 in number taken out and replaced with chandeliers, each containing two or more incandescent lights. The men are getting as much satisfaction with these lights and the gas bill will be reduced considerably. There was practically no expense in the change-over for the work was done by men of the department.

Inspector of Repairs

Strict orders were also given as to the use of the telephones in the various buildings and it is believed that the telephone bill will also be reduced considerably. There is a new feature in the department and that is the position of Inspector of repairs. This position is being held by T. F. Saunders, who has more than saved his salary during the past year. The inspector visits the various stations occasionally and keeps tabs on the equipment of the department as well as on the horses. For instance if a horse drops a shoe, the inspector, who is a blacksmith by trade, replaces the shoe at no cost to the department. The apparatus are also being kept in better condition for the slightest defects are being cared for in the proper time and on many occasions what would turn out to be a big job if not cared for is taken up at the proper time and needless expenses are thus saved.

A short time ago the state inspector condemned the boiler of Engine 5, and the apparatus was immediately removed to the boiler works of Scannell & Wholley, where it is being taken apart by men of the department. The boiler will be constructed by the boiler firm at a cost of about $500, but at least a couple of hundred dollars have been saved by the firemen who have taken the apparatus apart.

The inspector of repairs noticed a short time ago that the large Eubank truck was in a bad condition and at once the apparatus was sent to Lawrence, where new sides are being built and new ladders constructed. The ladders were in a decayed condition and a menace to the department. Unfortunately this work could not be done by men of the department. This job will cost about $700.

The automobile of District Chief Sullivan broke down a few days ago and the car which has been taken apart is now at the quarters of Hose Co. No. 5, where it is being repaired by men of the department. All the small jobs on the automobiles of the department are being handled by men of the department, for there are two automobile experts on the list and they are willing workers.

Well Equipped Repair Shop

The equipment and furniture of the various stations are also taken care of by men of the department. A well-lighted up workshop exists on the top floor of the Central station, and considerable work of the industrial kind is being done there. The equipment of the shop consists of two lathes, one small and one large; a circular saw and a buzz planer, as well as work benches and tools of all descriptions. At the present time men are at work in putting in new springs on one of the beds of the department. The chief says the men like this kind of work, for it keeps them busy during the day and life is not so monotonous.

The chief has just received 21 new automatic keyless doors for the alarm boxes and they are now being installed in the central part of the city by Electrician Fernald. These doors cost $20 apiece, or five dollars each less, than the first lot. These were ordered last year and have been shipped only a few days ago. The chief believes that these doors will prevent the ringing of many false alarms, for when the

BANDITS SHOT UP SALOON
WOONSOCKET, R.I., April 9.—Three masked highwaymen broke into a saloon in North Smithfield early this morning, took two shots at David Murphy, the watchman, but missed him. They turned on the electric lights and

FEARS ATTACK OF GUNMEN

New York Woman Flees From Home—Searchlight Mount to Help Detectives

NEW YORK, April 30.—Word that East Side gunmen assembled in a parkers cafe and carousing would depend on her Riverdale house in a few hours to shoot up the Burns detectives on guard there, sent Mrs. Gloria Morosini Werner flying from home last night in a limousine that took her straight to the heart of Manhattan.

The report of the gunmen's plan to attack Elmhurst, which has been in a state of siege to keep out Mrs. Werner's husband, was heard by newspaper men, who warned Burns detectives in Yonkers. The detectives immediately telephoned to Riverdale and New York police headquarters and then motored at top speed back to the Morosini place.

There a searchlight was rigged in the cupola of the house and the twenty-two detectives on guard were sent to stations. Two of them stood on the steps of the porte cochere in front of the house. A solid line of men was thrown across the grounds at the back where the house of its valuable furnishings. Mrs. Werner intends little by little to dismantle Elmhurst, a friend explained later. "I think she feels that she can no longer endure to live there. In its present guarded state, the place is untenable as a residence, and it will not be possible to live there quietly or in any comfort for months. The house is full of the most costly furniture and contains some rare books and tapestries. There are six valuable paintings—two Botticellis, two Corots and two works by Rubens—which are not and cannot be properly safeguarded there. The risks of robbery are serious, Mrs. Werner thinks.

Unhappy Elmhurst Memories

"Besides Elmhurst is associated with the unhappy hours of her life. It was there that she first met her husband. It was there that he acted as her father's superintendent, and there she has lived since her marriage. Mrs. Werner feels now as if she never wanted to see or hear of the place again."

On her visit yesterday afternoon the former Giulia Morosini again indicated that she intended to disengage in a few days with the many detectives now engaged in keeping her husband out of Elmhurst. It was said that she would replace them in a few days with detectives from the agency of George S. Dougherty, the veteran Plunkerton man, who recently was deputy police commissioner. These new guards will be on hand only until the valuable things in the house have been packed and stored.

Arthur Maurice Werner, the ex-mounted policeman who divorced Mrs. Alice Redding and then married the banker's daughter, has not called at Elmhurst for the trunkful of clothing, jewelry and other belongings that are stacked up and ready for him. A man who said he was Werner's agent appeared there yesterday with a tray and demanded Werner's things. He did not get them. Arthur H. Coombs, detective superintendent at the place, said Mr. Werner must call himself.

This Werner declines to do. His lawyer, Henry S. Dottenheim of 15 William street, has told Joseph P. Cotton, chief of 14 Wall street, Mrs. Werner's counsel, that if Mrs. Werner expects her husband to undergo personal humiliation in calling for his clothes she is much mistaken. Werner may yet go to Riverside, his friends say, but he will not stir a step until assurances have been given him that he will be treated with courtesy.

Three moving picture firms that publish weekly films of news events have petitioned for the privilege of taking reels showing Werner calling for his clothes. This was after word had been given out that when Werner came to the house, interviewers, movie men and curiosity seekers would be allowed to watch his visit at close range.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Edward Mendel, a respected iron and steel merchant in Newark, by day and a thug in New York by night, was today sentenced to spend the next 18 years of his life in Sing Sing prison.

Mendel, who in Newark was a member of many fraternal orders and clubs, turned Mrs. Pauline Koetsel to an upper West

PITCHER MAYBOHM SIGNS

Arthur Maybohm, Lowell's veteran pitcher whom Manager Gray thought had quit professional baseball for all time, was heard from this afternoon in the form of his signed contract. It was a big surprise to the Lowell owners for they had decided that the big, blond slab artist would never don a Lowell uniform again.

Although the terms of the contract were not made public it is probable that Maybohm will receive the same salary this year that he collected last season. He has been of great help to the locals in past seasons and has always been on the job to help his club out if in a hole and these things have not been forgotten by Manager Gray. Maybohm will report here Monday morning.

Dee Probably Will Sign

"Shorty" Dee hasn't signed his contract yet but he probably will be brought into the fold before another week has rolled by. Dan Finnerty, the ground keeper at Spaulding Park, received a letter from the Lynn holdout today and its contents left the impression that Dee would be on hand when the other players report here Monday.

The letter asked Dan to get hold of "Shorty" two bats. These were the clubs which Dee used last season and he asked the ground keeper to take them to the baseball office and put them under lock and key. All of which seems to indicate that "Shorty" will be with us again.

MILITANT USED HATCHET

SMASHED TEN CASES CONTAINING EXHIBITION IN ASIATIC SECTION OF BRITISH MUSEUM

LONDON, April 9.—A militant suffragette today, using a hatchet, smashed ten cases containing an exhibition in the Asiatic section of the British museum. Beyond breaking a few specimens of valuable porcelain, however, she did very little damage except to the glass cases. The woman was arrested but declined to give her name.

SALE OF STATE BONDS

STATE TREASURER F. W. MANSFIELD MAKES STATEMENT IN DEFENSE OF RECENT SALE

BOSTON, April 9.—In defense of his recent sale of an issue of state bonds "over the counter" rather than through a syndicate of bankers, State Treasurer F. W. Mansfield in a public statement today claims that the net loss to the state was $74.35 compared with the last bond sale under the old methods.

"The big thing I sought to accomplish," said the treasurer, "was to increase the interest of the people in their own state, to advance civic pride and patriotism and to bring the government closer to the people."

The public bond sale netted $481.60 more than would have been obtained had the bid of the syndicate been accepted. On the other hand it cost $95.90 to advertise the sale while the expense of advertising last year was $129.55, so that Mr. Mansfield figures that the state spent $74.35 in making his plan a success.

LOWELL DRIVING CLUB

The Lowell Driving club will meet Monday evening, April 13, 1914, at 8 o'clock, at the club's headquarters in the Wamest bank building, 417 Middlesex street, for the purpose of discussing the purchase of land for a driving park.

STOCKS WEAK IN SPOTS

AT OPENING—WEAKNESS OF INDUSTRIALS CAUSED STANDARD ISSUES TO LOSE GROUND

NEW YORK, April 9.—While most of the active stocks held steady at the opening today decided weakness appeared in spots. Liquidation was resumed in Canadian Pacific, which dropped a point to 199 1/2, the lowest in several years.

New Haven, Louisville and various industrials lost one to three points. These declines shaped the course of the market, which ebbed off after the opening, with severe pressure against steel. Reading advanced in spite of the general tendency. The strength of this market leader checked the reactionary movement which was of small proportions in most cases.

Foreign selling gave direction to the stock market during the morning. London sold Canadian Pacific, Steel and Kansas & Texas, the last for Dutch traders. Room traders followed the lead of foreign representatives and sold stocks. Blocks of 1000 and 2500 shares of Steel were unloaded, and the effect of this selling was shown in the gradual spread of heaviness to other quarters. Losses of the favorite shares were not severe, but the wide breaks secured among the specialties and weakened railroads. Pressure on Kansas & Texas was due to reports that the preferred dividend might be passed at the meeting of the directors later in the month.

Liquidation ceased for a time and shorts bid for stocks, but as soon as the inquiry from this source diminished the market eased off again. Steel was sold on all rallies, owing to the general expectation that tomorrow's tonnage statement will be highly unfavorable. Bonds were shaken in sympathy with stocks, despite continuance of the strong inquiry for municipal issues, which carried up the new city 4 1/2's "when issued" to 102.

The market closed heavy. Weakness of industrials caused the standard issues to lose ground with particular heaviness in Great Northern.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, April 9.—Renewed weakness in Boston & Maine and New Haven was the feature of the early trading on the local exchange today. Mining shares were neglected except a few low priced securities.

STRIKE AT WOONSOCKET

100 SILK WEAVERS QUIT WORK AT HAMLET TEXTILE CO.'S MILL

WOONSOCKET, R. I., April 9.—Over 100 silk weavers struck at the Hamlet Textile Co. mill here today. They compose 60 per cent of the weavers and claim their wages were reduced some weeks ago and Supt. Wooley refused to confer with them as to a reduction of the old schedule. The latter says the mill is running with 70 weavers at work.

ON COTTON AND GRAIN

NEW ARRANGEMENT IN UNITED STATES INSPECTION BILL—ANTI-GAMBLING MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 9.—A bill providing for federal grading and inspection of cotton and grain soon will be reported to the house by the committee on agriculture.

After action on this measure it is understood that the committee will report another bill prohibiting "gambling" on exchanges in cotton, grain and other products of the farm.

Announcement was made today by Chairman Lever of the house committee that hearings on the cotton bill will be begun before the committee on April 22 and will continue four days. On April 27 the committee will begin hearings on the grain grading bill.

It is understood that an agreement has been reached by the northern and southern members to combine the grain and cotton bills. They believe that an inspection bill covering both products would insure action at this session.

A cotton bill was passed by the senate last week. A bill providing for federal grading and inspection of grain is pending in the senate. It is believed that this measure will be passed within the next week or two.

ESCAPED FROM BOX CARS

PUEBLO, Col., April 9.—After breaking from box cars in which they had been locked and overpowering a dozen policemen, 16 members of General Kelly's army of unemployed left a freight train two miles north of Pueblo today and marched back to town demanding food.

The men were placed in the city corral where the police supplied them with beans, bread and coffee. It was planned to send the men east as soon as cars could be supplied. The police had planned to send the men through to Denver in the locked cars.

THE EASTER MAIL RUSH

CROWDING THE LOCAL POST OFFICE—RUSH IS STILL INCREASING

The rush of Easter mail has begun at the local post office and this morning Postmaster Crowley put on four or five extra carriers put on full auxiliary force in an effort to lighten the work.

During the past week or two the mail being received and dispatched at the federal building has been exceedingly heavy, the greater part of it consisting of circulars and other advertisements being sent out by shoe manufacturers, clothing companies, etc., besides the usual large number of Easter souvenir post cards.

A great many tinseled post cards are being mailed this year but as yet none has failed to meet the requirements of the department. All tinsel cards must be entirely enveloped. None which are placed in envelopes having a square cut out to show the stamp will go through the mail. The tinseled cards must be entirely covered, and the stamp placed on the envelope. Postmaster Crowley expects that the mail will be even heavier during the remainder of the week than it has been during the past few days but with the entire force working and everything being carefully looked after there will be no unnecessary delay and the service will be up to the standard of the local office.

Powerful N. Y. Friends Win Plea
stand—Happy Reunion

NEW YORK, April 9.—The doors of Ludlow street jail opened at 8 o'clock last night for Mrs. Glachina Gallo and her infant son. As fast as a taxi could take her there she was driven to her flat in the rear tenement house at 424 East Forty-fourth street, where five children have been waiting for her since last Saturday afternoon and wondering where she had gone with the two strange men who took her away that day.

The release of Mrs. Gallo and her baby was brought about through the successful efforts of a sympathetic Wall street broker, who had read of her plight. He induced City Court Justice Ransom to use his judicial discretion in vacating the order of arrest of Mrs. Gallo, who was imprisoned because she didn't pay $185 due on a fruit stand she bought, and then because when she was giving birth to her baby she failed to answer an order to go to court.

After Mrs. Gallo had been in jail over Sunday with her baby and the man and woman who caused her to be sent there had refused to consent to her release, the members of a stock exchange firm who read of the case engaged Martin C. Anson to get her out of jail and send her back to her little dock if possible.

Powerful Friends Raised

When Mr. Anson started proceedings he found that the Prison association already had been induced to go into the matter by the president of a bank and of a title and guarantee company. The association retained Frederick H. Cowden, who, with Mr. Anson, took the case from City Court Justice Smith. Justice Smith referred to the application for Mrs. Gallo's release to Justice Ransom, who signed the original order for Mrs. Gallo's examination in supplementary proceedings. Justice Ransom interrupted a trial to hear the application.

The lawyers submitted to the court an affidavit by Dr. James A. J. O'Brien, prison physician at Ludlow street, who said that the health of both Mrs. Gallo and little Nicholas would be endangered by confinement in a jail where there are no proper means for caring for a young child.

In his argument Mr. Anson told the court that he and the brother who had induced him to take up the case had talked with Mrs. Gallo in the jail for several hours on Tuesday afternoon and were convinced that, although her husband has been paying $1 a week out of his salary of $8 to

BROKER GUILTY

C. H. Smith of N. Y. Used Mail to Defraud Investors

NEW YORK, April 9.—Clarence M. Smith, a broker, entered a plea of guilty in the federal court here today to an indictment charging him with having used the mails to defraud investors in the bonds of the Oxford Linen mills of North Brookfield, Mass. Sentence was deferred. Smith disposed of $40,000 worth of bonds to the stockholders who had previously been duped by the Sterling Debenture Corporation, several of whose officers and directors have been sent to prison.

AGAINST TOLLS REPEAL

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Rep. Barnhardt, democrat of Indiana, author of the newspaper publicity section of the post office law, told Postmaster General Burleson today that he believed certain newspapers were violating its provisions by not marking as advertising certain matter attacking the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption which Mr. Barnhardt alleges he has reason to believe is furnished by a shipping trust. Mr. Burleson told Mr. Barnhardt he was ready to receive any evidence of violation of the law.

The postmaster general has information that certain newspapers now among the largest and most influential in various cities from coast to coast, are printing articles for the shipping trust in the agitation against the tolls repeal bill, said Mr. Barnhardt today.

CASE OF DR. ALLEN VS. TEL. & TEL. CO.

Heard at Superior Court This Morning—The Doctor's Telephone Taken Out by Mistake, Said Manager Leathers

The trial of the case of Dr. Otis Allen vs. New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. was opened before Judge Sanderson and a jury at the local session of superior court about 10:30 o'clock this forenoon. The amount of the suit is $5000. Lawyer Tierney appeared for the plaintiff and the defense was represented by Mr. Clarke of the office of Powers & Hall of Boston.

The case is one in which the plaintiff claims that while he had a contract with the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. for telephone service at his residence, employees of the defendant company disconnected the service and refused to continue it for some time. The defense claims that if there ever was a contract between the two parties, the plaintiff failed to perform his obligations previous to the time that the phone was disconnected.

Dr. Otis Allen, the plaintiff, was the first witness called and he testified that he is a practicing dentist in Lowell with offices in The Sun building, in September, 1913, the time in question, his residence was on Gibson street, this city. His wife and two children were in Nantucket, said the witness, as one of the children was very ill.

A contract dated March 14, 1911, between Dr. Allen and the telephone company was read by lawyer Tierney. It provided that the company was to furnish telephone service to the defendant at his home on Gibson street until cancelled by either party—providing a 30 days' notice was given. The witness said that on the 11th day of September, 1913, he sent a check to the N. E. T. & T. Co. paying all his bills up to Sept. 1, 1913, and about a week or so later the telephone service was disconnected. Six days after it had been taken out it was reconnected. At this point a question arose as to whether or not Dr. Allen had a right to use his residence telephone for business purposes. The doctor said that he often receives emergency calls at his home while the phone was also used for social and private calls.

In answer to a question of lawyer Clarke, the doctor said that from 3 to 12 per cent. of his business is done through the residence telephone. He testified that he did $1700 worth of business monthly.

The doctor said that during the month of September, 1913, he received no notice that he was delinquent in the payment of his telephone bills. The bill which he paid in September, 1913, was for two months' service.

Dr. Allen stated that he now lives with a sister in this city and occasionally receives telephone calls there.

Dr. Louis F. Beane, a dentist employed in the office of Dr. Allen, was called to the witness stand and testified that he attempted to call Dr. Allen at his house during the time the telephone was disconnected, but could not do so.

"In one particular case," said the witness, "a patient who required considerable dental work called at the office and asked for Dr. Allen personally. The work, as I outlined it, would have to cost about $75 or $80. The witness was unable to tell whether or not the doctor was at his home at that time, but the house telephone was not connected and he could not locate him.

Charles J. Leathers, manager of the local division of the N. E. T. & T. Co., was the next witness called and said that in this instance, when Dr. Allen's phone was removed, there was some mistake.

"If Dr. Allen owed for telephone service for July and August, and if that bill was not paid about the first of September, what would be your proceedings?" asked Attorney Clarke.

"We would send him a notice informing him that we would remove the phone as that was the second month," said Mr. Leathers.

The witness said that, according to the records, a great many of these notices had been sent to Dr. Allen. He said that a rebate was granted to Dr. Allen for the time that the telephone was not in use. Lawyer Tierney announced that the plaintiff's case rested and as the defense did not produce any witnesses the arguments were begun and the case was given to the jury early this afternoon.

SAG IN GORHAM ST. NEAR SEWER JOB

There's street trouble brewing in Gorham street, and just how much trouble will develop nobody knows. The street department is putting in a new sewer in Appleton street. There are three crews on the job and the work is being carried on day and night. The new sewer will enter the Gorham street sewer at the manhole in Gorham street near Appleton street.

Early this morning the night gang on the Appleton street sewer noticed that Gorham street was sagging in the vicinity of where they were working. The sag extending beyond the brick block occupied on the ground floor by Brown's grocery store.

The actual cause of the sag is not known, though it is thought that either the sewer or water pipes are leaking in that section. The men engaged in the sewer work cannot account for its occurrence at this time. They do not believe that the Appleton street connection has anything to do with it.

Happened Once Before

It is recalled that the same trouble occurred some years ago and it was stated today by a man thoroughly acquainted with that section that many years ago there was talk of sewer trouble in that street. Sewers were installed there about that time and it was alleged that the job was a very poor one; that the sewer or sewers had not been properly constructed.

The sag that started early this morning is continuing up Gorham street and the situation is looked upon as quite serious. Commissioner Morse is of the opinion that a leak must have occurred there and undermined the street and he will proceed to investigate. The sag averages more than six inches at the present time and the street railway has abandoned the out rail for a short distance at that point.

Wants An Accounting

At a recent meeting of the municipal council City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessy asked for and received $200 for the payment of witnesses "in advance." Commissioner Brown seems to think that some of this money has gone for witnesses in the case having to do with the purchase of the Pillsbury estate for a contagious hospital and in order to ascertain what disposition has been made of the money the commissioner has addressed a communication to the city solicitor asking for a record of the disbursements and to whom paid, with a statement as to what case or cases the money was applied.

Act Governing Advertising

YEGGMAN TAKEN BY SPRINGFIELD POLICE

Proved to be One of the Gang. Arrested in Lowell—Identified by Finger Print Record—Sent to Boston

The Springfield police took a man into custody on Monday and he was booked at the police station in that city on a charge of vagrancy. The fellow was very reticent and the police did not succeed in getting very much information from him concerning himself.

The finger print system was resorted to and the prints developed the fact that the man was none other than a member of the yegg gang arrested in this city in February, 1911. He was one of the yeggs rounded up in Appleton street at that time and the capture of the gang represented a very nice piece of police work.

The man in question, at the time of his arrest in this city gave the name of John Barry and by industrious search the Lowell police learned that he had been arrested under the name of Charles H. Chicken in Lynn, and that in Beverly when arrested for breaking and entering and larceny he used the alias, Frank McCarthy. He was arrested in Lynn for larceny and later as a tramp and was sentenced to the house of correction. From Beverly he was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Finger Print Bureau

The finger prints taken by the Springfield police were sent to Roscoe C. Hill, chief of the bureau of finger print identification, at the state house, and upon finding that they agreed with the finger prints of John Barry, alias Charles H. Chicken, alias Frank McCarthy, supplied by the Lowell police at the time of the roundup of the yeggs here, Mr. Hill addressed a communication to Lowell's superintendent of police.

Supt. Welch gave so complete a history of the man's arrest here and of his past record that Mr. Hill tendered his heartiest congratulations to the Lowell police. Besides giving the facts concerning the prisoner's arrest in this city, Lynn and Beverly, Supt. Welch also forwarded information of the man's arrest there for vagrancy and was sentenced to six months in the house of correction. The next and last chapter in the life of Harry, alias Chicken, alias McCarthy, as supplied by Supt. Welch told of his arrest for breaking and entering a postoffice at Greenfield. The United States authorities had charge of the Greenfield case and the defendant was given an 18 months' jail sentence.

Barry will be arraigned in Springfield on Saturday and the police of that city will have his record down "pat."

SEN. LODGE SUPPORTS PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Lodge, ranking republican member of the foreign relations committee, addressed the senate today in support of President Wilson's Panama canal tolls policy. He maintained vigorously the legal right of the United States to exempt its shipping, foreign as well as coastwise, from tolls, but declared that "a decent respect to the opinions of mankind" and the "disturbance in some cases dislike" with which the United States is regarded abroad, demanded prompt repeal of the exemption clause of the canal act.

"Whether we shall insist upon giving to our ships two or three millions of dollars in a disputed way is, in my conception, a very small question compared to the larger issues which are here involved," said the senator. "When the year 1909 opened, the United States occupied a higher and stronger position among the nations of the earth than at any period in our history. Never before had we possessed such an influence in international affairs, and that influence had been used beneficently and for the world's peace in two conspicuous instances—at Portsmouth and at Algiers. Never before had our relations with the various states of Central and South America been so good. It seemed as if the shadow of suspicion which, owing to our dominant and at times domineering power, had darkened and chilled our relations with the people of Latin America had at last been lifted. This great position and this commanding influence have been largely lost. I am not in the councils of the president of the United States, but I believe that during the past year the present position of the United States in its foreign relations has become very apparent to him, as it has to other responsible and reflecting men, and with this appreciation of our present position has come the earnest wish to retrace some of our steps. At least, and to regain, so far as possible, the high place which we formerly occupied. It would be an obvious impropriety to point out the specific conditions of our present relations with the various nations, both in the old world and the new; it is enough to note the fact that we are regarded by other nations with distrust and in some cases with dislike. Rightly or wrongly, they have come to believe that we are not to be trusted; that we make our international relations the sport of politics and treat them as if they were in no wise different from questions of domestic legislation. This has not been in accord with our history or our position.

Abrogated Treaty But Once

Only once have we abrogated a treaty, and then actual if not declared war existed. We have scrupulously observed our international agreements, and where differences have arisen we have settled them not with the high hand of power but by negotiation and arbitration.

"I suppose that at this moment in the midst of the admittedly stimulated passions raised against the president's recommendation that we should repeal the toll exemption clause it will be thought very poor spirited and even truckling to believe that in the accepted words of the author of the declaration of independence, 'When Jefferson framed that great instrument he declared that

INCREASE IN TAX RATE

Citizens of Tewksbury Believe Tax Rate Will be Over $18—Fire Protection Expected

The assessors of the town of Tewksbury are very busy these days, for they have started on their tour of the town, in the course of which they will endeavor to place a proper valuation on all the real and personal property, in order to fix the tax rate for the present year.

It is believed by many that there will be an increase in the tax rate this year, and many are of the opinion that the increase will be very near $2 if not more. The present tax rate is $17.40 per thousand, but on account of the many increases in appropriations voted at the last town meeting it is very probable that the rate will jump to nearly $19 per thousand.

The assessors are not yet ready to give a statement in relation to tax conditions and it will be some time before they get through their task, for it is no small job to travel from one end of the town to the other and value property, especially in Tewksbury, which covers an area of several square miles.

Fire Protection

Some of the residents of the town are wondering if anything has been done by the selectmen toward the purchase of fire apparatus in conformity with the vote taken at the town meeting. Over a month has now elapsed since the meeting was held and thus far not a word has been heard from the officials of the town in relation to fire protection. Several hose reels are to be purchased and some say that the selectmen ought to get busy if they have not already done so and supply the town with proper protection and not rely all the time on the department at the state infirmary.

Water System

The committee appointed to look into the possibilities of installing a water system in the town is active, they say and doing considerable work in that respect. These men are to report at a special town meeting which will be held in June and it is believed that their report will be favorable and that a hydrant system will be installed in the heart of the town.

A large gang of men are at work on the state highway between Lowell and Tewksbury and in a short time the road will again be in very good condition. The frost during the past few months has caused the road to break up in some places and when the state officials were notified they immediately sent men on the job. A steam roller is kept working on the premises and crushed stone is being laid on the surface of the road which will be ready for traffic in a short time.

MASSACHUSETTS ROADS

Chairman Sohler Says State Built 1,461.97 Miles During Last Twenty Years

BANGOR, Me., April 9.—William D. Sohler, chairman of the Massachusetts highway commission, was the chief speaker at the good roads convention which opened here yesterday. His address was on "Massachusetts Highways."

Twenty Years' Work

Allen State highway ..... 249.60
Road in small towns ..... 353.65
From motor vehicle fees, town roads ..... 129.87
From special appropriations ..... 28.55
Total ..... 1461.97

Speaking of the roads thus built, he said:

"The total expenditures for the construction of state highways up to this year were slightly over $5,000,000, and the bonds outstanding, because the roads are being built so rapidly, are under $7,000,000. The small town roads had cost $875,000; motor vehicles fees, on town roads, $225,000; for the repair and maintenance of state highways, $1,500,000; repair and maintenance from the state tax, $1,750,000; making the total expenditures of the commission $3,350,000 expended in 20 years. We have about 25 miles of gravel road, 846 miles of macadam, nearly three miles of concrete and about one-quarter of a mile of granite block.

"We have found it necessary to treat with some form of dust-layer and binder, either a tar or an asphaltic compound, 57 miles of our gravel road and 760 miles of our macadam roads. We are building on the main routes almost entirely of bituminous, macadam or concrete, because we find that water-borne macadam will not withstand a large amount of automobile travel.

For Automobile Use

Out of our 287 miles of state highway already constructed, therefore, 344 have been either built or have been treated with some bituminous compound, so that they will withstand the automobile travel, and we have only a little over 100 miles of either gravel or macadam, and those entirely located in small country towns, which have not been so treated. The probability is that this year we shall use bituminous materials on almost all these untreated miles of road.

Last year there was spent under the direction of the commission and its engineers in building and improving state roads, including state highways and the repair of roads, $2,950,000. In addition to this the cities and towns spent under our plans and direction something over $400,000. This is a tremendous advance when one considers

WATER MAIN CAUSE OF STREET DEPRESSION

Trouble in Gorham Street Not Due to Sewer Trouble—Street
Will Have to be Torn Up—City Council Draws Jurors

The cause of the sagging of the pavement in Gorham street, near Appleton street, is not due to a sewer break and is believed now to have been caused by a break in a water main.

The men employed in installing a sewer in Appleton street came upon a depression yesterday morning, nearly a foot in depth, in Gorham street, the depression causing a sinking of pavement and street car rails.

It was first thought that the trouble was due to a broken or plugged sewer but that belief was dissipated today, when big chains were run through the sewer for the purpose of ascertaining if the way were clear. There was no obstruction met with and the sewer men decided that neither the 24-inch main nor any of the connecting sewers were responsible for the trouble.

There was but one other place to lay the blame and that was with the six-inch water main and that will be investigated. The chain test, of course, was not given all of the sewers in that vicinity this morning because of the fact that a number of them are ungettable. In order to reach all of them and to ascertain just what the trouble is it will be necessary to dig up the street for several yards. If the leak is in the water main it stands to reason that the water must be finding its way into the sewer as it does not show on the street surface. It was stated today that surface water has found its way to cellars in Gorham street in the vicinity of where the pavement is sagging and the old timers, as was stated in The Sun yesterday, lay it to bad sewer construction. Sewers were installed there some 25 years ago or thereabout and it was contract work, too. The officials of the sewer department have come to the conclusion that the underpinning of the street has been going on for some time and they figure that if the trouble is in with the water main the leak must be a very small one, else it would show a greater sinking of the soil.

Frederick W. Farnham, superintendent of sewers, recalls that there was a sewer laid on the westerly side of Gorham street in 1896. Mr. Farnham was employed in the department at the time and had something to do with the laying of the sewer. From Middlesex to Appleton street it is a 24-inch sewer. From Appleton to Winter street it is an 18-inch sewer, and from Winter to Summer street it is a 15-inch sewer. The depression comes about 70 feet up from the corner of Appleton and Gorham streets, and is about 10 feet in length. Mr. Farnham says that as he recalls it the sewer was well constructed. On the other side of the street there is an old sewer and it has been found to be all right.

Mr. Farnham said: "We have made only a superficial examination as yet. We have been probing at it with sticks and pulling knotted chains through, but the only way to fully determine the difficulty is to excavate and that is what we will have to resort to."

Four Traverse Jurors

At a special meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon the following traverse jurors were drawn to serve in Cambridge, beginning Monday next: Thomas B. Barker, 12 Walker street, motorman.

Alexis Lavigne, 51 White street, printer.

George Z. Allard, 200 Cumberland road, operative.

James H. Cleary, 3 Bagley avenue, pattern maker.

The names of the jurors were drawn from the box by Alderman Brown. It is not very often that so speedy a call is made for jurors, but it was stated today that the courts are shy on jurors and that a case was tried in this city yesterday, or the day before with a jury of 10 instead of 12 men.

After the drawing of the jurors the council adjourned to the public reception room for the approval of bills. All of the bills were approved and there was very little controversy. There were only three members of the council present when the jurors were drawn. The absentees were Messrs. Carmichael and Morse.

Twelve applicants for chauffeurs' licenses took the examination at city hall this forenoon. These examinations are conducted every Friday under the auspices of the Massachusetts highway commission and the examiner today was Mr. Lathrop.

RUSH TO WARSHIPS FROM OIL TANK FIRES

Heavy Fighting Continues at Tampico
—Grave Fears of Wholesale Destruction of Properties—U. S. Marines Landed—Rebels Repulsed at San Pedro by Velasco

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Continued fighting at Tampico with great damage to the valuable oil properties there was reported to the state and navy departments today in despatches from the warships on the Mexican coast. An official statement at the state department described the situation as to the oil properties this way:

Several oil tanks have been struck, one is on fire and oil is running into the river. A number of refugees are on the warships.

The fighting at Tampico was described as heavy with the rebels in possession of Dona Cecilia and Arbol grande. Rear Admiral Fletcher reported that Rear Admiral Mayo had delivered another letter to General Zaragoza about the shots fired into the Pierce oil plant from federal gunboats.

Assurance was received that all American women and children have been gathered into places of safety.

FEDERALS REINFORCED AND REBELS HURLED BACK ON TORREON

EL PASO, Tex., April 10.—Reports of oppressive treatment inflicted by General Villa on U. S. Consul Cummings, acting British vice-consul at Torreon, of the defeat of a rebel column sent against San Pedro and of the success of the federal Gen. Velasco in joining Gen. Hidalgo at Saltillo, where they have a joint command of 12,000 or 13,000 men, were brought here tonight by two newspaper correspondents from Torreon.

Hidalgo, they said, was trying to reach Torreon with reinforcements when Velasco evacuated that city.

The correspondents said that while the sending of news from the front was not entirely prohibited, it was censored so severely as to be all but worthless.

Villa, they said, compelled Mr. Cunard-Cummings to run the risk of carrying a demand for the surrender of Torreon to Gen. Velasco, the tip being made under protest, and during which Mr. Cunard-Cummings was fired upon.

Hurled Back on Torreon

News of the rebel defeat at San Pedro, about 40 miles northeast of Torreon, was brought here by newspapermen.

Villa sent only a brigade under Gen. Ortega against San Pedro. The defeated column returned last Tuesday badly punished, it is said. The federal rapid-fire, sweeping the level plain, worked havoc among them.

Night attacks by Ortega failed to dislodge the enemy and Ortega returned with the explanation that he found the federals in unexpected force.

100 HUERTA SYMPATHIZERS TO BE DEPORTED—ONE AMERICAN IN LIST

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 10.—A despatch from Naco says the Sonora expatriation committee headed by General Ygnacio Pesqueira arrived at Cananea yesterday and made out a list of 100 or more suspected Huerta sympathizers to be deported. The name of one American, J. M. Gibbs, a commission merchant now said to be in Los Angeles, appears on the list. All the rest are said to be Mexicans.

Reports say large numbers of Mexicans in the towns south of here are prepared to anticipate the committee by leaving the country immediately when the theory they will be able to return quietly and without molestation, which would be impossible if they were officially deported.

U. S. MARINES LANDED AT TAM- PICO TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS

—REPORT CITY FALLEN

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, April 10.—United States marines have been landed at Tampico by Admiral Mayo to protect foreigners, and the Mexican gunboats have been ordered by the admiral to cease bombarding the town in an effort to stop the destruction of the immense foreign oil plants in and around the city.

The American consulate received word late last night from the consular agent at Tuxpan that grave rumors are current there that Tampico has fallen. While there is no confirmation of this it is known that there has been serious fighting between the federals and rebels around that port.

RESERVE CLAUSE INVALID

Application of Chicago Feds for Injunction Against Killifer Denied by Judge Sessions

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 10.—Judge Clarence W. Sessions in the United States district court today denied the application of the Chicago Federal league club for an injunction enjoining Catcher William Killifer, Jr., from playing with the Philadelphia National club. The judge denied the application upon the grounds that the Chicago Federal league club did not come to court "with clean hands." The decision also holds the reserve clause not valid.

SEVERAL NEW BUILDINGS

In Process of Construction In Centralville—Club Being Converted Into Apartment House

The old Spindle City club building in West Sixth street at the corner of E. 11th street, is the scene of considerable activity for a gang of men are now at work on changing over the structure into a six-apartment dwelling house, the change being made by Contractor Jacques Boisvert.

This fine building was constructed several years ago for the Spindle City club, an organization composed of young athletes of West Centralville. The club, however, did not prove successful and then the owner, Jacques Boisvert, had two bowling alleys installed and he rigged the other part of the main floor with several pool and billiard tables, while the upper floor served as a skating rink. A few months ago another club, known as Club L'Assommoir, was organized and the entire building was leased, but for some reason or other the proposition of a club was abandoned.

The members of the Centralville Social club spoke on frequent occasions of either leasing or purchasing the property, but finally they decided otherwise and purchased a tract of land in Island street, where work on the construction of a new club house will be started soon.

Finally Mr. Boisvert decided to convert the building into a dwelling house and a few days ago plans were drawn for six apartments and several stores. The roof, which is a pitched one, will be lowered and made flat and the change will mean an expenditure of several thousand dollars. Mr. Boisvert is also building a four apartment house at the corner of Bolvert and West Sixth streets. Each tenement will contain six rooms; the building is being constructed of cement blocks.

Contractor Marion is changing over a cottage at 331 Central street into a two-apartment house, and the work is progressing rapidly.

The John H. Johnson Co., contractors are planning to erect a number of Mexican bungalows in the Oakland in the vicinity of Andover street and work will probably be started shortly. A Mrs. Desjardins is having a three apartment house erected in E. 11th street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with the latest improvements.

THE SATURDAY FEATURES

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM SPECIAL
WRITERS WILL BE OF INTEREST TO EVERYBODY

The special features contributed by Lady Lookabout, The Man in the Moon and Spelldancer for tomorrow's paper will be especially good. Lady Lookabout hits the women who are earnest and tells why Gorham street is sagging. She wonders why it didn't sag before. Her story will interest Commissioner Morse. The Man in the Moon would send shiftless husbands either to Mexico or to the gas box, and he has also a word to say in defense of janitors. The Spelldancer this week tells a few things about woman suffrage, the militants and the quiet American brand, dealing also with the anti-suffrage movement and to what extent the advanced feminist will usurp the callings and prerogatives of men.

TWO BROTHERS CHOKED TO DEATH

Lads Get Marbles in
Their Throats

Mother Removes Them
and Pulmotor is Used
in Vain

BOSTON, April 10.—A seemingly harmless game of marbles that the two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Russ of Swampscott began happily yesterday afternoon ended in a tragedy when each of the lads, in the absence of their mother swallowed a glass "marble" and choked to death before a physician could reach them.

The victims were five-year-old Verly and three-year-old Sherman. Three men with a pulmotor, summoned from Lynn, worked over them for three-quarters of an hour but could do nothing. In the opinion of the physician who was called the lads probably were dead when their mother, Mrs. Russ, rushed downstairs and found the boys prone on the floor, black in the face.

Soon after the mother went to her room the children's prattle ceased and after a short silence she heard strange sounds, half-gargling, half-choking. Mrs. Russ rushed downstairs and found both sons prone on the floor, black in the face.

She had the presence of mind to telephone for a doctor and then, pending his arrival, sought to assist her children herself. Though she got the marbles out without great difficulty, the boys did not stir or show any sign of life.

When the pulmotor was of no avail, Medical Examiner Joseph P. O'Shea was summoned, viewed the bodies and pronounced death due to asphyxiation.

Only two weeks ago the boys came near death when they swallowed some poisonous substance. Their recovery was due to the large amount they took, for most of it was thrown off. They had always shown in marked degree the childish propensity for swallowing anything and everything they could lay their hands on.

A CUPFUL OF HOT MILK

Not every one appreciates the value of hot milk. Many persons who cannot digest cold milk find that when it is heated and a pinch of salt added it agrees with them perfectly. Milk so hot that it must be sipped will often soothe the nerves of a person too tired and excited by the events of the day to sleep.

For a woman tired and hungry after shopping a cup of hot milk and a crisp cracker, a piece of toast or a graham cracker will supply the needed refreshment. A little flavoring is an acceptable addition, such as a pinch of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, vanilla or maple extract.

Then again hot milk is valuable for the toilet. It is good to apply to a burn. Should the skin be dry or chapped wash it night and morning with warm skimmed milk. This is far more healing than the average cosmetic. Milk has a way of softening and whitening dark complexions. It is beneficial for those who live in steam-heated rooms and might be used to advantage as a face lotion upon retiring.

TO VACCINATE NEW YORKERS

If a recommendation by Health Commissioner Goldwater is adopted, all unvaccinated persons in New York will have to bear their arms to vaccine points. A canvass was made recently of a cross section of the city and 12,437 persons were questioned. It was found that while about 96 per cent of these had been vaccinated, the average elapsed time since the last successful vaccination was 11 years. Vaccination does not protect beyond seven years.

In his report Dr. Goldwater said: "Infants and children under school age should be vaccinated in order to protect others as well as themselves. Of late years, owing to the comparative frequency of vaccination among children has become a disease of adults. We run the risk in New York City of an outbreak among children, a reversion to the condition of bygone years when they were the first and heaviest sufferers."

The report went on:

"Inspectors visited every home in typical city blocks. In many houses occupied by white and colored tenants, and blocks of high class apartment houses. By letters and inspectors they secured information was obtained from various large department stores, insurance companies and the three largest charitable organizations in the city. A vaccination census was also taken of the employees of the New York public library, the New York stock exchange and the bureau of infectious diseases."

The total result showed that 1 per cent had had smallpox, and that 3 per cent had never been vaccinated.

American and Federal Leagues Clash Over Signing of Hamilton

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—After the loss of Earl Hamilton to the Federals yesterday and the announcement that Clem Clements would go to Chicago today, where it is said he, too, will join the new league, the local American league club today began building intrenchments to protect itself from further onslaught by the Federals. The first and strongest defense the Browns president has thrown about his players, it became known today, was the elimination of the 10 day release notice from all 1914 contracts. This clause had given the club right to drop any player upon ten days' notice. The Federal league in its attempt to retain Hamilton, it is said, will argue the lack of mutuality in the ten day release clause.

Branch Riskey, manager of the St. Louis Americans, has held interviews with the players who were said to have visited Stovall during his stay here and he announced he did not believe another member of his team would go to the Federals. Stovall returned to Kansas City with Hamilton but C. C. Madison, president of the Kansas City Federal club, remained here to continue the overture to the major league players. In answer to the declaration of Robert L. Hedges, president of the local Americans, that the American league, the National commission and organized baseball in general would prevent Hamilton from playing with the Federals, Madison said:

"We have George Baumgardner and Gus Williams of the St. Louis Browns under ironclad contracts to play with the Kansas City Federal league team and other Browns have expressed a willingness to sign contracts with us."

"If the American league makes a step to prevent Earl Hamilton from playing with us we will not take steps to enforce our contracts with Baumgardner and Williams, but we will sign other Brown players."

10 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE

PHILIP NOVICK, I. W. W. LEADER IN NEW YORK, FOUND GUILTY OF DISTURBANCE

NEW YORK, April 10.—Ten days in the workhouse was the punishment given Philip Novick yesterday for his participation in the I. W. W. disturbances in Union square Saturday. The last to be tried of the 10 men arrested, Novick, the evidence tended to show, interfered with a policeman who was arresting Joseph P. O'Carroll, a young I. W. W. leader.

O'Carroll, clubbed by the police, it is charged, was freed by a magistrate and the alleged assault upon him is being investigated. Of the others arrested, Vincenzo Minella was sent to the workhouse for 15 days, Joseph Larcia was put under bonds to keep the peace and the rest were discharged or received suspended sentences.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain common liquid arsen from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

Greatest Jewish Festival of Year
Begins at Sunrise Today—How
it Will be Observed

The Jewish festival of the Passover, which marks the spring of the Israelite first born and the exodus of the Israelites from Old Egypt, will begin this evening and continue until a week from tomorrow. Every Jewish home in Lowell is being prepared to usher in the Passover the greatest feast of the entire year among orthodox Jews as one of the most joyous of holidays. The festival of the Passover is the oldest of the Hebrew calendar. For weeks great preparations have been going on, marked by unprecedented bustle on the part of the housewives and their servants in an effort to have everything thoroughly cleansed. New dishes and other utensils are brought into use. Those who do not buy new dishes, must renovate the old ones by a process known as "kashrit" which is spread of matzo, a shankbone of lamb, commemorative of the paschal sacrifice; a roasted egg, a mixture of apples, nuts and wine, to symbolize the mortar used by the Israelites in the construction of the storehouse of the Egyptians while they were in a state of slavery.

Upon the table is always placed some parsley greens, indicative of spring and the resurrection of nature. The services are interrupted for the family dinner and close with a number of merry folk songs, expressive of the character and nature of the observance.

Services during the eight-day festival will take place in the synagogues on Howard and McIntire streets while the observance will be celebrated in nearly all of the local Hebrew homes.

The Jewish name for the Passover is Pesach, and it falls on the first full moon of the spring, from the 14th to the 21st of the month of Nisan, or April.

After all the preliminaries have been attended to, the ceremony proper begins. The hands are washed and various blessings are recited appropriate to the occasion. The master of the house, breaking one of the three matzo in two pieces, and pointing to the roasted shank and egg, lying before him, recites in Chaldean: "Lo, this is the bread of affliction, which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt; let all those who are hungry enter, and eat thereof; and all who are in need, come, and celebrate the Passover."

The youngest member of the house then asks the classic four questions, and then the head of the family replies: "Because we were slaves unto Pharaoh in Egypt, and the eternal, our God, brought us forth from thence with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; and if the Most Holy had not brought forth our ancestors from Egypt, we, and our children, and our children's children would still continue to be slaves to the Pharaohs in Egypt."

As the story of the Exodus rolls on, each of the various dishes is taken in turn, and its significance explained in picturesque language. A portion of the Hallel is then recited, and the reply closes with a benediction, in which it is hoped that the holy temple will be rebuilt and the ancient rites and sacrifices restored. The hands are again washed, and after pronouncing grace over the matzo, the meal proper is served.

In the days of the Second Temple this festival was observed in a most elaborate manner. In the year 43, A. D., history says 2,000,000 Jews visited Jerusalem for the celebration of the Passover, and in the days of Nero at the Passover celebration 255,500 lambs were slain, also indicating an attendance of nearly 3,500,000 Jews. The city could not accommodate all those who came from far and near. Tents were accordingly thrown up outside of the city walls. The Roman authorities, fearing the spread of sedition during these times took extra precautions to prevent political disturbances.

The Passover celebration of the present time differs, of course, from that of 2000 years ago; yet it differs only insofar as the changed civil and economic conditions have had their effect upon Jewish life. The sacrifices are not made and the journey to Jerusalem is not undertaken for the temple

has been destroyed for many centuries. Nevertheless, apart from these features, the celebration by the orthodox does not differ materially from the Passover and it was celebrated by Christ and by the Jews before His day.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advises his Distinguished Specialist

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus interfering with the normal digestive action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary antacid taken in medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of blaud's magnesia, a simple antacid which can be taken at any time, and should always be kept handy.

THE BUSINESS LETTER

HOW TO WRITE IT SO AS TO HAVE THE DESIRED EFFECT—GOOD ONES BRING RESULTS

Well written letters bring business. Therefore, business men should give special attention to turning out such letters—letters that will attract and hold their readers' attention, get themselves read, convince and invite action.

Every important business letter is a proposition having these essential aspects: The need, the conditions and requirements of the proposition, and the cost and the specific ways and means that were adopted to satisfy the requirements. When these points are expressed, only an introduction and a conclusion are required to be added, giving the complete structure: 1. Introduction, 2. The need, 3. The conditions, 4. Conclusion.

In composing a letter, I concentrate under this plan by dealing with one of these steps or sections at a time, giving it my entire and exclusive attention. I take my mental stand first on the need and demand, and bring all my thinking force to bear to make a clear statement of some actual condition or requirement, then of another. Then, as they come on a slip of paper, a short sentence to each, sticking close to the particular point.

When I drop the need and start a fresh slip of paper with the need met, proceeding in the same way. The work done on this section also, I read the two sections of notes, making corrections, cutting out repetition, getting in afterthoughts; then I write an introduction and a conclusion if any are necessary.

Suppose it is a letter seeking employment as advertising manager. The need and the need met are your prospective employer's always. Get busy on the need.

Concentration brings to light first, let us say, the condition that the concern has a rapidly growing business. Put down the answer to that thought, perhaps in the words: "I take it that your advertising department is at a stage where it needs supervision," etc. Concentrate again and bring out another condition, that the advertising department is non-productive and its

Pinklets Really Do Correct Constipation

There are few persons who do not suffer more or less from constipation and because of the discomfort it causes and the ill-health that results from this condition everyone should know how to properly correct it.

Harsh purgatives, formerly much used, act violently and leave the constipation worse than before. Pinklets correct this unnatural and dangerous condition by gently assisting the sluggish bowels and helping to regain their normal activity. Their action is gentle, but effective and thorough, and they do not cause a single gripe. Unlike strong purgatives, Pinklets do not upset the stomach nor irritate and over-stimulate the bowels. Because they have none of these evil effects, they can be taken with entire safety until the constipation is corrected.

To properly regulate the bowels or to treat obstinate cases of constipation, Pinklets are the ideal laxative. They are safe for every member of the family to use. Any druggist can supply you at 25 cents per bottle. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a Pinklet book which tells all about the cause, symptoms and treatment of constipation and sick headache.

work is tentative and has to fight for recognition in the concern. Put down the answer to that point, perhaps saying: "The job of your advertising manager is to show results," etc. Are there any other conditions that come readily to mind? If not, concentrate on requirements.

The first that occurs perhaps is the need for a man to pitch right in and help to build up the work of the department until it matches good with the "powers that be" in the concern, and the question arises: What kind of man, with what experience and qualifications? Put down the answer. And so on.

Now for the need met. Concentrate to show what you, as an applicant for the place, can do to fill the requirements under the conditions as these have just been rehearsed by yourself. Mentally ask yourself questions, put down concise, single point answers. Your letter will be ready before you know it, and it will be effective.

Try this method. Compare with it the writing of a man. A strong man or a dozen strong men cannot push a nail into hardwood, but a child with a hammer can by a few strokes, each concentrating his puny strength into blif, bluf, bang on the nail head.

ARTIFICIAL MILK MADE

Synthetic milk, containing all things needed, even to bacillus bulgaricus, is the latest product of the laboratory. The discovery, which is expected to be of great interest to mothers, is a process of manufacturing a pure and wholesome milk of high nutritive value, possessing all the virtues of the natural product, none of its many dangers. It can be made up in any proportions desired; that is, with more or less casein, fat, sugar or salts, and thus can be supplied to children and invalids according to a medical prescription.

The discovery originated many years ago as the result of the ingenuity of a Chinese who saw a possible substitute for milk in the native drink prepared from the sorghum. His efforts, however, met with only partial success, owing to the fact that the fluid prepared by him had an exceedingly penetrating and—too western palates—disagreeable taste. It was left to a German chemist to lay the foundations of the present synthetic milk by suggesting a composite fluid made up of all the ingredients of cow's milk in correct proportion.

The fluid as far as its appearance is concerned is indistinguishable from rich cow's milk. It is delightfully smooth to the palate. On the other hand, the taste seems to some persons slightly different from that of ordinary milk. It is said that even this slight "taste" can be removed at will.

The advantages of the new milk are obvious. It is of course free from all suspicion of being contaminated with "milk borne" diseases, like tuberculosis, scarlet fever or diphtheria.

HOME FOR ARTISTS PLANNED

Florence Duse, the greatest actress in Italy, has contributed $2000 toward the foundation of an artists' home or club in Rome. Signora Duse says that Italian actors and actresses in Italy are relegated to a sort of ghetto, and it is high time that they should have a home of their own in which to meet and live with a library, a reading room, a lecture hall and other comforts. Very likely Signora Duse will give her villa in Rome for the artists' home, which she hopes to have inaugurated next May. A committee of the leading Italian actresses has already been appointed to make the necessary arrangements and collect funds toward the realization of this scheme, which is strongly advocated by the Women's national council.

Mascheroni and Puccini are simultaneously composing two new operas taken from Duse's novel, "The Two Little Wooden Shoes." It is not known whether the choice of the same subject was a mere coincidence or not, but it is certain that both composers are rich in their work with the object of producing their new operas, one before the other. Mascheroni says that he is well on and ahead of his rival and he hopes to get in first. In any case, he is quite prepared for a fight, meaning of course litigation.

Gabriele d'Annunzio has composed a scenario for a moving picture film. He admits that it is a "dilettante" and an "indefinite chance" for a poet like him to fall down so low, but as he has to earn money to "pay raw red flesh" for trading and exciting the courage of his greyhounds, naturally he decided to make the experiment and wrote a play entitled "Gabriola" which will shortly be produced.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Anti-Vaccination Bill Allowed by Senate — The Boston Elevated Condemned

BOSTON, April 10.—The state senate, by a vote of 25 to 9, yesterday

attended the public schools if their parents are opposed to vaccination. The bill was favorably reported by the committee on public health although the three physicians on that committee dissented.

Senator Clark of Brockton, one of these physicians and chairman of the committee, opposed the bill. He gave a brief history of the discovery and use of vaccine and of the smallpox epidemics which have ravaged the world in years past. He said this bill would tear down the barrier which for generations had held the terrible disease of smallpox in check.

Senator Norwood said the matter had been threshed out in the committee and that only the three doctors had dissented. He was sure he could give some terrible cases of those who had died because of vaccination. He hoped the bill would go through as reported by the committee and without amendment. Senator McCarthy favored the bill. He also said that lockjaw resulting from vaccination had caused many deaths.

Senator Bazeley said he thought this bill one of the most dangerous from the point of view of the public health that had been before the legislature. The thing to do, he said, is to stop the outbreak and not to wait till the epidemic is at our doors.

Senator Doyle of New Bedford said that vaccination alone had saved his city from a serious epidemic of smallpox. The amendment offered by Senator Mack was adopted, as was also an amendment proposed by Senator Norwood, that unvaccinated pupils may be excluded from the public schools when it is "deemed necessary" in case of smallpox epidemics. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

Boston Elevated

A bill to remove all elevated railway structures in Boston proper, Roxbury and Charlestown and providing subways instead was yesterday substituted by the Massachusetts house for an adverse committee report. The successful fight for the bill was led by Rep. Taggart of Charlestown.

In opening the debate, Mr. Taggart declared: "We were told in a public meeting in my district by the officials of the Elevated company that the road would be absolutely noiseless; that it would go through the back of the town and not hurt the property. The people of Charlestown get absolutely no benefit from the elevated road and it has demoralized the property we have bought with our life earnings."

"We are willing to pay back the money the company has invested in the elevated structure, but the Elevated continues to shake its finger in the faces of the people and refuses to do anything to remove this nuisance unless the people build subways and give the Elevated company the perpetual right of way. We have no right to give this company an eternal monopoly of the Boston subways."

The committee on metropolitan affairs has voted, 7 to 6, with two members not committed, to report the bill based upon petition of Robert Robinson of Boston, to amend the Boston city charter so as to provide a city council of 17 members elected by districts.

The social welfare committee resumed its hearings on the pension bills. Asst. Adj. Gen. Wilfred A. Wetherbee of the U. S. A. R. urging the bill, which provides that any Civil war veteran who has worked for the city for five years or more and who has become physically incapacitated shall be entitled to a pension.

Rep. Murphy

Rep. Murphy of Lowell spoke for the bill to pension Lowell laborers. Rep. Henry of Salem urged pensions for city and town laborers. Rep. Curley of Cambridge advocated a bill to prevent present city hall employees in Cambridge from being discharged. Rep. Casassa of Revere and John P. McDonald spoke for the matrons of the Boston House of Detention. Dr. Rufus W. Sprague asked for a pension. He has been examining physicians of the firemen for 21 years, devotes all his time to the work and is now too old to do the work. Mr. McDonald said he understood Mayor Curley was in favor of the bill.

Although a hearing was set for yesterday afternoon before the committee on taxation on taxing bachelors, no hearing was held and a postponement granted until April 16. About 46 were present including Mrs. Charlotte Smith and four or five other women, in favor, with several bachelor legislators to oppose it. The gallant Rep. John L. Donovan of Boston espoused the cause of the women, asserting that no gentleman could speak against the bill without having first given the women an opportunity to indorse it. None of the remonstrants appeared to have the courage to deny this, and the hearing was continued.

Public Health

A telegram was yesterday received by Gov. Walsh from Surg. Gen. Blue, U. S. N., stating that he had detailed Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr to consult with the governor and the legislative committee on public health regarding pending health legislation in Massachusetts. It was in response to the request made by the committee that he obtain experts to aid in forming a plan for the reorganization of the state board of health.

Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr has made special studies of organization, powers and duties of state and local health authorities.

The annual communion service was held last evening in the First Congregational church with a large number of people present. Rev. A. H. Dunne, preached a sermon on the topic "In Remembrance of Me."

LODGE ON TOLLS REVISION

In speaking on the tolls question before the senate yesterday Sen. Lodge made not only the greatest speech heard in congress during the controversy but one of the greatest speeches of his career as statesman and student of international affairs. It is in the main a calm and dispassionate statement of facts, revealing the distinguished senator's knowledge of international law and treaty rights, but there are times when it momentarily abandons the facts involved and rises true with declarations of principles that should actuate every patriotic American in putting aside political differences, personal dislikes and party affiliations in a sincere effort to help his president and his government to solve questions in which are involved so many serious international complications.

Up to the present the opposing parties in the Panama tolls matter either took the view that this country has the right to exempt its own ships from paying tolls, or has not the right, under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and they supported the president or opposed him accordingly. Senator Lodge takes the view that this country has the right to exempt its own vessels, even in the strict interpretation of the terms of the treaty, but he goes farther than anyone who has hitherto spoken on the matter by declaring that to exempt our ships merely because we are strong enough to interpret the treaty any way we choose is a great economic and political mistake. He, therefore, throws his immense influence on the side of President Wilson, declaring that his early politics ends "at the water's edge" and he advocates the policy advanced by the more sincere leaders in congress, viz.: that government aid be given to our domestic shipping if it be found desirable, by some method that will achieve the same end without arousing the animosity of any foreign power.

Mr. Lodge in his introduction wisely dwelt on the historical facts leading up to the disputed treaty, thus applying to its terms the interpretation of the period rather than the interpretation of the present. After introducing many state arguments and acknowledging that the language of the treaty is too vague to admit of a positive reading of its intent, he finally says: "I am of opinion that under the terms of the treaty we have a legal right to exempt our own vessels no matter what trade they are engaged in." He also said that in his opinion the "all nations" of the treaty does not include America, though this he calls "a fairly arguable point." To support his theory he advanced the fact that of the six rules of the treaty, the other five do not in anything apply to the United States, and sums up this view as follows: "It seems to me difficult as a general proposition to argue that five of these six rules adopted by the United States for the use of the canal should not apply to the United States and that one and one only should so apply."

"At this point, however," continued Mr. Lodge, "I part company with those who insist that because we have the right to refuse to collect tolls from or to exempt our own vessels from the payment of tolls, we, therefore, should exercise that right. . . . In this case, it appears to me that it would be most unwise to exercise the right of exempting our own vessels from tolls simply because we have the right to do so." He gives as the first reason for this view the honest difference of opinion that exists as to the aims of the treaty, and the fact that England is supported by the opinion of the world. "With such a division of opinion among ourselves," he said, "I am not willing to expose the United States to the imputation of bad faith among all other nations by insisting on deciding a doubtful point, upon which we ourselves are not agreed, in our own favor simply because we have the power to do so." The second reason he gives is that the same end could be achieved by another and less offensive method. "If the American ships pay the tolls," he explained, "and the United States hands back the amount of the tolls, no one denies that this procedure is wholly legitimate under the provisions of the treaty." He went on to explain that this method is pursued by all nations which use the Suez canal, and he condemned those who urge the retention of the clause with the avowed intention of throwing defiance at other countries.

The most delicate part of Senator Lodge's address and that which reflects most credit on his broadness of view and his diplomacy in international affairs was the clause in which he urged the support of the administration, on the ground that the foreign policy of this country would be confused by retaining the offensive clause. He showed how other nations would hesitate before entering into treaties with a country whose international reputation for honor is not high, and he also pointed out the industrial need for cultivating feelings of good will with other nations, particularly with South America. In no uncertain terms he also scored the insincere elements in and out of congress who would make of the tolls controversy a political machine, and in conclusion he launched forth in laudation of the great Panama canal enterprise and voiced the hope that no action of the American government should cloud its benefits in the opinion of all the nations of the earth. Surely those who heard the speech and those who read it will view with disdainful resentment the effort being made in other quarters to throw discredit on the president in his high purpose of establishing the reputation of this country for international probity with all the nations of the world.

MUST MEET COMPETITION

There was a time when this part of the country assumed industrial superiority as a matter of course; industries and manufactures were few and New England had almost a monopoly. The feeling of security engendered by this state of affairs is still alive in all our important centres but it is becoming more and more apparent daily that if this part of the country is to keep the industrial lead or even keep up to its present standard, there must be more individual effort and more community effort of the type advocated by the principal speakers at the prosperity conference called by Governor Walsh recently. The slogan must be "Lowell for Lowell and for New England," and all who have political, financial or moral influence must become imbued with this enthusiastic spirit if Lowell and New England are to be what we would wish them to be.

The south and the west are competing with us daily, and many of their leading cities are adopting methods of booming their advantages that would put us to shame. A Lyon paper noted an instance in point. Circulars are flooding the mails emanating from Chattanooga stating that the chamber of commerce of that city will give $100 to any individual who will give information that will eventually lead to a new industry in the southern city. It is only the keenest type of competition that gives rise to movements of this nature and to ignore such enthusiasm or its fruits is to be guilty of civic folly. Circulars such as that mentioned—and they are but one form of advertising activity—go all over the country and create a favorable impression for the enterprising city which sent them broadcast.

In New England, or in Massachusetts, to be more specific, while a few cities are forging ahead with "great strides," the great majority of industrial centres are standing still or making only enough effort to keep them from positive retrogression. Yet during this time the western cities are doubling their population and their area within ten or twenty years, and they are never finished in their campaigns for industrial and commercial supremacy. Occasionally we hear of spasmodic efforts being made to get a remedial spirit aroused in this section but what we need most is a calm, cool, persevering effort at civic booming which shall include the needs of all New England as well as the specific needs of each community. We must not be too selfish in our efforts at up-building, for when we lead a helping hand to a neighboring community we encourage others to do likewise to us. It will be a grave mistake if the seed sown by the prosperity conference will be allowed to fall on stony ground, for there is evident need for the work mapped out and while we are neglecting it the west and south are pushing such activity to the limit.

Massachusetts especially needs the cultivation of the energetic boom spirit, because we have some natural, political and economic disadvantages which other states do not bear in the same degree. We are far from raw material; we have long freight lines; taxation is not equitable or calculated to aid our industrial centres; labor is insistent and legislation occasionally blooms out in something which imposes a check on industrial expansion. When Canada and other parts of this country offer more favorable conditions, or conditions that seem more favorable there is every incentive for our thoughtful public men to organize for the betterment of New England as a whole and each of its component centres in particular.

TREATY WITH COLOMBIA

An international agreement that both directly and indirectly affects the Panama canal tolls controversy is the treaty with Colombia which has been successfully negotiated by the administration after years of animosity and disaffection in the southern republic. Coming at the same time as the commendations of Senator Lodge regarding the necessity for cultivating the good will of foreign countries, this treaty is peculiarly gratifying, but it is still more acceptable as the fighting of an evident wrong, for though expediency may have justified the taking of Panama by this country, through the instrumentality of Roosevelt, it has never been denied that the isthmus was taken merely because we wanted it, and until now no reparation has been made. It is to be hoped that the financial consideration will heal the wounds made on little Colombia's dignity as well as the more specific but less important financial damage.

No country, no matter how great or how powerful, can afford to have an international reputation for dishonorable dealings, and this fact becomes more apparent yearly, for just as popular opinion is becoming stronger the world over, under all forms of government, so is it becoming more evident that national greed and intrigue cannot be hidden successfully under the robes of suave diplomacy. The standard that governs individuals is held to govern nations, and America has not been held blameless by the world generally in its dealings with Colombia. The little republic which believed itself wrapped protected vigorously but, being only a little republic, without much apparent effect, yet the Colombian affair did the reputation of America for fair dealing incalculable damage, and hurt trade and trade opportunities not only in Latin America but throughout the world.

If by the payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia and by the other concessions the southern republic becomes reconciled to the United States a great step will have been made in the creation of the spirit which President Wilson, Senator Weeks, Senator Lodge, Secretary Redfield and other eminent statesmen point out as necessary for the furthering of American foreign trade, and what is still more important, removing a great stain from the shield of this country. If this is followed—as there is every hope—by the revision of the tolls provision to which England objects, the present administration may well claim to have again restored the reputation of this country for honorable dealings with every nation of the earth. The government has at last realized the fact, apparently that to exercise a right merely because we are strong enough to do so is not always good policy. This great and prosperous country cannot afford to be unfair or unjust to any nation on earth, whether it be a great nation like England or an unimportant one like Colombia.

VETERANS ON WAR

When in the past this country went to war, the loudest shouters did not make the best fighters, and at the present time a great many who would not be called upon to serve in Mexico are urging a war that would mean the death of thousands of our best young men. Those who have fought are surely qualified to judge of what war entails and, therefore, it is significant that when the policy of President Wilson towards Mexico was praised a few days ago at the Boston gathering of the G. A. R., the speaker was roundly cheered. To advocate war is one thing and to take part in it is another, and those who have borne the brunt of battle are usually loudest in praise of peace.

Seen and Heard

The more we see of April the more sorry are we for the mean things we said about March.

In Germany the newspapers play April fool jokes on the people. In Berlin a week ago a crowd gathered in a square at midday, expecting to see an aviator who had been announced to fly upside down, and later in the day many people collected at the zoological gardens to see a chimpanzee perform the lunge.

About all of the "beach combers" know that gulls are fond of sea clams and can tell of clam feasts of the birds, but the champion yarn along that line comes from Chatham, where it is told that a couple of clambers left seven bushels of the big bivalves on the shore for a little time and when they returned they found the gulls, which had discovered the feast, had eaten all of the clams and were ready for more.

The horse cars are to disappear from the streets of Cambridge, Eng., and motor bus service is to be instituted in their place. During the last weeks of the horse car service each car bore a placard urging mothers to take their children for a ride before it was too late, and before such a remarkable present experience and such a fruitful reminiscence for the future should be snatched from them forever. Spring practice is as important for fly-swatters as it is for those who go to the southern training fields in the hope of improving their hitting average. And one good swat now is worth 100, thereabouts, later in the season. Not only is it good to get the muscles limbered up for the outdoor season, but the results are better. Scientific fly-swatters tell us that a fly is capable of depositing 150 eggs at a time and producing five or six batches in a season. Grammar school arithmeticians can figure out the advantage of swatting the fly at the first peep of spring.

Preventive medicine is engaging the attention of some of our most useful citizens. Preventive fly-swatting may be practiced by anyone. No preliminary practice or scientific knowledge is required. School children, instead of being urged to bring in the earliest flowers that bloom, might well be encouraged to compete for the fly-swatter championship of the school. It is not only necessary to swat the fly but to swat him early and often.—Boston Traveller.

Cape Cod has been made envious by the laurels of the land of Lovaldsch Chok that Pennsylvania residents who roam the world over this incomparable and perfect stanza:
"But Stonestown is lovely;
There's where you can have the fun;
The girls don't whistle, the boys don't smoke,
And the big men seldom drink rum."

The Register of Yarmouth, once famous for fish and salt shreds, now given over to the fish and salt shreds, has a large class of fishermen, and one of them is perhaps first in war poetry as the Stonestown slogger is first in peace poetry. Ponder these mighty and resonant lines on "The Fate of Mexico":

"Vill's gun
Has popped the bun.
The Federals are strong to the trees.
The final blow
In Mexico
Has sent the foe like bees.
"Run and today,
The uniforms sandy
Have bedraggled with the dust,
Today looks bright,
But tomorrow it's light
In the din of the battle's lust."

Gen. Sherman forgot in his definition of war his heroic inspirations, its walk-out of the heavenly muses.—New York Sun.

Fair: are the flowers and the children, but their subtle suggestion is fairer.
Rare is the rosebud of dawn, but the secret that clings it is rarer; Sweet the exultance of song, but the strata that precedes it is sweeter. And never was poem yet writ, but the meaning outmastered the meter.

Never a daisy that grows but a mystery golden the growing;
Never a river that flows, but a majesty seepers the flowing;
Never a Shakespeare that soared, but a stranger than he did enfold him,
Nor ever a prophet foretells, but a mightier seer-bath foretold him.

Back of the canvas that throbs the painter is hinted and hidden;
Into the statue that breathes the soul of the sculptor is hidden;
Under the joy that is felt he that infinite issues of feeling;
Crowning the glory revealed is the story that crowns the revealing.

Great are the symbols of being, but that which is symbolized is greater.
Vast the create and beheld, but vaster the inward creator;
Back of the sound broods the silence, back of the gift stands the giving;
Back of the hand that receives thrills the sensitive nerves of receiving.

Space is as nothing to spirit, the deed is outdone by the doing;
The heart of the wooer is warm, but warmer the heart of the wooed;
And up from the pits where these shiver and up from the heights where those shine,
Two voices and shadows swim, stardust and the essence of life is divine.

BIG TEXTILE SHOW

TO OPEN APRIL 27—NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR BIG EXHIBITION AT BOSTON

About everything new and old in use for economical production of cloth from cotton and wool will be displayed in Mechanics building, Boston, during the week of April 27-May 2, when the fourth national textile exhibition will be held. It will be "Textile week" in Boston, for thousands of experts in the industry will be in the hub to attend the many conventions of associations within the industry that are to be held in connection with the exhibition which is to be the largest ever held in America.

To the layman who is interested in things mechanical, the coming textile exhibition will be nothing short of phenomenal for many of these wonderful improvements in textile machinery and with most of these in operation the textile show ought to be the most interesting show in Boston for many years. The coming show will occupy 125,000 square feet of space, and will be five times larger than any previous show of its kind in the United States. Several hundred textile experts will come from Norfolk, Va. This party will be made up of members of the southern textile associations which party will hold its convention in Boston during the exhibition. The National Association of Woolen and Worsted Overseers; the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers; the Southern Textile club of New England will also hold their conventions during "Textile Week."

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion. Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is impossible to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative, an often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative—tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University Mound, addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Discussed at Board of Trade Meeting—Must Have Cleaner Streets

There was a conference in the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon and it had to do with the cleaning of Lowell's streets, yards and alleys. The conference was attended by Mayor Murphy, City Engineer Kearney, Supt. Keenan of the park department, Chief Saunders of the fire department and Supt. Welch of the police department.

Chief Saunders told of the work being done by the fire department relative to the inspection of dangerous alleys and congested blocks with the idea of obliging tenants and abutters to keep passageways free from accumulation of rubbish. He said that the children were responsible for a great deal of the rubbish in the street and the rag or junk men are a close second. He said that the junk man would dive down into a barrel on the sidewalk or in an alley and scatter paper to the four winds.

Supt. Welch called attention to the fact that there is a law against throwing rubbish of any description into the streets, and he believed that it would be a good idea to make an example of some of those who are in the habit of throwing rubbish into the street.

It was suggested, however, that before proceeding to the rigid enforcement of the ordinance that calls for the removal of some kind be placed at convenient points for the deposit of such refuse.

Mayor Murphy told of one piece of corporation property that had been cleaned three times in one week by the board of health and yet remained filthy. It is understood that the ordinance relative to public ways would not cover alleys on private land.

The mayor suggested that perhaps it would be well on account of so much paper falling from ash tins that the ash men be instructed to remove nothing but ashes. He believed there were concerns that would be glad to remove the papers.

The matter of clean streets and alleys was discussed pro and con and the mayor will shortly call upon the citizens for a general clean-up day as a result of yesterday's conference with the board of trade.

HEARS FROM JUNGLE

AMERICAN MUSEUM GETS WORD FROM CONGO EXPEDITION—500 SPINNERS

From the heart of the jungle of Central Africa word has been received by the American Museum of Natural History from James Chapin, one of the leaders of the Lang-Chapin Congo expedition, which has penetrated the interior of African wilds in the interest of the museum and in cooperation with the Belgian government, says the New York Sun.

The Congo expedition started for the jungle in May, 1909, and during its work of exploration thousands of specimens have been collected for the museum, including examples of the white and black rhino, elephants, the kudu and baboons. The letter from Mr. Chapin to Dr. Frederic A. Lucas, director of the museum, is dated Avakubi, Jan. 12, 1914, and says in part:

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to inform you that the task of transporting to Stanleyville the collections deposited at Avakubi has been completed and that fifty loads as well as those from Midele have likewise been forwarded to Stanleyville, where all our caravans are reported to have arrived without the slightest mishap."

The state officials have always greatly assisted us in the most cordial manner and the work has progressed steadily and successfully.

"Up to the present time 537 porters have been sent off as well as two large canoes. The contents of which would represent loads for at least 150 men, by way of the Aruwit river."

"Both of us, I am happy to add, are enjoying excellent health, and we look forward with pleasure to the accomplishment of the work of transportation from Midele and our return to Stanleyville."

The Congo expedition has been unanimously successful in its work among the Mangbetu. The Mangbetu is very ancient and it is said to have been founded several hundred years ago by Hamite wanderers from the Nile. Ok-onto, the present king, has extended great favors to the museum's expedition and has arranged many dances and sham battles for its study. He also gave the members of the expedition permission to take photographs of the king's village of 100 huts, each with its paintings and carvings, and also of his three queens, in whose royal dress figure rare ornate belts and numerous ornaments.

The expedition has also visited Dongu, Farang and Aha, travelling with a caravan of 150 men, which gives an idea of the size of the collections. In a former report it was stated that the collections numbered approximately about 300 specimens.

J. E. Anthony, who has been conducting an expedition for the American Museum through Gatin lake and the Panama canal zone and who accompanied former Congressman George Shiras on his houseboat in that region, returned yesterday with a collection of 125 specimens of mammals for the museum's collections. The specimens are considered valuable for scientific study and are mostly new to the museum.

DIAMOND NOTES

Local fans who expect to see fireworks the minute Manager Fred McMahon strikes town next week will probably be disappointed. Red is an unusually gentlemanly fellow but he has enough red blood not to stand anything but a square deal.—Lowiston Journal.

"Chubby" Carroll of the Worcester club evidently has a pretty lofty conception of his value to the Busters. According to the Lacrosse Burketts, "he wants the park" before he will sign up for the season. As Jesse has need of the park for a location for the home games, "Chubby" will have to take his pay in some other form. That form declares Burketts, will be the same salary that was paid him last year, and not a cent more.

league was after Pitcher Emerson "Studs" Watkins, who has been signed by Manager Duffy of the Portland club. Watkins has had a successful career as a twirler in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania for several seasons. He is 21, and weighs 155 pounds. He is a left-handed deliverer.

Binghamton was put on the map by Eddie Henderson, he of the strong arm and silent tongue. From Binghamton Edward wended his way Lowellward.

Fred Lake, in a little speech to the Fitchburg Trade and Merchants' association, Wednesday night, urged the members to give their support to his New England league team this season. Trust Freddy for being there with the smooth talk. He probably talked them all into buying season tickets.

Jake Pfeiffer says he is going to make things fly around Pawtucket this season and that any team that wins the pennant from his entry will know that they have been in a pennant struggle. Jake always was a fighter and it's a good bet he keeps pretty close to the top.

Hugh Duffy says he keeps hearing good things about Dowell, the outfielder he has secured from the South-eastern association and he expects this newcomer will fill the vacancy left by Joe Burns much better than he had thought possible.

Mr. Frank Chance of the New York Highlanders refused yesterday to discuss his probable pitching selection for the opening game with the Athletics. He admitted, however, that he had been captivated by the work of Keating in Saturday's game. It would not be surprising if the youngster who proved the only winning pitcher a year ago were honored with the first assignment.

"No one has to tell you what I think of Ed Walsh," said the leader of the New Yorks. "I ought to appreciate his value. I saw him enough in the world's series of 1906 and later in the city championships we played with the White Sox out in Chicago.

But just listen to this. Walsh never in his life had such a fine spiritual as Keating showed Saturday. You should have heard Sweeney growling. Why, Ed's hand was puffed up from catching it. There is no reason why Keating should not be a second Walsh if he behaves himself. He certainly has the physique."

Ira Thomas, captain of the Athletics, has wired Jack Coombs to come north from Palestine, Tex., and assist in the coaching of the pitchers. Thomas had a chat with Coombs' doctor on Saturday. He learned that Coombs was recovering rapidly. Ira immediately asked if Coombs could take part in the coaching. When informed that it really would benefit the Iron man he had Joe Ohl, Mack's private secretary, notify Coombs that he was needed at Sabie park.

The baseball public is beginning to clamor for the Federal league schedule, but the outlaw magnates are acting with the same sagacity. In regard to the schedule, as they have employed in certain other matters. To draw up the best possible schedule is a matter which requires a great deal of time and much consideration.

President James H. O'Rourke of the Eastern association said recently that he had not heard anything from the league directors who are said to be desiring a meeting in which to repeal the provision for 20 extra Sunday games, made at the last meeting. It is reported in Springfield that four of the directors have decided to ask for the meeting, but as yet Mr. O'Rourke has received no request from them.—Bridgport Post.

Joe Burns, the outfielder whom Providence bought from Hugh Duffy's Portlanders, has not been delivering the goods. In Manager "Wild Bill" Donovan's opinion, in the spring training, and will be disposed of shortly. Burns was sold to Portland by Jimmy Gray.

Bill Rose, who finished the 1913 season with the Worcester team after having been shown the gate by Hugh Duffy, is still filling the role of a balking mule, not having signed his name to a

Burkett contract. Business in Worcester is going on as usual despite Bill's holdout and Burkett is continuing his plans for opening the season.

HAD JUST BOUGHT STICK OF CANDY—MOTORMAN ARRESTED

BOSTON, April 10.—After spending twenty minutes in a neighborhood near, Middlesex street, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kennedy of 3 Dunn court, Dorchester, was knocked down and fatally injured by an inbound Quincy car as she was crossing Dorchester avenue near her home about 6 o'clock last night. The little girl died on the way to the City hospital.

Chapman Dunlap, motorman on the car, was taken to Station 11, Fields street, where he was charged with manslaughter. Frank J. Wilkins, superintendent of Division 3 of the Elevated, furnished bail for his release. The amount of the bail was not stated. The little girl was given a penny while playing about her home by a neighbor and she at once hastened to a candy store at 1152 Dorchester avenue. With a stick of candy in her hand she began to retrace her steps, and ran in front of the big electric car.

The car was backed up and the body of the little girl taken from the forward trucks. She died on the way to the hospital, where it was stated that death was due to a compound fracture of the skull.

GUESTS OF MOTHERS

The Lowell Rescue League were the invited guests of the Maternal circle of the Trinitarian Congregational church in Sutton street, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. F. A. Flaherty.

The program consisted of solos by Miss Lena Bowen and an address, "Advice to Mothers," by Mrs. E. E. Beebe of Lynn. Her remarks were of a most helpful nature and pointed out the duty which mothers owed to their children in training of the sons of the day. Mrs. Beebe was followed by Miss Emily Skilton who lately recounted the need of vital rescue work in this city.

Reports were rendered which showed that the membership of the league had made a material gain in the point of numbers. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Maternal circle.

CLAIM RAILROADS UNDERPAID

The railroad companies of the United States claim that data compiled by the post office department, properly interpreted, shows the railways to be underpaid by $29,000,000 annually for carrying the mails.

This statement is made in a pamphlet issued by the committee on railway mail pay, representing 264 railroads handling mails on 218,000 miles of line, through its chairman, Mr. Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad company.

The railroads point out that whereas post office revenues increased over $63,000,000 from 1907 to 1912, the railway mail pay in that time actually decreased over $300,000—before the parcel post was established.

The pamphlet also directs attention to the fact that the post office department estimates a further increased annual revenue of about $60,000,000 on account of the parcel post, and in spite of this, no practical action has as yet been taken adequately to compensate the railroads for carrying the increased burden.

POWDERY SCAB DISEASE

A NEW AND DANGEROUS POTATO DISEASE—METHODS FOR THE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Powdery scab of the potato is a European disease which, doubtless, has been introduced into this country by the quarantine law went into effect. Every possible effort is being made by the U. S. Dept. of agriculture to prevent this disease making inroads on our potato industry, and the cooperation of all interested in this crop is being urged in dealing with this new potato malady. The department is issuing a bulletin (No. 82) entitled "Powdery Scab of Potatoes," which thoroughly explains the disease and gives all the practical advice available at the present regarding its control.

Powdery scab does not attack the portion of the potato vines above the ground. It is primarily a disease of the young tubers, which develops as they mature in the ground. The disease is apparent by small, slightly raised, irregular and a slight discoloration of the surface. When cut open, the infected areas appear faintly purplish and extend from approximately the outermost cells of the tuber toward the deeper layers.

The "powdery scab" fungus, if conditions are favorable, may eat large cavities into the immature potatoes. Besides consuming parts of the tubers it stunts their further growth and causes them to be deformed.

Last spring the department imported 15 varieties of potatoes from Scotland for seed purposes. All were found to be infected with powdery scab and had to be condemned. Nine varieties were imported from England for similar purposes and were all infected in the same manner. The disease has been found on potatoes from Belgium, Norway and Sweden. On the potato's native birthplace—South America—the disease has been found. It was reported in several provinces of Canada in 1913.

From Canada the disease has made some headway across the border into northern Maine. This is the one place where there is real danger at present from the infection, but active measures are being taken to drive out the disease and to prevent the shipment of diseased potatoes to other sections.

The seriousness of powdery scab may be realized from the following statement by a conservative Canadian scientist:

"The disease should by no means be regarded lightly. Scab attacks occur when potatoes are planted year after year on infected land. Where this is practiced the result will be potatoes hardly superior in quality to those badly affected with the canker. This fact is worthy of notice, especially since, in the case of canker, no preventive measures have proved of much value."

Object to "Scabby" Potatoes

Any kind of scab or other injury that marks or deforms the potato tuber is a more serious handicap in the American markets than those of some European countries, due to the fact that consumers abroad offer fewer objections to scabby potatoes than consumers in the United States. There is even a belief prevalent abroad that scabbiness is an indication of superior quality. In the United States, when potatoes are put on the market, scabby potatoes must be sorted out, and therefore are of no use except for stock feed or the manufacture of starch. In Maine the price of scabby potatoes in the autumn of 1913 was 50 cents per barrel, while clean stock brought $1.50 per barrel.

In the country as a whole, hundreds of thousands of bushels of potatoes are left in the fields because they are too scabby to market. There are frequent instances in the New York markets, according to potato dealers, where carload consignments are rejected because of the presence of numerous scabby potatoes. When the soil becomes infested with scab its value as potato land materially depreciates. This is especially true in sections where potatoes constitute the chief crop.

In addition to the fact that potatoes affected with powdery scab are probably less acceptable to the American than to the European consumer, there is also the probability that American varieties of potatoes may prove more susceptible than the European. Introduced parasites are often more destructive in a new environment than in an old one. The varied climatic and soil conditions of several of our states offer a wider range for the new potato malady. The brief experience with this disease in Eastern Canada gives no hint of what its behavior might be in the southern trucking districts, the central west or the irrigated sections of the United States. Related potato diseases have proven more destructive in the western than in eastern potato territory.

Particular importance also attaches to the fact that Maine is the one state most seriously menaced. Maine is the chief source of seed potatoes for the Central Atlantic and southern states, and adjoins that portion of Canada where the powdery scab is now most serious. If Maine potatoes should become generally affected, only the most extraordinary efforts can check the spread of powdery scab to nearly every other state.

As yet no method of controlling this disease, when it once gets in the soil, has been found. The new bulletin of the department relates the results of certain experiments which are interesting, but they are of such a preliminary nature that further study will be required before they can be recommended. The best advice that can be given a farmer whose fields have produced a crop infected with powdery scab is this: Don't grow potatoes for several years on a piece of land that has produced a crop infected with this disease.

It is not yet known how many years the fungus may live in the soil, but its nature suggests that it can probably live for several years.

Sacks and Barrels Spread It

It is well known that second hand sacks, barrels, and boxes are often used in marketing potatoes. Seed potatoes shipped from the northern states to be grown in the south are put up either in sacks or barrels. European potatoes coming to this country are shipped in 168-pound gunny sacks. In some of the western states similar sacks, but holding 120 to 150 pounds, are used. These sacks cost from 12 to 15 cents each, depending upon their quality and whether they are new or secondhand. Sacks of good quality can be used many times, and this has come to be common practice. In both New York and Boston

VIRTUES OF A NAME

"What's in a name?"
With scores of clever young women who are engaged in quaintly named enterprises in any large city will tell you that there is a great deal in a name. They have proved that there is charm and drawing power and very, very good business in it.
In fact, in a good many of the attractive lines of business which women have chosen for themselves nowadays the name is the thing, and a little shop which otherwise might be passed by almost unnoticed will have a hollow glory in its threshold if it has a unique name, a catchy, ringing sign and an individuality of its own.
A rose by any other name might perhaps smell as sweet, but a millinery shop dubbed simply "Jones Hats," would never look half as inviting to the majority of woman-kind as "The Bull Baubles," near by. And what woman with an ounce of imagination would lunch at a commonplace, uninteresting "Smith's Restaurant," when she could refresh herself "At the Sign of the Old Iron Kettle," say—a shadowy little place with gay flower boxes on the sill?
Wouldn't you yourself prefer to buy your gifts at a tiny shop where everything you got was marked with a little green paper announcing that it came from "The Treasure Chest," and aren't you always convinced against your better judgment that milk coming from the Pink Clover farms must be better than any other milk?

New York probably has more odd little shops and artistic handcraft studios than any other place in the world, and there isn't any doubt that a good share of their allurements is due to the novel and pretty names that have been chosen for them. Women are at the head of many of these attractive establishments, and these women have learned that when the glamour of imagination is added to the plain matter of buying and selling the result is apt to be doubled and tripled business. They know, too, that in no way is the imagination appealed to more quickly than by a name indicative of a charming interior.
Most of the eating places that are oddly and prettily named are the ones that cater to that vast class, the shopping woman. The best of good is always to be had—that goes without saying; but the real magnet that draws hordes of women to the tiny tables scattered in candle-shaded corners or in the open court at the rear is the name and the charming atmosphere lent by an open fireplace, oddly decorated china, or a collection of antiques on the softly colored walls, and mostly it's the name that brings in the patronage.
Many of the little novelty shops in New York have begun to adopt enticing names, with prompt results in adding ed prestige and dollars. If you are here woman, you can't help wanting to see the hats to be had at "The Little Bonnet Shop," and "The Millinery Shop" has a comfortable, every-day sort of air—like the sewing room upstairs, you know—that sounds like a haven of refuge to the woman who has to have something done to every garment she owns.

The little touch of imagination and sentiment with which women are investing their business ventures is making it much more attractive to other women to enter commercial life. The pretty name and the refined, artistic setting make it seem almost more like entertaining than like commerce, yet these very features bring a pleasant fringe of dollars to the dainty table which serves instead of a cash register, and the pleasant play which such surroundings make of a business transaction is a delight both to the business woman and to the shopper.
Ask the successful woman who has invested her commercial work with poetry and imagination, and she will tell you that there's everything in a name.

SCHOOL BOYS IN THE SHOPS
Real industrial training that prepares for real jobs is described in a bulletin on the co-operative plan at Fitchburg, Mass., issued by the United States bureau of education. Boys in the Fitchburg high school, who attend alternate weeks in school and shop, are made to feel that their vocational training is serious business. Here are some of the directions given to each "co-op" student when he starts as an apprentice:
"Remember that the object of work is production. Your foreman measures you by the quantity and quality of your work. Social position does not enter. In the shop you are not a high school boy, you are an apprentice. Wear clothes accordingly. If you get the mistaken idea that any work given you is beneath the dignity of a high school boy, just remember you are an apprentice and get 100 per cent busy."
"It is your business to get along smoothly with the workmen and foreman; and theirs to get along with you."
"Do not expect any personal attention from the superintendent. He will probably ignore you entirely, but he knows whether or not you are making good, and in most cases, his idea of you depends upon your ability to please your foreman. Don't be a kicker and don't continually bother your foreman for higher wages."
"Never try to conceal defective work. Take your full measure of blame, and do not make the same mistake twice."
"Watch in a quiet way, what things are being done around you, and don't be afraid to ask sensible questions. A good rule is to think over a question twice before asking. A reputation for having 'horse sense' means that you are making good."

"Foremen and workmen will take pleasure in showing you. If you show yourself genuinely appreciative of little attentions. If they tell you something you already know, don't spoil their pleasure by telling them you already know it, but let it be impressed on your mind all the deeper; for the conversation may lead to something which is entirely new to you."
"The fool act of one co-op hurts every co-op. See that your actions in and out of the shop do not bring discredit on the Co-op course."

Representatives of the United States bureau of education and others who have observed the work say that the spirit of these directions is carried out everywhere in the Fitchburg plan. Vocational training of the Fitchburg type is an opportunity for worth-while work, not an easy way of dodging the grind of academic studies.

THE REJECTED STORY

Magnate Readers Should Be Specialists in the "True Sense and Well Compensated."

Doubtless unknown merit will be heartened and some magazine pundits annoyed by Mr. Henry Snyder Harrison's direct testimony to the editors, which is always on the trial docket but will never reach the court of last appeal, says the New York Sun. Mr. Harrison's evidence is given in the April number of the Atlantic Monthly and he calls his statement "Adventures with the Editors." He deposes that in December, 1910, he had the good fortune to have two book manuscripts accepted for publication; one of them being the story "Queed."

While waiting for royalties Mr. Harrison wrote several short stories, 11 altogether, and put them in circulation among the magazines, only to learn that there was but a limited market for his wares. "Speaking in the large," he says, "I could not sell my stories; few seemed to find them meritorious at all," although there was said to be "a short story famine in the land." Five days after "Queed" came out a New York editor wrote a complimentary letter to the author and craved the pleasure of publishing some of his short stories. This editor had rejected five of Mr. Harrison's manuscripts within a brief period and was politely reminded of it. But business being business, the editor, putting the blame upon his (anonymous) assistants, asked to see the stories again. The author concluded that he would not share the fruits of his success with one who had seen no merit in his work, a most valiant resolution.

To another editor who in the remote past had accepted and published a story of the now successful author three time-worn manuscripts were sent upon request. One of them this editor had rejected the year before, but after publishing it he wrote that all the stories printed by him had been "tremendously successful." The author asked the editor about the phenomenon, and for once got an honest confession.

"I think I can tell you why editors so frequently reject the earlier and often the best work of writers; it is because any new writer who sends in first class work sends in work that is very different from what editors are used to. That is reason Kipling's work was rejected by the — when he brought his great body of books from India."

Not regarding himself as a genius, Mr. Harrison did not lay this flattering tribute to his soul, but he thought the statement might explain why editors were often cold to the unconventional story. A third member of the guild having written to the rising author to express pleasure and envy upon reading some of his stories in a rival magazine was also put on the witness stand. Why had he rejected three of the stories that now excited his enthusiasm? Thus cornered, this editor marshalled these reasons for rejection with which contributors are so familiar, but also spoke of "the lack of judgment of our readers." The fact was, however, he had signed the rejection slip with his own initials.

It seems to be Mr. Harrison's opinion that "the tradition of chief editorial infallibility" is a hollow pretension and he thinks there is warrant for the conclusion that "the editor sometimes lacks the reasonable faculty of discrimination." That is to say that the magazine editor is human; never more so than in trying to keep up appearances. It may also be honestly debated whether in periods of gift in magazine offices the manuscripts of the obscure are conscientiously read, if read at all. Mr. Harrison makes one excellent suggestion, for other businesses the buyer is generally a competent and well paid employer. Why, he asks, should readers for magazines not be specialists in the true sense and well compensated? We fancy that genius would be discovered oftener and that greater profit would accrue to the magazine enterprise enough to require discriminating judgment in its sub-editors.

Co-operation

Every person who reads the following paragraph and gives it a moment's consideration will, I think, accept it as true:

Our operators are desirous of giving good service and are anxious to avoid errors. Error calls simply make additional work for them; therefore, every instinct of self-interest suggests that they answer calls promptly and correctly.

Mistakes occasionally will occur, some unquestionably resulting from operating errors, others from the calling of wrong numbers by subscribers. Not infrequently some defect in the delicate equipment of the central office is found to be responsible for a fault which the subscriber attributes to the operator.

It is our duty and our desire to strengthen these weak points in our service, whether the weakness be human or mechanical, and we can do it if subscribers do not wait until criticisms become complaints.

May I suggest this form of co-operation:

If there are slow answers, or if there is doubt of the accuracy of "wrong number," "line busy," or "don't answer" reports, I recommend that the chief operator be called at once. She is directly in charge of the operating room and responsible for the discipline. Therefore service criticisms should be discussed with her rather than with the regular operator whose obligation of service to other subscribers forbids the consideration of matters outside the regular routine of handling calls made by number.

If the trouble is persistent, I want to hear of it and I will be especially grateful to those whose criticisms give dates and facts upon which to base a definite inquiry.

WELFARE OF THE CHILD

Important Questions to be Discussed at Third International Congress April 22-27

"Are the fundamentals in education taught as thoroughly today as they were in the old-time school?"

"Are pupils developing the power of concentration today as fully as they did in the schools of our forefathers?"

"Are present-day schools preparing children for life as fully as did the schools of a quarter of a century ago?"

These three questions of the highest concern to every parent and teacher, not only in the United States but in the whole civilized world, are set for discussion and authoritative answer at the forthcoming Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child, to be held under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in Washington, April 22-27.

SLEEPY DROWSY DAYS

can be avoided by renewing the blood with the nourishing food- tonic, Scott's Emulsion, it overcomes that tiredness and languor of balmy Spring days and it strengthens the whole system. Every druggist has it. Shun substitutes.

The particular discussion, of which the three questions form the subject, is to be led by Dr. M. V. O'Shea, professor of psychology in the University of Wisconsin, who is chairman of the national department of education of the National Congress of Mothers, Dr. G. Stanley Hall, of Worcester, Mass., and Dr. Helen C. Putnam, of Providence, R. I., are among others expected to participate in the discussion, which has been arranged for Saturday evening, April 25.

Dr. O'Shea is making careful preparation for this feature of the congress program. It is stated at the Washington headquarters, and is selecting as participants those whose opinions will have the weight of authority based upon wide study, observation, and experience. The discussion is thus assured of being one of the most valuable contributions of present times toward a solution of the problems involved.

Following this symposium on present-day educational methods and tendencies, Dr. O'Shea is also planning for another, entitled "New times bring new problems in child training." This discussion, like the first, will attempt to throw light upon the following important questions:

"Can the individual home train its children effectively with regard to social, ethical, and moral problems in contemporary urban life?"

"Is it feasible and desirable for communities to act as a unit in determining the conduct of the young in present-day life?"

"Will a school as a social center

Make it "Yellowstone" this Summer. Why Not?

If you have never been there go this summer. If you have—I don't need to urge you to go again—you will want to go.

You can talk about your trips to Europe, but that is in the past. Now, as a result of your travels, you have a new interest. Just imagine falls nearly twice as high as Niagara—then a 1700 foot chasm with sides a riot of color that rivals the glory of the rainbow. You'll never cease to wonder at "Old Faithful" Geyser—the magnificent mirrored lakes; and on every hand scenery that defies description. You will surely delight in the stage coach navigation, reminding you of the frontier days. And then I would like to tell you about the attractive and comfortable hotels.

Leave it to me and I'll plan every part of the trip—there and back—and take the details of preparation and starting of your baggage. It's a part of the service of the road. The Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. R.) I shall appreciate if you will stop in at the office and get our fold-out map of Yellowstone Park with a splendid map in colors and full description.

solve the problem of the social, ethical and moral training of the young in present-day American life?

These three questions, vitally touching the relation of the parent to the training of the child, are also designed to focus attention of parents and teachers upon new problems that are the product of modern civilization. The tendency of parents to shift the responsibility for the entire training of children to the schools, community action, as expressed in juvenile courts and otherwise, in determining youthful conduct, and the value of the modern use of schools for social center purposes are to be fully considered in this supplementary discussion.

The whole program, extending for a week, is rich in contributions to child welfare, and is expected to be one of the most important international gatherings ever held in Washington or in the United States.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff, of Philadelphia, an official of the United States bureau of education, is president of the national congress under the auspices of which the Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child is to be held. Its officers, councilors, and managers comprise many of the leading educators and philanthropists in the United States.

NEW REAL ESTATE OFFICE

EDWARD F. SLATTERY, JR. HAS OPENED QUARTERS IN THE NEW SUN BUILDING

One of the latest tenants in the new Sun building is Edward F. Slattery, Jr., son of Edward F. Slattery, probation officer, who will engage in the real estate business. Mr. Slattery, Jr. is a very popular young man. After graduating with honors from the High School he secured a position in the office of Abel R. Campbell, and for three years has shown remarkable talent in the real estate business. He entered as clerk and desk man with Mr. Campbell, and after that experience went out as field man and learned the methods of buying and selling property. Having acquired knowledge of these important branches of the business he decided to embark in business. He engaged quarters in The Sun building, Room 94, on the 9th floor, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and customers. Mr. Slattery is a very talented young man with many friends and has contributed his talents to many of the local musical and literary entertainments showing natural gifts in that direction. While at High School he was a member of the dramatic club in which he always made a decided hit. He is one of the most prominent members of the Knights of Columbus and St. Matthew Temperance Institute. He is possessed of hustling qualities that never fail to bring success, and in this chosen field of efforts his friends believe that he will meet with success. His business consists of real estate, insurance and that of a notary public. Anybody who in his respective lines desires to transact business will find him always ready, willing and anxious to attend to their wants.

HAMILTON MILL FIRE

DANGEROUS BLAZE KEPT IN CONTROL BY AUTOMATIC SPRINKLERS—FIRE DEPT. CALLED

An alarm from box 28 at 5:34 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to the Hamilton Mfg. Co., in Jackson street, where a slight blaze was in progress, and when the firefighters arrived on the scene the blaze had been extinguished by the automatic sprinklers.

The fire started in one of the machines in the picket room, which is located on the top floor of a four-story building. The flames quickly spread to the walls, but before any serious damage was caused the automatic sprinklers got going and the fire was quickly extinguished. In the meantime someone rang in an alarm and the department quickly responded, and remained on the premises about half an hour, after which the all-out signal was sounded. The damages, which were slight, were caused mainly by water.

BALSAM OF PERU

Said to be Valuable in the Treatment of Tuberculosis

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Naturally one would expect Balsam of Peru to come from Peru—but it does not. It is like the American Indians that didn't come from India and the Panama hats that came from Ecuador, or Avocado Vespaucel—it is a case of misnomer. Peruvian balsam comes from Salavador, and the little Central American republic has something of a corner on the market for it seems to be the only country able to produce this valuable pharmaceutical resin in commercial quantities.

"Balsam of Salavador (or Peru, as it is known in the Pharmacopoeia) is a viscous grayish red, semi-fluid mass, of pleasant odor not unlike vanilla, and bitter, burning taste," writes Albert Hale in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union. "It is not very stable when exposed to air and must therefore be kept for many kinds of ointments, salves, pomades and local applications.

DO NOT SCOLD THE CHILDREN

Nervous mothers, worried from morning till night by the care of children and the duties of the household; nervous children worn out by over-study, unable to sit still or stand still or to keep their minds concentrated on anything long, both need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Try a short treatment with these strengthening pills and watch the color return to pale cheeks and lips, see how the worn nerves recover their poise, note how much less irritating the children become and how much less scolding they need. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to nervous people everywhere, men as well as women, because they build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They lighten the cares of life because they give you new strength to meet them.

Nervousness in children should be corrected at once as it is but a short step to St. Vitus' dance. Give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up their blood and they will become sturdy, pink-cheeked and rugged.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in the house. Your own druggist can supply you. Write now to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders."

narrow lace put on plain make a smart looking, inexpensive set. Buffet and serving table scarfs are also made to match.

For dresser covers in summer bedrooms, boudoir pillows and placemats no prettier material could be chosen than this fabric. Some hostesses provide the guest room with pretty night-gown cases to rest against the pillow, and for these envelope affairs nothing is more suitable than this flax, lined with a soft satin in a pale shade and finished with a cluster of satin ribbon roses fastened to the flap.

When serving on the veranda the tea-cosy is indispensable. Fascinating essays can be made of the allover flax net. Little pasteboard cases to place over cake or sandwiches to protect them from flies may be covered with the lace.

OPERA HOUSE

Following the customary rule, the Opera House will be closed today to the pictures, but tomorrow, Saturday, the second installment of the series story "Zingo" will have a hearing. Last Saturday night this idea in pictures packed the theatre, and it is safe to say this second edition will do the same. The story of the second part shows "Zingo" in a new light. He has numerous episodes as in the first part, but evades capture by his quick wittedness and the help of a friend who has fallen in love with him. During the battle in the clouds several types of balloons are seen fighting as they would be expected to when war broke out with the nations. The story is a very interesting one, and it is in any way interested in pictures. They are considered in a class by themselves and are not to be compared with the General Film company.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The seat sale for J. Hartley's "Manners" comedy of youth, "Peg O' My Heart," will commence tomorrow at 9 a. m. for the forthcoming engagement at the Opera House, Wednesday evening, April 15. The mail orders for seats have been heavy for this attraction and it is not to be wondered at when the managing director, Oliver Morosco, comes out with the announcement that "Peg O' My Heart," which is now in its second year at the Cort Theatre, New York, will undoubtedly continue through two solid years of uninterrupted run, which will be the longest engagement on record for a comedy in this country.

B. E. KEITH'S THEATRE

For downright funny comedy, played in an unusual vein, there is nothing better than "A Dramatic Cartoon," which Norton and Nicholson present at the B. E. Keith's theatre. This week the whole situation is out of the ordinary, and the character sketches introduced by Miss Norton and Mr. Nicholson are of the "different" kind. No story is told in the sketch. It just shows a condition wherein a bride and groom of three weeks run into many difficulties in their restricted quarters in New York. They work in a department store and have a hard time making both ends meet. Miss Norton, Grace and Herron offer a snappy character comedy, in which two vaudeville actresses show their troubles. Gierro and Gierro, instrumentalists, in a unique manner the better known grand opera airs, and Knyce & Dunn have a very pretty singing and whistling act. Robins' elephants run through a lot of difficult stunts, to the great delight of children, and Webb & Burns offer an Italian singing and comedy act. Nat Adine, clown, opens the bill, and the Pathe Weekly pictures close it. Phone 28.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Miss Gladys Matern, the new leading lady who is to appear with the Merrimack Square theatre players in their opening spring engagement next week, commencing Monday afternoon, will be a young woman of unusual ability. She was engaged at one time with Louis Mann in the place, "The Man Who Stood Still," and at other times appeared with Amelia Blinman and other stars. She just closed a long and successful engagement at Schenectady, N. Y. The other new members of the company are all females and well known in theatrical circles. "The Man on the Box," which is to be the opening attraction, is one of the best comedies of seasons. In it Walter Scott Weeks is sure to appear to great advantage. Be sure and be with the "first nighters" on Monday, when a grand welcome will be given all of the old favorites at the theatre. Only a few more opportunities remain to witness that marvelous photo-drama, "Traffic in Souls."

THE OWL THEATRE

Another big attraction has been booked for Friday and Saturday at the Owl. It is a five-part production entitled, "From Gutter to Footlights." Many dramatic situations are to be seen in this massive production, and it will surely afford a few thrills to the onlookers. The other five reels on the program include the "Pathe Weekly," "The Mutual Girl," a Keystone comedy and others. Coming for the first four days of next week, films of Mine, Sarah Bernhardt and Mme. Reliance plays with themselves in the leading parts, will be shown. A big treat is also being prepared for the Sunday patrons.

THE KASINO

You won't forget the date—Monday, April 13. Naturally, you are interested in the inauguration of the dancing season, and of course you want to know—if you do not know already—where dancing is to be enjoyed under conditions altogether wholesome. The mere dancing motion means nothing. It is the contest for a better pleasure, you might as well remain at home. First of all you must have a hall properly ventilated, otherwise the exercise of dancing is distinctly detrimental. Then you must dance upon surface absolutely smooth. Who wants to hop over hurdles every other step? Then, of course, the music is a big factor. The thrill of dancing—its very life—depends upon melody, and the least discord is instantly reflected to the dancing atmosphere. The Kasino offers you every condition to dance in absolute comfort and with positively beneficial results.

INVESTIGATE DEMANDS

EASTERN RAILROADS FORM BUREAU TO COLLECT DATA AS TO WAGES AND CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, April 10.—As a result of the negotiations over the demands of their engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, the eastern railroads have decided to form a bureau to take up the work hitherto done by the managers' conference committee. The bureau will collect data as to wages and working conditions.

The secretary of the new bureau will be J. J. Wolter, assistant to the fair vice-president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The new bureau was to have opened April 1, but has been delayed by Mr. Wolter's work as one of the arbitrators having complaints of misapplication of the award of the arbitration board.

It was not decided whether the managers conference committee which was appointed two years ago would be abolished.

TO ATTEMPT COME BACK

NEW YORK, April 10.—Charles E. Sands of the New York Racquet and Tennis club tomorrow will attempt to recover the national amateur court tennis championship title he lost to Jay Gould eight years ago. Sands yesterday defeated Charles Russell of Boston in the final round of the national court tennis tournament.

Sands, who is 49 years old, has in this tournament defeated players his junior by 20 years.

WATSON'S HAT IN RING

BOSTON CITY COUNCILLOR ANNOUNCES HE WILL GIVE CONG. PETERS BATTLE IN 14TH DIST.

BOSTON, April 10.—City Councillor J. A. "Jerry" Watson has officially cast his sombrero into the congressional ring in the 14th district.

Yesterday he announced that he will give Congressman Peters a battle for re-election, and that he will begin his fight at once.

His open letter to the voters of the 14th district is as follows: To the Voters of the 14th congressional District: Gentlemen: After thoughtful consideration, and at the suggestion of a number of my personal and political friends, I have decided to seek the democratic congressional nomination from this district. In order to wage a winning contest, and as I am without any great financial means, and as I am not seeking financial aid from the public service corporations, I must start my campaign early. Consequently I beg to inform you at this time of my candidacy, and respectfully request you to give it such attention as you deem worthy. Sincerely,

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Important reforms in the methods of pleading, procedure and practice in federal courts are proposed in the Clayton bill reported to the house by the committee on the judiciary, of which Congressman Clayton is chairman. This bill will unquestionably be enacted at this session, as the sentiment in its favor is overwhelming. It has been approved by President Wilson, Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, Ex-President Taft, Attorney General McReynolds, Senator Root, the American Bar association, the bar associations of forty states and many commercial organizations. The Clayton bill provides that the supreme court of the United States shall have power to prescribe the forms and manner of service of writs and other processes, the mode and manner of transacting and filing proceedings and pleadings and to regulate generally and prescribe rules and forms for the entire pleading, practice and procedure to be used in all proceedings at law of whatever nature by the district courts of the United States. In reporting the Clayton bill from the judiciary committee Representative Webb of North Carolina, who drew the report, said: "The committee in favorably reporting this bill does so only after painstaking research and inquiry, aided by experienced lawyers in active practice, law teachers and authors. It is keenly conscious of the difficulty and gravity of the subject, the previous inability of the lawyers to agree on the form that the practice should take, the organized struggle of the last five years in procedural reform, the present urgent public demand for it made known by thousands of communications and the imperative necessity of a speedy, complete and fundamental reorganization of the entire pleading, procedure and practice in vogue in the inferior federal courts. The committee believes the bill makes possible the complete solution of a problem in a manner surprisingly in accord with both professional and lay sentiment. This has been effected by the character of the program embraced in the bill; that made it possible for lawyers, entertained wholly divergent views to accept it. Provision is made for these views to be discussed before and settled by the supreme court, to which plan there is no dissent. The bill deals only with one great principle, leaving all details to the supreme court, which is its feature of merit."

Charles D. Slattery

The new manager of the Men's Clothing Department says: "Last Saturday's rush beat anything I ever saw in the clothing business, but I can see the reason; those Hart, Schaffner and Marx Clothes are the best I ever saw." Mr. Slattery asks all his friends to come in and see him, knowing he can please them with the best clothes in Lowell and he can please them with quality and price—Last Saturday he held a reception all day at the

EXCUSE ME

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" to last moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to last hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men, Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

county should be nominated through a legalized direct primary. "That the stockman is a worse enemy to the forests of North Carolina than the lumberman; "That the town of — should establish a tax-supported library; "That it is expedient for county to increase the salaries of its public school teachers at least 25 per cent; "That the farmers of — should form a co-operative marketing association."

These are only illustrative of a wide range of subjects. The manual points out that "public discussion in North Carolina during the past decade has undergone a most desirable change. Emphasis hitherto placed largely on things political and national, is being placed on questions affecting the every-day life of North Carolina. To make this change even more far-reaching, every North Carolina community should resolve itself into a community club and devote itself seriously to the quiet, persistent study of its economic, social, educational, and religious problems.

"The plan of organization and the method of procedure in such clubs should be simpler than that of the school societies. Their object should be open, frank, earnest discussion. The building up of a strong, constructive, community spirit, and community interest should be a second object.

Of such discussions, characterized by such a spirit, will inevitably come the solution of problems upon which the welfare of the community absolutely depends. "If a place of meeting is the only obstacle in the way of the formation of such a club, the local schoolhouse can well be used for this purpose. It ought to be widely used and made the real social center of the community."

THE RUINED CHIMU CAPITAL

Chan-Chan, the ruined old capital of the Chimu, is not in China, notwithstanding that the name might suggest such a location to the uninitiated. If the Chimu ever lived in Oriental lands our archaeologists have failed to discover the fact. They were Americans, just as were the Incas, whose traditions traced back an unbroken line of kings for a thousand years before the Spanish conquest, and whose civilization is so much better known to us; and once upon a time these same Chimu were formidable rivals in all the arts of war and peace, of the Incas. They dwelt along the shores of

CIVIC EDUCATION

University of North Carolina Stimulates Interest in Problems

The arousing of a state-wide civic consciousness and civic interest among young and old by means of discussion of live questions of local concern in the schoolhouse and at the country cross-roads is the underlying of the university of North Carolina. The university stands on the doctrine of Wendell Phillips that "agitation is education. Agitation is marshalling the conscience of a nation to mold its laws." This is the attitude taken by Arthur W. Dunn, U. S. Bureau of Education.

With a record of emphasis upon debate from its founding in 1795, the university has gone about to systematize and universalize discussion of every conceivable question of vital local interest, not only by the youth of the state in the high schools, but by adult organizations of farmers, of women, or of any other available group.

For some years graduates of the university have established debating clubs in the schools where they have gone to teach, members of the faculty have answered communications, and materials have been sent to all parts of the state from the university library and the state library commission. Recently a high-school debating union was organized, including more than one hundred schools, to conduct state-wide debating contests.

As a part of its extensive plans in this direction, the extension bureau of the university has just issued a manual on Public Discussion and Debate "to stimulate discussion of public questions chiefly by high-school students, but also by community clubs and public organizations." This manual suggests a large number of questions of immediate interest in North Carolina. A considerable number of the questions are analyzed, arguments pro and con being given. References are given to easily available material, much of which may be obtained by application to the university, to the library commission, or to public offices. In addition to this, instructions are given as to how to organize for such discussions and how to conduct them.

While some of the questions suggested for discussion are of national significance, the chief value of the work of the university lies in the way it focuses attention upon real problems of immediate local concern. For example, it is "Resolved,

"That — county should provide a medical inspector of schools; "That all county officers in

Peru, as did the Incas on the high Andes, and like the Carthaginians of old, were a seafaring people.

"Mystery abounds in pre-Columbian America," writes Walter Verner in the March issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, "and the farther modern research penetrates into the ancient civilizations of Mexico, Central America, and the west coast of South America, the more the mystery of their origin seems to deepen. Among the problems presented to archaeology and anthropology none, perhaps, is more fascinating than that of the Chimu people of Peru. What we read of these dwellers of the north coast of the land made famous by the Incas is contained in casual references by the early Spanish chroniclers; what we see of their civilization consists of stupendous ruins near the modern town of Trujillo."

The Incas, so tradition says, came from the south to settle the region once occupied by an ancient race of cyclopean builders. The Chimu of the coast are said to have come from the north on a flotilla of rafts, and savants are not agreed as to the time of their invasion. Some think there is evidence of two earlier civilizations; others that everything points to a relatively short occupancy of the valleys, extending over only a few centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. Racially the Chimu, in common with nearly all the Pacific coast peoples of South America north of Chile, present the characteristics and among a large portion of the ancient and modern inhabitants of Central America and Yucatan utterly distinct from the highland type of the Inca Conquerors.

Be that as it may, there are remarkable evidences of the advanced civilization of this extinct race. The irrigation works, aqueducts, reservoirs, and canals whose ruins may still be seen make it certain that the engineering skill of the Chimu was of the very highest order. The water was brought down from the Mochi river, which was tapped at a considerable distance from the city. The aqueduct is 60 feet high and from the top of the ridge overlooking the city one can trace the plan by which the water was distributed down the slope over the city and the surrounding land. Everywhere are canals and reservoirs irrigating fields and gardens, protected by a great wall which ran for miles on the island side of the city. A study of these canals suggests a differentiation in irrigating land for cotton and corn cultivation. The long-staple cotton of Peru was extensively cultivated even in this remote period, and finely woven cloth, dyed in gorgeous colors, was worn by the wealthy Chimu.

In the art of pottery they were in advance of even the Incas, for of all the remarkable work in clay that has been excavated in Peru none can compare in skillful workmanship with that found in Chan-Chan. Some of these earthen vessels, representing human figures, heads and groups, were portraits of contemporaneous persons, and the observer is struck with the forcefulness with which the varied expressions of the face are depicted. It is from relics such as these that we get our knowledge of the intellectual, moral and religious life of these ancient Chimu, whose only living traces may be found in the language, the Muclha, still spoken in the port of Iton, Peru, and the neighboring territory. The empire was conquered by the Incas some 150 years before Pizarro arrived upon the scene—and as a race they have vanished from the face of the earth, having been scattered and finally absorbed by the conquerors.

Walsh Bill Which Provides for Prior Right by Government to Purchase Lands Discussed

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The battle precipitated by Secretary Lane of the interior department to safeguard the radium ore-bearing public lands of the United States reached the open in congress for the first time today when the Walsh bill as amended by the senate mines committee was called up for consideration. Chairman Walsh of the mines committee obtained on Wednesday the unanimous consent of the senate to take up the bill today, asserting that the matter was urgent as every month saw hundreds of claims located in the radium fields of Colorado and Utah over which the government would never be able to exercise the rights conferred by the bill. As amended, the Walsh bill provides for a prior right of purchase by the government on all radium ores taken from lands located after the passage of the act. It also provides for a government-owned and operated plant for the reduction of radium ores and the manufacture of the various radium salts employed in the treatment of cancer and other diseases. The bureau of mines it was stated at the committee hearings already has perfected a process of extraction and is prepared to begin radium making.

EFFORT TO RECOMMEND NOMINATION OF ROOSEVELT RULED OUT BY MAINE REPUBLICANS

AUGUSTA, Me., April 10.—An effort to have the republican state convention yesterday recommend the nomination of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate for president in 1916 met with failure.

A resolution, proposed by the Yarmouth republican caucus, was introduced as an amendment to the platform and ruled out of order.

The resolutions adopted by the republican national committee last December, fixing the basis of representation in the next national convention, were approved without objection. Maine is the first state to take action.

Tribute to Mrs. Stevens

The convention paused in its deliberations to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, the dead temperance leader, and the first woman to be honored by the placing of the state flag at half staff.

A resolution was adopted by a rising vote, the delegates standing with uncovered heads.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted without debate, except on the question of mileage books. An amendment to declare for a law to prevent the railroads of Maine charging a greater sum than two cents a mile was defeated.

The convention referred the question to the public utilities commission.

The platform condemned the national democratic administration for its "barbaric surrender to Great Britain" for its "violation of national pledges" and for its "vague vacillating policy in dealing with conditions in Mexico."

National prohibition was favored and any proposal to resubmit the Maine prohibitory liquor law was opposed.

The Underwood tariff law is believed to be "unjustly sectional, and a menace to our industries," and the party's belief in protective tariff was reaffirmed.

PATROLMEN ON TRIAL

ARREST OF REPRESENTATIVE P. JOSEPH McMANUS NOT FORGOTTEN, AS MANY SUPPOSED

BOSTON, April 10.—It became known yesterday for the first time that Patrolmen Herbert W. Andrews and Timothy J. Kelley, both of Division 2, Court square, were on trial before a board of police captains on a charge of false arrest preferred by Representative P. Joseph McManus of ward 19.

The two policemen arrested Mr. McManus on an electric car in Adams square the night of Dec. 13, charging him with intoxication.

In the municipal court the next day Judge Murray discharged Mr. McManus and told Patrolman Andrews that he must have lost his head in making the arrest.

Representative McManus and several friends had come from a dance in Charlestown, and were waiting in Adams square for a car, when one of them said, "boy cops" that did not make a pleasant impression on the two policemen against whom charges are now made.

After the men got on their car the patrolmen boarded the car and arrested Representative McManus.

It is said that during the months since the affair happened Representative McManus has received a number of anonymous threatening letters signed ostensibly by "friends of policemen." It was supposed, however, that the case was practically forgotten.

TO RETURN BATTLEFLAG

SELMA, Ala., April 10.—The battleflag of the 76th Ohio regiment, captured by General William Hardee's corps of the confederate army, will be returned to Ohio representatives at the reunion in Jacksonville, Fla., in May. The flag will be accepted by Governor Cox of Ohio.

VIOLATE ORDINANCES

Night Lunch Carts on Private Land in Haverhill Come Under Fire Regulations—Must Be Moved

HAVERHILL, April 10.—Six night lunch carts who operate carts on private property were notified yesterday by the police that their wagons were being maintained in violation of the city ordinances and must be moved.

The order was issued to the police by Alderman Bartlett, after he had received a ruling from the city solicitor that the carts were wooden structures and violated the ordinances forbidding such structures in the first fire district, which includes the retail business section.

Restaurant men have for several years protested against the increasing number of night lunch carts. In the last three years six have been placed on private property of the main streets. They are connected with the sewers and piped for water and gas. They are held to be permanent buildings.

The night lunch cart men say they will not give up their places and business without a contest. The new order does not affect carts that have permits to locate nightly on the public streets.

STRIKERS RETURNED

LAWRENCE, April 10.—Agents H. A. S. Read of the Plymouth mill said yesterday that a compromise had been effected with the 45 girls who went out on strike Monday and that all were back at work. The majority returned and the remaining three or four, he said, were expected to begin this afternoon.

EXAMS FOR CADETSHIPS

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Captain Berthel, commandant of the revenue cutter service, today announced that examinations for cadet and engineer cadetships in the service will be held on the five days beginning June 1. Men between the ages of 18 and 21 are eligible for cadetship in the line and those between 20 and 25 for the engineer branch. The examinations will be conducted in large cities throughout the country by officers of the service. Successful candidates will be appointed cadets and after three years' probation will be commissioned in the service.

SHOT THROUGH HEART PROTECT ENGAGED GIRL NOTE MAY SAVE GUNMEN

ARGUMENT OVER WOMAN SUFFRAGE THE CAUSE OF MURDER IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 10.—As the result of a shooting, which was caused by an argument over woman suffrage, a well-dressed man, believed to be William Woods of San Francisco, is dead, and James Franche, alias "Duffy the Goat," is being sought by the police on a murder charge. A young woman is also wanted in connection with the murder.

The shooting took place Wednesday night in a cafe in what was formerly the segregated district. Woods, Franche and the woman were said to have been drinking together in the cafe when argument over equal suffrage arose.

The Californian contended that women had the right to vote. According to the story told the police, Franche took exception to the westerner's remarks and shot him through the heart.

ART OF SHOEING HORSE

WILL BE TAUGHT IN PURDUE UNIVERSITY IN MASTER HORSE-SHOERS HAVE THEIR WAY

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 10.—The art of shoeing a horse will be taught at Purdue university if the Master Horsehoers of Indiana have their way. At the annual convention which was concluded here today, a resolution was adopted that the curriculum of the university should be reduced.

"DIVORCE COURT" CONVENED

CLEVELAND, April 10.—The first "divorce court" in Ohio was convened here today with Common Pleas Judge Neff presiding. The court will attend solely to cases involving marital difficulties.

The institutions of the court followed the decision of the judges of the common pleas court that the handling of divorces needs reformation and that the number of such cases should be reduced.

DR. YARROS URGES CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH FOR MEN ABOUT TO MARRY

BOSTON, April 10.—"We should protect those about to marry by requiring a certificate issued by a qualified board of health, specially appointed, was the kernel of Dr. Rachelle Yarros' lecture to women at the women's municipal league, 6 Marlboro street yesterday afternoon.

Her topic was "Some Aspects of the Social Hygiene Movement."

Dr. Yarros is chairman of the social hygiene committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and is lecturing under the auspices of the American Medical association, public health education committee.

"We would all prefer," said she, "that parents take this responsibility of ascertaining the fitness of the prospective husband of their daughter, but unfortunately such responsibility will be neglected while the knowledge of certain facts is yet insufficiently known to the general public. Consequently the burden falls on the state. We must have laws passed by the legislature substantially like those of California and Indiana, which require a clean bill of health. The campaign which would be required to pass such laws would in itself be of inestimable value."

"The state already interferes with marriage by making certain requirements. It seems perfectly reasonable to me that if such a law were passed a larger number of men would take steps to make themselves fit for marriage."

NOISELESS SAFEROBBERS

ANOTHER BREAK REPORTED AT BOSTON—HOWLING ALLEY OFFICE WRECKED

BOSTON, April 10.—Safe robbers operating without explosives continued their successful campaign in this city today at a howling alley office on Summer street, where several hundred dollars was obtained by effective but noiseless work. Several other safes have been cracked by similar means during the past three weeks.

FRIENDS OF MEN SENTENCED TO DIE BASE HOPES ON NOTE WRITTEN TO SULZER

NEW YORK, April 10.—The friends of the four gunmen sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing Monday for the murder of the gambler Herman Rosenthal, today based the hopes for a reprieve for the condemned men on the alleged "evidence" discovered by E. B. Browne, a former Jewish clergyman, which he was supposed to present to a supreme court justice together with an application for a new trial.

This evidence—a note or memorandum—Mr. Browne submitted to Gov. Glynn at Albany yesterday. Its authorship was admitted by Frank Moss, until recently assistant to Dist. Atty. Charles S. Whitman, who prosecutes the gunmen. It read:

"Be careful of anything from Luba and Margolis." It was sent to former Gov. Sulzer, who at the time was preparing for his trial for impeachment when it was reported that Luba and Margolis were to be employed to seek evidence in behalf of Sulzer. Luba was a witness against Becker and the gunmen, and Margolis against Becker. This note, Rabit Browne believes, discredits Luba and Margolis on authority of the district attorney's office.

C. F. Wabbe, counsel for the gunmen, today prepared to make his last appeal to the governor for a stay of execution until after the Becker trial. He based his arguments on the significance of ten of the jurors who tried the gunmen to an appeal for executive clemency and also on the fact that the court of appeals had discredited the testimony of Luba.

GATES ESTATE TAX

Minnesota Receives $24,538, the Heir Having Agreed That Home Was Not in Texas

ST. PAUL, April 10.—The state of Minnesota yesterday received $24,538 as the inheritance tax on the estate of the late Charles G. Gates of Minneapolis. Payment was made by counsel for the widow, Mrs. Florence Hopwood Gates. It read:

Agreement to pay the tax without content was made two months ago by the heirs. It was contended at first that Gates' home was in Texas.

Athletes and Athletics

The American league is up in arms over the jumping of St. Louis' left-hander, Hamilton. Ban Johnson says that the southpaw will be forced to don a St. Louis uniform if it empties the exchange of the league. Organized ball is making a great howl about the manner in which they are being used but does not seem to realize that they were the first to perpetrate the baseball outrages, so-called. It is all right, if organized balls puts something over on the Feds, but if the outlaws retaliate there is nothing too bad for them.

A party of Lowell fans with Jack Donnelly at their head will be present at Tuesday's Red Sox opening with the Senators. Manager Gray has been at the first home game of the Boston Americans in years past but does not feel that he can leave his squad or vacate this year. It's a different proposition than last season. With anyone of a half dozen veterans to leave in charge of the squad Jimmy could take a day off but nothing doing on vacations this season.

Speaking about baseball superstition and the manner in which the players themselves act brings us back to "Shorty" Dee. "Shorty" sent up word to Jack Kelly, who will be associated with John Call this year in the secretaryship of the local club, to reserve Daly's locker for him. "Tommy went up and is going to stay with the big show," wrote the insider from Lynn. "and I want his locker," meaning by all this, of course, that with Daly's locker his chances of traveling in the ex-Lowell catcher's footsteps would be greatly enhanced.

Thirteen players will report to Fred Lange on next Monday morning and some of them are well known along the circuit. Kilhullen, King, Collins, Sager, Cook, Little, all except the first named being pitchers; Kane, first base, Sweet, second base, Donegan, shortstop; Spies, third base; Ryan, Mackey and Kennedy in the outfield, are the men who will wear the Fitchburg colors this season. Kilhullen, Sweet and Kennedy are all good players. Count them up.

McMahon, the Textile school catcher, had a great whip and throws to the bases without an effort. He is green yet does not know the easiest way to play his position but right now he is better than the average schoolboy backup. When he learns the fine points of the game McMahon ought to be able to earn his living during the baseball season.

The majority of the fans who witnessed the Chip-McCoy fight in New York, the early part of the week did not realize that the affair was an encounter for the honor of the Chip family. It was a grudge pure and simple, on the part of Chip for the Pennsylvania scrapper came to the big town on purpose to humble McCoy in his own ballcock.

McCoy, a few weeks ago, took the measure of Chip's younger brother who is also a middleweight. In fact, the younger Chip is nearer a heavyweight but McCoy allowed him to come in out-swinging him but quite a margin. The Brooklyn slagger gave young Chip the jolking of his life in their ten round game, battering him up so badly that it was with difficulty that his seconds managed to keep him on his feet as the bell rang for the finale.

So Chip, the recognized middleweight champion, decided to hook up McCoy and show him that one of the Chip family could pass him a walling. The bout was arranged under these conditions and McCoy knew that he would have to travel at top speed or receive the worst beating of his career. You all know the results now, how McCoy slipped over the sleeper in less than two minutes with the only two blocks that he struck during the bout—a right to the stomach and a left hook to the jaw.

A return match has now been arranged between Chip and McCoy and the result will be watched with great interest, from a crowded house. It would be a peculiar thing if history repeated itself. When Chip hung his K. O. on Frank Klaus the boxing fans all over the country looked up in surprise. "It must have been a lucky one," they said. But when Chip beat the then-recognized champion of his class in their second bout there was nothing to it. If McCoy should again beat Chip his success will be assured.

Walter Johnson of the Senators, the premier pitcher of both major leagues and called by many the greatest stabster of all time, has not been going along very well in practice this spring. In a game this week Johnson passed three men in one inning and then "beaten" the fourth man to face him. However, next Tuesday will probably be a different matter. It is doubtful if the Red Sox will enjoy any such experience in their opener at Fenway park.

Frye, the southpaw pitcher of the Harvard team, was the whole show in the Harvard-Colgate game at the stadium yesterday afternoon. Colgate got but three hits off the Crimson twirler and two of these were lucky ones. Frye landed on the ball for three strikes and laid down a neat sacrifice on his fourth appearance at the plate.

President Wilson assured the Washington management yesterday that he would leave the first ball into the diamond when the Senators open at home with the Red Sox on April 23. The first ball will be thrown to Ray Collins for the big southpaw will face Walter Johnson in the opener. Collins may also be used for the first home game at Fenway park.

Phinney Boyle will meet a tough customer next Tuesday night at the reopening of the Atlas A. A. in Boston when he will box Gus Lerney. Lerney is an old and experienced ring artist but it is doubtful if he can stand off the more powerful local boy. If Phinney gets a few of those back handers into the Boston boxers middle Hector Nelms will qualify as a scone tester.

Manager Gray is thinking seriously of giving his men some road work every morning during the first week of their training. According to the Lowell manager there will be no more 10 o'clock appearances for even players. He will recruit or veteran, will have to be at the baseball office no later than 8:30 a. m. Rube DeGroot will do some tall talking when he hears about the early rising rule.

Billy "H" McMahon, manager of the Lewiston club, will leave Lowell tomorrow for the Maine city and he on hand to start off next week with his club. The Auburn haired leader of this year's Lewiston team has been working out with the Textile school line and his arm has been carefully nursed for the past ten days. "Red" looks for the best season this year that he has had for the past ten years.

McMahon and Pitcher-Lohman were teammates for several years down in Texas. The local man says that he is some pitcher and that he should make good with Lowell this year. "He's got the greatest appetite I ever saw," said Red to the writer this morning. "Everybody called him 'Steaks' Lohman that way on account of his fondness for tenderloins." "Steaks" may pasture a few Texas longhorns out at Spaulding Park this year for his own commissary department.

Joe Burns, the pitcher, sold to Duffly by Lowell last year and who went up to the Providence club at the conclusion of the New England league season, will perhaps be back in the Portland ball yard this year. From reports Burns has not proven himself to be strong enough for the International circuit and Duffly may get him back. He will be a big addition to the Portland club if he does return.

Barrows, former captain of the local club, has met with another injury. The ex-Lowell outfielder broke his leg last spring and while south with his international league club this season expected the injured member so severely that the doctors are uncertain just how long he will be out of the lineup. Barrows is with Rochester this season.

President Latham of the Red Sox is thoroughly disgusted with the weather that his club has been subjected to this week. None of the charges of Manager Bill Carrigan has been able to get into uniform since Monday. Another year, states the Red Sox owner, the Boston Americans will stay at Hot Springs until the first of April.

The Lowell baseball club will play its first exhibition game a week from tomorrow at Spaulding park. St. Anselm's college line of Manchester will face the champions on that date, and Manager Gray's squad will receive a thorough workout. Here's hoping Rube DeGroot is in togs by that time so that we won't mind it if the weather is a little cold. The Rules books in this game last year were the funniest that were seen at the park during the season.

RUSH WORK ON YALE BOWL
NEW HAVEN, April 10.—The progress made in the construction of the Yale bowl is such that Secretary David Daggett of the Yale committee of 21 today expressed confidence that the bowl would be ready for the football game with Harvard next fall. Collections to date with interest, Mr. Daggett said, amounted to $306,549. Expenditures included $103,129 for real estate and about $175,000 for construction work. Approximately the cash on hand is $47,000.

REV. EUGENE J. VINCENT

Young Priest From Salem Coming to St. Louis' Church—Rev. E. J. Comeau Transferred

Rev. Eugene J. Vincent of Salem, Mass., a young clergyman who was ordained to the priesthood on Monday, April 6, has been assigned as assistant pastor of St. Louis' church, this city, by William Cardinal O'Connell, and the young priest will begin his new duties next Monday.

The coming of the young priest to St. Louis' parish will necessitate some changes in the parish, and accordingly Rev. E. J. Comeau, who has been acting assistant pastor for the past six months, will be transferred to another field. Rev. Fr. Comeau came here shortly after the death of the beloved pastor, the late Rev. J. N. Jacques, and shortly after the appointment of the present pastor, Rev. J. R. Labossiere. During his short stay in the parish the young clergyman, who came from Nova Scotia, made a host of friends, who will be grieved to learn of his departure.

Eugene J. Vincent, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Trefle Vincent of Salem. He was born at St. Elizabeth, Que., Sept. 12, 1887. He pursued his studies at the college and later entered the grand seminary at Montreal, Que., where he remained three years. A year ago he made his entrance at St. John's seminary, Brighton, and last Monday he was ordained by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell.

The young clergyman will celebrate his first mass at St. Joseph's church, Salem, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and Monday morning he will come to this city to assume his new duties. He is a brilliant young man and there is no doubt that within a short time he will make many friends in Lowell, inasmuch as he is young and active. It is probable that he will be given the care of the young men of the parish.

Fr. Vincent has four brothers, St. Marie, Marie, Marie and Adrien, all residing in St. Elizabeth, Que., as well as four sisters, Mrs. Zolique, Belleville, Mrs. Philippe, Boulianger and the Misses Flore and Aurora Vincent, all of Salem.

HOLY THURSDAY

Impressive Services at Sacred Heart—Sermon by Rev. Fr. Webb

At the Church of the Sacred Heart the ceremonies of Holy Thursday morning were particularly impressive. The solemn high mass was sung by Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. E. J. Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. T. P. Wood, O. M. I., as deacons. At the conclusion of the mass the celebrant, attended by his ministers and other clergy, with altar boys and sanctuary choristers proceeded from the main altar through the church to the altar of repose, where the host, consecrated at the mass, was kept until the mass of the presanctified this morning. The repository was a work of exquisite beauty, hidden in and surrounded by masses of palms, bay trees, Easter lilies and cut flowers. During the day and evening hundreds of devout Catholics visited and adored the Blessed Sacrament.

In the evening the office of the ten-ohrao was sung under the direction of the rector, Very Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I. The sanctuary choir and the organ choir alternated in the chanting of the office. The sermon was preached by Rev. Charles W. Webb, O. M. I., of Tewksbury. He said in part:

"Today, my dear brethren, throughout the length and breadth of the world, the Catholic church commemorates the institution of the Eucharistic Sacrifice; and in order to impress upon the minds and hearts of all the faithful this privilege of God's love and self-sacrifice, she bids us go back in spirit to that first Holy Thursday and there witness the solemn scenes enacted at the last supper. The more we behold Jesus Christ, in the midst of His chosen ones, Jesus for the last time has offered the Paschal Lamb. That shadow is now about to pass away forever and the reality to take its place. All those long, dark centuries of expectation, of prophecy, of hope are now about to fade away as stars before the rising sun, and the daily mass, innumerable communions and universal devotion to the Most Holy Eucharist to take their place. And so in view of these, our Blessed Lord tells His apostles how He has desired to eat this Paschal with them as a surpassing proof of His love and affection."

"With this same intention, also, He tells His apostles and through them to the generations of the Catholic priesthood united with a devout and faithful laity in the centuries that were to follow: Do this for a commemoration of Me! For indeed the Blessed Eucharist is the living memorial of Jesus Christ, the Saviour, yes, the most powerful of memorials, for in it we have Jesus Christ Himself, Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity, on our altars to guide us, to rule us, to be our spiritual food in this perilous journey through life."

At last the supreme moment has come. Jesus takes bread into His holy and venerable hands, breaks and blesses it. Then the apostles hear His sweet words break the sacred silence: Take ye and eat for This is My Body. And in like manner, they see Him take the chalice of wine into His hands and bless it. Then He says: This is My Blood, which shall be shed for the remission of sins."

In the fulness of this intimate presence among them Jesus bids His apostles make their first act of faith in Him, present in His sacrament, present under the broken fragments of bread which He gives into the hands of each, present in the chalice of which He bids them drink. That sacred body which the apostles hold in their hands and receive into their breasts has not yet been crucified; that sacred heart has not yet been pierced with the lance; these sacred hands and feet have not yet been nailed to the cross; that precious blood has not yet been poured forth and drunk in by the self of Calvary; nevertheless Christ says: "This is My Body," "This is My Blood." Nay, more, He bids His apostles, "Do this." Break this body; shed this blood. Already has Jesus, hasty in His love, laid down His life, on the supper table, anticipated His crucifixion and given to His priests the power of offering that same sacrifice that moment of His: "Do this for a commemoration of Me."

The sermon this evening on the passion will be preached by Rev. P. J. Phelan, O. M. I.

TO ENTER FIRST CLASS

Locomotor Postoffice To Be Advanced On July 1, Receipts For Past Year Exceeding $40,000

LIZONIMSTER, April 10.—Postmaster Thomas A. Hills has been notified by the government that the postoffice will be raised to one of the first class July 1, the receipts for the year ending March 31, 1914, being $40,753.75, sufficient to authorize the advance from second class, where the limit is $40,000.

The office was made second class in 1874, when Mr. Hills was appointed, and he has served as postmaster ever since. When it was so rated it was one of the smallest second-class offices in the state. Now it is declared to be the third largest, either first or second class, in the county, exceeded only by Worcester and Fitchburg.

SEAL PELTS SIGHTED

THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN WASHED FROM DECKS OF MISSING SCHOONER

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 10.—Seal pelts thought to have come from the missing sealing steamer Southern Cross were sighted today several miles south of St. Mary's bay by the steamer Kyle which had been searching the coast for a week. The pelts are skins which have been roughly removed and to which considerable fat usually adheres, causing them to float readily. It is believed that they either were washed from the decks of the Southern Cross or floated to surface after she went down. None of the sealing fleet which came in last week, from St. Lawrence grounds where the Southern Cross had been seal hunting, lost any pelts off the southern coast. The Kyle reported by wireless that she would continue the search in the vicinity, although the weather was foggy at the time.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Though there has been no expression from the White House as yet, friends of Mrs. Wood and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the president's youngest daughter, who are to be married soon, believe the wedding will be a quiet family affair.

Washington is duly expecting an announcement of the date, and who who profess to be well informed think it will be April or early in May. Should the wedding take place so early, it is more than probable that the invitation list will be small.

BOSTON EXPORTS

Reach $70,933,481—Imports Fall Off Over $15,000,000

BOSTON, April 10.—That the movement of foreign trade through the port of Boston in 1913 corresponds in general to the record of foreign trade of the United States during that year, as shown by the annual statistical report of the Boston chamber of commerce, made public yesterday. The report says:

"Boston records an increase in exports, and nationally there was an increase in exports. Likewise, the United States trade shows a decrease in imports, and Boston's trade shows a decrease. Boston's exports in 1913 were $70,933,481, an increase of $5,240,845 over the 1912 record; imports were $124,065,656, a decrease of $15,712,557. For the entire United States, exports in 1913 were $2,181,310,425, to compare with $2,392,217,593 in 1912, and imports $1,793,038,480 in 1913, to compare with $1,818,073,055 in 1912."

"Undoubtedly the pending tariff measure in 1913 largely explains the decrease in imports. The limited report of imports shows that the decreases appear principally in wool, hides and skins, cotton and cotton manufactures, sugar, chemicals, dyes, iron and steel—all of these being commodities notably affected by the new tariff.

"The biggest item of Boston's foreign trade is its trade with England. This is $73,433,786, with British India second with $16,537,433 and Egypt fourth with $16,537,433. Our largest South American trade is with Argentina, and it amounted to $7,092,604 in 1913.

"Noticeable in Boston's commerce is the movement of coal. Receipts in 1913 aggregated 7,115,993 tons, to compare with 6,678,017 in 1912 and 6,415,041 in 1911. The big increase rolled up last year is a direct index of the industrial activity of New England, especially the Boston district. More than 6,000,000 tons of this coal came by sea.

ALIBI FOR "DAGO FRANK"

Affidavit Says Gunmen Was Far From Scene Where Murder Was Committed

NEW YORK, April 10.—An affidavit purporting to establish an alibi for "Dago Frank" Croft, a note from Frank Moss, former Assistant District Attorney, attacking the credibility of two men who were witnesses at the trial of Charles Becker of the gunmen and an alleged discrepancy in the decision of the court of appeals which reversed Becker's conviction, were the points about which counsel for the gunmen, doomed to die on Monday for the murder of Herman Rosen, that centered their fight today.

The affidavit, that of Pinkie Roe, a special officer in a Harlem dance hall who swears that he saw "Dago Frank" far from the scene of the murder about the time it was committed, was rushed to Governor Glynn by Special messenger. Notice of it was incorporated in memoranda previously placed before the governor.

The note written by Frank Moss concerning the two witnesses, Luban and Marpolis, was today placed in the hands of C. G. E. Wable, the gunmen's chief counsel. How it would be used—possibly for court action—was explained by Wable's partner, Lionel Kringle.

"Mr. Moss' note," he said, "shows that he didn't believe Luban was truthful. Yet he placed him on the stand as a witness. It also shows that Moss didn't believe Luban after he had testified. If any assistant district attorney did not believe his own witness, certainly nobody else should believe the man."

"Mr. Wable and myself will get this note before the governor as soon as possible. If we again fail to move the governor to change his decision, then we will take the whole matter before some justice of the supreme court."

U. S. CONGRESS

the various transactions, Commissioner McChord announced that the principal matter to be considered at present were the relations of the Billard company to the financial operations of the New Haven. Walter D. Hines, counsel for the present management of the New Haven said at the opening that it was the policy of Chairman Elliott and the present management to cooperate in every way with the commission and furnish all information.

Pres. Whipple Called

Harry V. Whipple, president of the Merchants National bank of New Haven, the first witness, refused to testify as to his business relations with the Billard company. He said he was not a stockholder in that company but had been up to last fall.

"To whom did you sell your stock in the Billard company?" he was asked.

"I must decline to answer that question as I regard it as an invasion of my personal rights," replied Whipple.

Judge Stoddard, counsel for the New Haven, explained Mr. Whipple's declaration to reply.

"We challenge the right and the jurisdiction of the commission," he said, "to inquire into any act of the Billard company. Our conclusion is that such an inquiry is beyond the commission's authority. Acting upon the conclusion we have decided to decline to answer questions relating to such matters."

Were there any relations between the Billard company and the New Haven during your incumbency as treasurer of the Billard company?" Mr. Whipple was asked.

Overstepped Power

"Suppose," suggested Chief Counsel

Talk of the commission, "that it can be shown that the Billard company owes the New Haven railroad many millions of dollars, do you think that it would be desirable to conceal this fact in view of the desire of the senate for the information?"

"I think," interrupted Judge Stoddard, "that the senate resolution has gone far beyond the powers either of this commission or of congress. Neither the commission, nor congress has any power to investigate the relations, if any, of the Billard company and the New Haven railroad."

A series of questions was put to Whipple intended to develop evidence of financial relations between the Billard company and the New Haven or the Billard company and the New England Navigation Co. He declined to answer in any instance to answer. He refused to say whether there had been a transaction between the Billard company and the New England Navigation Co. involving $21,000,000 or not; whether the New Haven, through its subsidiary, the New England Navigation Co., did not advance to John L. Billard a million dollars on his four promissory notes or whether Billard was indebted to the New England Navigation Co. for two million dollars.

Refused to Give Books

The counsel for the committee said Mr. Whipple had been directed by subpoena to bring books, documents and contracts of the Billard company.

"Are you prepared," he inquired, "to produce those books and documents?"

"I am not," Whipple responded, and declined to say whether his refusal was because the books were too bulky.

To Samuel Henningway, president of the Second National bank of New Haven, a similar line of questions was put. He also declined to answer.

A. S. May, treasurer of the New Haven, testified that the road did not hold securities of the New England Navigation Co. but did own all the stock.

"What obligations of John L. Billard or of the Billard company were held by the New Haven or the New England Navigation Co.?"

"Only such," replied Mr. May, "as were necessary to the conduct of the affairs of the New Haven."

Knew Nothing of $1,000,000

"Did Mr. Billard give his note to the New England Navigation Co. for $2,742,500?"

"I think so."

"What transaction did that note represent?"

"It is impossible," responded the witness, "for me to explain all the details but I think the transaction was in connection with the acquisition of Boston & Maine stock."

Mr. May said he knew nothing about a million dollars said to have been turned over by the New England Navigation Co. to Billard.

RACES TROLLEY CAR

MOUNTED POLICEMAN CATCHES TWO FUGITIVES WHEN CAR STOPS AT OPEN DRAWBRIDGE

BOSTON, April 10.—A race between a mounted policeman and a trolley car, with the odds on the car until they reached an open drawbridge, ended yesterday afternoon on Dorchester avenue with the arrest of two men in the front vestibule on charges of highway robbery.

The men under arrest, William D. Edwards, of 508 Columbus avenue and Frank B. Lorenz, of 75 West Rutland square, robbed Solomon Ingalls of Portland, Me., of $50 on Congress street. It is said.

Mounted Officer Thomas Connolly had been watching the two men, who met Ingalls on Dorchester square and walked him along Atlantic avenue until Congress street was reached. The officer followed at a distance and heard a cry for help. He saw the two men running, and as a South Boston car came along, they boarded it.

The officer made his way along the crowded thoroughfare and kept the car in sight, but was not successful in stopping it. However, just as it reached the Dorchester avenue bridge, the gates were closed for a steamer to pass through.

Connolly rode up to the front of the car and ordered the motorman to open the door, but the motorman failed to understand. Connolly then rapped on the window of the car where he saw the pair and ordered them to come out.

Dismounting the officer met them and took them into custody. With his faithful horse walking behind, the policeman marched his prisoners to the patrol box in Dewey square and called the patrol wagon.

Dismissing the officer met them and took them into custody. With his faithful horse walking behind, the policeman marched his prisoners to the patrol box in Dewey square and called the patrol wagon.

THE FARM LAND

New England Not Deserted by Agriculturists as Many Suppose

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The land and the farming of New England have often been criticized. There are two chief classes of critics. These are composed of people who have known the farming of these states 20 years ago, and of those who are seeing it today in a superficial manner.

For a generation or two past the changes in farming the country over, had left the farming of New England in a depressed condition, according to a specialist of the department of agriculture. The reaction of the last decade is now remedying this depression. It was true that New England had produced some of the staple crops in competition with the land of the Central states, especially when that land was low priced. The present change is due to the large and growing consumption of home products of New England and the difficulty in importing some of the perishable or bulky farm products from other states.

Observation from railway trains often results in statements which exaggerate the amount of rough land in New England. As a rule some of the poorest land lies in sight of the railways, while the rest of this region is by no means all of the same character. The tillable land is much more extensive than is often understood, and the non-tillable is a valuable asset as grazing or woodland.

The development of profitable farming on New England land has not yet gone so far but that there are now many sections where the land is really cheap, considering its productive capacity. To make the production of crops pay good interest on the value of the land, it must, of course, be so chosen as to avoid the speculative values caused by suburban or summer residences, or in a few cases by over-estimated farming values.

AVOID Cheap Land

The very cheap land is often to be avoided also, because it is not fitted for farming and is at the moment devoid of forest covering. Some of the cheap farms are of large enough in acreage, or produce too little income per acre, to keep a farmer and his family. Such farms, however, may form desirable parts of a larger farm business. Most of the real farming is done on land valued at from $20 to $100 per acre and the greater part of it is perhaps on the land worth from $25 to $50 per acre, the whole farm taken together.

The distinctive features of New England farming are due to the fact that the region as a whole is particularly adapted to the growth of grass and trees. So, in general, the kinds of farming which depend on the grass crop predominate. These kinds of farming are profitably supplemented by orcharding, and derive great help from the presence of woodland. The land furnishes winter employment for many farmers and their tenants.

Hay growing for the market on the moist or loamy soils of New England is more profitable than corn growing in the Central states. Potatoes on the well drained lands of northern New England and apple orchards on the uplands of all but the most northern part are profitable and command markets which are not so easily reached from other states.

Truck and small fruit crops are in demand and are profitable to raise near to any of the larger towns and cities. Market milk is also a paying product even somewhat further from the cities, but is not so universally profitable as has been supposed, when it has to be sold for the prices frequently at points more remote from the cities.

DOCTOR DEFIES POLICE

Winchester Physician Held Officers at Bay With Revolver—Captured and Handcuffed

WINCHESTER, April 10.—Shortly after 1 this morning the police, attempting to have him open the door and surrender, but he stoutly refused, saying, "No, never. You are not police officers."

Policemen John A. Harold, William A. Rogers, Daniel C. Kelley and Alexander J. Mullen of the local force, in company with Officer Erenshian of the Metropolitan police, then appeared.

Upon being informed that unless he opened the door they would force it open, the doctor threatened to shoot the first man who made a move in that direction. Donahay and O'Connell burst through the rear door and went upstairs, where they found two rooms in complete darkness. In one of these was a year-old infant, an adopted child of the doctor, and in the other apartment were the doctor and his wife.

Dr. Hiehorn was in a corner of the room with his wife in front of him clasped to his breast as a shield, while over her shoulder he held in his right hand a loaded revolver, which he pointed at the officers standing in the doorway. The only light in the room was furnished by the flashlights of the officers and every movement that they made was covered by the revolver.

MILL IS CLOSED

MADISON, Me., April 10.—The Madison Woolen Co. today closed all departments of its mill except the dye-house and finishing room until further notice. There are about 225 employees. The shutdown was caused by a strike of the spinners during the forenoon when a boy known as the stick filler was taken off. The spinners claimed that without the services of the boy they would earn 40 or 50 cents a day less.

MUST GO TO JAIL

NEW YORK, April 10.—John N. Anhalt, the lawyer who was convicted a year ago of offering a $25,000 bribe to Dr. John W. Russell, then superintendent of the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan, to aid in the escape of Harry K. Thaw, has his choice of at once entering Sing Sing or the Tombs city prison here.

The alternative was given him by the appellate division of the supreme court, which ruled that unless he agreed to have created a certificate of reasonable doubt which he obtained and to go back to the Tombs pending his appeal from his conviction, it would dismiss his appeal forthwith and he would be sent to Sing Sing at once.

Anhalt has been at liberty pending the decision of the higher court, which now decides he must be confined somewhere until his appeal is taken up, which probably will be on April 23. He was sentenced to from two to four years in Sing Sing.

SOLEMN OBSERVANCE OF GOOD FRIDAY

Held in All the Local Catholic Churches Today—Sermons on Crucifixion—Holy Thursday Services Last Night

In the ceremonial of the Catholic church Holy Week represents symbolically the period between the triumphal entry of Jesus Christ into Jerusalem and his resurrection from the dead after his crucifixion. As it nears the time of the glorious triumph over death the services become unusually impressive, though mourning and sorrow are typified in the ritual of Good Friday. On yesterday, which is designated "Holy Thursday," the institution of the blessed sacrament is commemorated. In the gospel story it is related how the evening before his death Christ called his apostles together and ate with them in Jerusalem, the famous picture by Dr. Vinci recalls the scene to the popular mind. The Catholic church has always taught that when Christ broke bread and gave it to his apostles, saying "This is my body which is given for you," and giving them wine said, "This is the chalice, the new testament in my blood which shall be shed for you," he gave them the power to change bread and wine into his body and blood.

To typify the death of Christ the blessed sacrament is removed from the tabernacle on the high altar on Holy Thursday and is deposited in a beautiful repository or altar of repose, surrounded with lights and flowers. Thousands crowd into the churches on that day to honor the real presence of Christ in the blessed sacrament. In all the Catholic churches of this city yesterday the altars of repose were things of rare beauty, decked with Easter lilies and other flowers, white predominating in the color, and filled with hundreds of wax candles. Last night as usual the Tenebrae services were sung, and in most of the churches there was a sermon on the blessed sacrament. Fr. Callahan preached in St. Patrick's; Fr. Shaw in St. Michael's; Fr. Phelan, O. M. I., in the Immaculate Conception; and Rev. Dr. Keeler in St. Peter's. This morning the mass of the presanctified was celebrated, so called because the host used in the sacrifice was consecrated on the preceding day.

In all of the churches of the city the services today reflect the mourning of the Apostles and disciples of Christ when his body lay in the tomb. In the afternoon the stations of the cross will be given solemnly, commemorative of the journey of Jesus to Calvary, and from station to station the Stabat Mater, one of the oldest and most beautiful hymns in the church ritual will be sung by the choir. Tonight after the Tenebrae or chant of penitence and sorrow there will be a sermon on the passion and death of Christ and then will follow the adoration of the cross, the sign of salvation. Fr. Curran will preach at St. Patrick's; Fr. O'Brien at the Immaculate Conception; Fr. Phelan at the Sacred Heart; and Fr. Callahan at St. Margaret's. There are few Catholics that do not strive to be present Good Friday evening to hear the sermon on the passion, and it is expected that all the churches of the city will be crowded to capacity.

Tomorrow morning the principal ceremonies will be the blessing of holy water and the lighting of the paschal candle. Then will follow the splendid services of Easter with their triumphant joyousness banishing the gloom of Lent with lights and flowers and the ringing of bells.

ASPHYXIATED BY GAS FROM BUCKET FIRE

Three Boys Started Fire in Deserted Van—Father Found Son Unconscious, One Companion Dead and the Third Dying

NEW YORK, April 10.—Three small boys crawled into a deserted moving van in a vacant lot in Harlem last night, stopped up the cracks to keep out the chill, then squatted around a fire they kindled in a bucket. Patrick Kenny, father of one of the little fellows, searching for him, chanced to look in the van today. He found his son Frank unconscious. John Scanlon, a 15-year-old companion, was dead and the third boy was apparently dying. Gas from the bucket fire had asphyxiated them.

Mr. Call nor Miss Dudley were able to show papers proving that they had been divorced from their former spouses. Miss Dudley was in private life Mrs. Gladys Turner. She married H. Clifford Turner, leading lawyer of Rochester, N. Y., in 1907, and divorced him two years later.

Her fiancé has also had family troubles. He married Miss Mabel Cross of Reading some years ago. Following the wedding Mrs. Call entered on a social campaign which quickly established her as the society arbiter of Portsmouth, N. H., where she and her husband lived in magnificent style. Portsmouth people were shocked to the core when they learned that Mrs. Call was seeking a divorce. She obtained it and piled on an extra thrill by promptly marrying Lemuel W. Pope, a veterinary surgeon and Spanish war veteran.

Portsmouth folk had barely recovered from this blow when they received the announcement of Mr. Call's plan to wed the vaudeville actress. Call and the young actress will, it was reported from Portsmouth last night, seek to marry in New Hampshire, now that they have failed in Boston. Call has a beautiful summer home at All Bay, but spends most of his time in New York and Boston. His young fiancée has had numerous able admirers from the time she blossomed into womanhood. Her early marriage was a sensation at the time it occurred.

Mrs. Turner, or Miss Dudley, is rich in her own right, and intimate friends of the couple say that her marriage to the 62-year-old lumberman will be a pure love match, as she has not the slightest reason for wishing for his money. Her father was a prominent Portland, Me., lawyer, and her mother was a wealthy woman.

TRUSTEES REAPPOINTED

MARY A. DIERKES AND JAMES P. CLEARY ARE NAMED BY MAYOR CURLEY OF BOSTON

BOSTON, April 10.—Miss Mary A. Dierkes of Dorchester, trustee and secretary of the Boston Infirmary department board, and James P. Cleary, trustee of the children's institutions department were yesterday reappointed by Mayor Curley.

The mayor also instructed Commissioner Bourke of the public works department to advertise for bids for $100,000 worth of asphalt for side streets in the South End and Roxbury, running off Washington and Tremont streets and Shawmut avenue, streets which the mayor characterized as "mud holes," and streets upon which the city has spent thousands of dollars in repair. The mayor said that he would make a saving of $50,000 in some of the departments to pay half the expense and would call upon Commissioner Bourke to make a saving of an equal amount in his department for the remainder.

With the appropriation of $100,000 the mayor proposes to expend approximately $1,000,000 for street work, or about twice the amount that has been spent in any one year for some time. He said he had inspected every side street from Dedham street to Dudley street terminal of the "L" road and believes that the work of asphaltizing should be done as soon as possible.

ROOSEVELT IN DANGER

ACCORDING TO CABLE MESSAGE RECEIVED IN BUENOS AYRES—PARTY MISSING

BUENOS AYRES, April 10.—There are rumors here and in Rio Janeiro that the Roosevelt party has met with a mishap.

A cable message received here from Manaus yesterday says that the Brazilian river gunboat Ciudad de Manaus arrived at Manaus with two members of the Roosevelt party.

The gunboat searched the Aripuanã river but found no trace of Col. Roosevelt.

The crew are all suffering from fever and the supplies were exhausted. Leo C. Miller of the American Museum of Natural History, and Captain Amílcar DeMagalhães, both members of the exploring party, were brought to Manaus. Mr. Miller said he saw Col. Roosevelt last on the Duvida river on Feb. 27 and that he might be expected to reach Manaus at the end of the month.

Mr. Miller and Captain Magalhães went down the Cipitino river to the Madeira river, a tributary of the Amazon. One officer of the Ciudad de Manaus was left on the watch for the explorers in the region which they are expected to traverse on the way back to civilization.

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—King Gustav was said today to be making satisfactory progress in recovering from the effects of an operation performed on him yesterday for ulceration of the stomach. A bulletin issued by the surgeons in attendance said:

"His majesty passed a quiet night during which he slept three hours. He suffered some pain, which, however, did not interfere with the electrization of the wound. The king was able to take water and tea without any ill effects."

MUST CARRY $28 WATCH

NEW EFFICIENCY ORDER ON NEW HAVEN ROAD CAUSING MUCH COMPLAINT AMONG EMPLOYEES

NEW HAVEN, April 10.—Another reform in the New Haven road efficiency was started yesterday by C. L. Bardo, general manager, when he issued an order requiring all train operators, station masters, etc., to use an open-faced watch with Arabic characters instead of Roman and the hour of 12 must be under the handle. The watch required costs $28, while hitherto the men could use a dollar watch if they wanted to.

The present order is for safety. There is much complaining among the men.

BOY'S BODY IN WELL

FOUND BY MOTHER AFTER POSSE HAD HUNTED SUPPOSED KIDNAPERS ALL NIGHT

DANBURY, Conn., April 10.—After a posse of citizens had scoured the woods in the town of Brookfield all night last night in an attempt to apprehend the supposed kidnappers of 7-year-old Charles Beers, the body of the boy was found yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Beers, in a deserted well only 20 feet from the house. The water in the well was only three feet deep. The boy had been playing around the cover of the well, when the rotted boards gave way. Two strange men in the neighborhood that day were believed to have kidnapped him.

WHOOPING COUGH

Need of Segregated Centers for Care of Children Discussed

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The urgent need in New York city and other populous districts of segregated centers where children suffering from whooping cough can be cared for was discussed at a meeting last night of the section on pediatrics of the academy of medicine. As a result of the discussion it was unanimously voted by the many doctors present to submit to the health commissioner a recommendation that such centers be provided in this city.

Whooping cough carries away a large number of children yearly, said Dr. John Brannan, president of Bellevue and allied hospitals. That many mementum to tuberculosis following their paroxysmal attacks he declared to be a well known fact.

STEAMSHIPS FOR HUB

VESSELS TO RUN TO HONOLULU, PUERTO, MEXICO, SALINA CRUZ AND OTHER POINTS

BOSTON, April 10.—Through the efforts of Wm. S. McNary of the board of directors of the port, Boston is to secure a new steamship line running to Honolulu, Puerto, Mexico, Salina Cruz and other points on the Pacific coast.

Some months ago Mr. McNary talked with the directors of the American-Hawaii Steamship company in New York and interested them to the extent of running a boat temporarily from this port. It was announced yesterday that the business had been so successful that the line had determined to run a steamer monthly from pier 4. It was also announced by the port directors that the Merchants & Miners' line had intended to remove from their location on Atlantic avenue to pier 2. On the motion of Mr. McNary the directors of the port have agreed to locate their offices on the Commonwealth pier, thus saving the state a rental of $1500 a year.

The jury in the case of Dr. Otis Allen vs. the New England Telephone and Telegraph company returned a verdict after considerable deliberation last evening for the sum of $87.50.

Another Case Called
The next case called was that of Joseph Harvey of Lowell vs. Jacob F. and Margaret Forays, both of Lowell, an action of contract to recover for labor and material furnished in installing a bathroom in a house of the defendants. The plaintiff claims that he did the work according to the agreement and the defendants still owe him the sum of $65.30. The defendants, in their declaration, state that they had an oral contract with Mr. Harvey to the effect that he was to install a bathroom in their house and to do other work for the sum of $65. They further claim that the $65 was paid in due time. Forster and Turner for the plaintiff, and Col. James H. Carmichael for the defense.

Verdict of $105
A verdict of $105 for the plaintiff was reported by the jury in superior court this forenoon after a little over an hour's deliberation in the suit of the Electro Importing Company of New York vs. W. C. Hinkley of Lowell. The jury was charged by Judge Sanderson shortly after the opening of court and after coming back once for instructions brought in the forenoon verdict. Mr. Dearborn of Boston appeared for the plaintiff and W. D. Regan for the defendant.

Maj. Gen. Wood of Army Sends Letters to School Heads Indorsing Student Camps

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, today sent out to school superintendents all over the country a letter endorsing the student military instruction camps to be held during the coming summer. Alluding to the fact that these camps have the hearty endorsement of President Wilson and former President Taft as well as leading educators, General Wood says: "Knowing the benefit of a certain amount of military training to a nation and that in the United States such training can only be obtained by voluntary effort and that the great majority of young men are unable to afford this training as given in the various military schools and colleges, the secretary of war has decided to establish four students' military instruction camps during the coming summer to which students 15 years of age or more—members of the graduating classes at high schools throughout the country—are eligible to attend; this at the minimum cost for food and clothing and transportation.

"These camps are of great value not only to the students of a physical and educational standpoint but to the nation, in that it spreads among its citizens a considerable amount of sound military information and increases by just that much the number of partially trained men who would be available and greatly needed in time of emergency."

The camps will be held at Asheville, N. C. Burlington, Vt., and Ludington, Mich., from July 5th to Aug. 7th, and at Monterey, Cal., from June 26 to July 31.

MANOEUVRES ABANDONED

PLANS FOR BIG EVENT ABOUT BOSTON CALLED OFF—INSTRUCTION CAMP'S ARE PLANNED

BOSTON, April 10.—Plans for the big army, militia and navy manoeuvres about Boston have been abandoned, according to reports made at a meeting of commanding officers of the state militia yesterday. For the first time in several years the state troops will eliminate manoeuvring and hold camps of instruction.

The heads of the Massachusetts militia will recommend that a joint camp of instruction for the Fifth division—all of New England—will be held on Cape Cod with the Second brigade from July 12 to July 19. The Second brigade includes the fifth, eighth and ninth regiments.

The first brigade, including the second and sixth regiments, will have its camp in southeastern Massachusetts from July 5 to July 12. The Second Corps Cadets will hold camp near Roxford from July 11 to July 18.

All of the state cavalry bodies, including Troop A (cavaliers), Troop B, Troop C and Troop D, will go to Connecticut and hold a joint camp with cavalry troops from Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut. This camp will be held near Plainfield.

These plans are provisional, according to the adjutant general.

BOY VOYAGES ON FLOE

ICE CAKE BREAKS WHEN RIVER CLEARS BUT BOY STEERS TO SHORE SAFELY

BANGOR, Me., April 10.—The ice went out of the Penobscot river and the port of Bangor opened to navigation yesterday afternoon.

This is about the average time of opening, although nearly two weeks later than last spring.

An exciting episode of the clearing of the ice was the voyage of a small boy who was standing on the edge of the ice above the Bangor-Brewer bridge when a floe broke off, sending him adrift down stream.

The boy used a stick for a paddle and worked his ice cake in toward the Brewer shore. A riverman broke off another floe and, with a board for a paddle, put out to rescue the boy.

The latter managed to steer his ice near enough to a wharf so that he got ashore, while the man floated down river some distance and finally made a landing.

There was a general alarm, hundreds of people gathered along the banks and the steamer Bon Ton was about to go to the rescue when the boy landed.

HUB HOTEL MEN EXAMPLE

GOVERNOR DECLARES THAT GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SHOULD BE COURTEOUS TO THE PUBLIC

BOSTON, April 10.—"I owe it at least to my employers and masters—the people—to be courteous to them," said Governor Walsh at a banquet of the Luncheon club in the Hotel Lenox last night. "and it is unpleasant for me in my position to speak of the prevalent discourtesy of certain public officials to the citizens that hire them."

"The last place where there should be discourtesy is in a department of government," he continued, "which virtually belongs to the public and where the public has the right to expect right treatment. Public officials can learn courtesy from the hotel men, for the man behind the desk constantly has to smile and give the agreeable answer, and so it should be with servants of the people."

"I have been hearing complaints in my office of late relative to the way public officials treat persons who call on them for public business. Indifference and gruffness ought not to be tolerated. Men in public office must be to the public what they would be to their master, were they in private employ."

Gov. Walsh spoke of the excellence of the hotels of Boston, saying that he then spoke of the initiative and referendum and advised that the people be patient. There was a tendency to break down representative government, he said, and quoted the opinion of some statesmen to the effect that events are leading toward a different form of government.

"I do not agree with these men," said the governor, "for at no time in the history of the United States and of this commonwealth have men taken more interest in their government than they do today."

"It is possible to influence one of a few public officials to defeat the best law ever put on the books and the only way we can remedy this is to accept the initiative and referendum. By this method only can we reform the abuses practiced by public officials."

ORDERED BACK TO JAIL

ROCKLAND MAN RELEASED ON ILL HEALTH PLEA ORDERED BACK ON PHYSICIAN'S REPORT

ROCKLAND, Me., April 10.—Ex-Allderman Fred M. Blackington, who was released from the county jail by Sheriff Tolman a few weeks ago, was ordered back to that institution yesterday by Associate Justice Leslie C. Corbush.

This order was given after the judge had listened carefully to the report of a physician sent by the court to make an examination of Blackington's physical condition.

Judge Corbush further directed that in case of a recurrence of the prisoner's violent spells that sufficient medical aid be provided and, if necessary, that he be confined in special quarters. About half of the term to which Blackington was sentenced for attempted blackmail has expired.

Judge Corbush allowed a continuance of the civil case in which the prisoner is a party.

At that time several senators who have proposed substitutes for the Sims bill will urge their plans, and is T. Chamberlain, commissioner of navigation, and Judge Thomas Burke, a member of the Seattle chamber of commerce, also may appear.

The committee's decision to postpone hearings arose from the fact that representatives of Pacific coast commercial bodies who wish to present arguments cannot arrive for several days.

Trouble in Gorham Street Not Due to Sewer Break—Street Will Have to be Torn Up—City Council Draws Jurors

been caused by a break in a water main.

The men employed in installing a sewer in Appleton street came upon a depression yesterday morning, nearly a foot in depth, in Gorham street, the depression causing a sinking of pave-was due to a broken or plugged sewer but that belief was dissipated today, when big chains were run through the fied today that they accepted their positions at the request of E. D. Robbins, one of the attorneys of the New know whether the New Haven was be-

RESERVE CLAUSE INVALID

Judge Sessions Hands Down Important Decision—Application of the Chicago Federals for Injunction Enjoining Killifer From Playing With Phila- delphia Nationals Denied

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 10.—
Judge Clarence W. Sessions in the United States district court today denied the application of the Chicago
Federal league club for an injunction enjoining Catcher William Killifer, Jr., from playing with the Philadelphia
National club.

The judge, denied the application upon the grounds that the Chicago Federal league club did not come into court "with clean hands." The decision also holds the reserve clause is not valid.

Killifer is Seized Killifer is seized in the decision for making the contracts. The decision reads:

"This record shows that the defendant Killifer is a baseball player of unlike, exceptional and extraordinary skill and experience. Unfortunately the record also shows that he is a person upon whose pledged word little or no reliance can be placed and who, for gain to himself, neither scruples nor hesitates to disregard and violate his express engagements and agreements."

After conceding the validity of the two 1914 contracts, the decision goes on to say:

"The question here presented and requiring consideration are these:
First, are the provisions of the 1913 contract between the defendants relative to the reservation of the player for the succeeding season valid and enforceable, and Second, are the plaintiffs by their own conduct barred from seeking relief in a court of equity?"

The leading authorities, with possibly one exception, are agreed that executory contracts of this nature can neither be enforced in equity nor form the basis of an action at law to recover damages for their breach. The reasons for the decisions are that such contracts are lacking in the necessary qualities of definiteness, certainty and mutuality.

The 1913 contract between these defendants relative to the reservation of the defendant Killifer, for the season of 1914 is lacking in all these essential elements. It is wholly uncertain and indefinite with respect to salary and also with respect to terms and conditions of the proposed employment. It is nothing more than a contract to enter into a contract in the future, if the parties can then agree to their contract.

"The principle embodied in the maxim 'who comes into equity must come with clean hands' is a cardinal one, lying at the foundation of equity

Board of Assessors if Bill Before Legislature Passes

If a bill now before the legislature should become law the assessors of taxes, now elected by the municipal council, would be appointed by the mayor and the board would come under

The bill was ordered to a third read-

Senator Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford, chairman of the committee on cities which reported the bill favorably, said that he anticipated that the bill will successfully pass both branches of the legislature.

The bill provides that the mayor or the executive officer of any city or town shall hereafter appoint the assessor and assistant assessors who are required to take civil service regulations. The assessors who are in office at the time of the passage of the bill will not be required to undergo the civil service examinations but will be automatically continued in office vested with the robe of civil service.

to the valuable oil properties there was reported to the state and navy depart-oil properties this way:

Several oil tanks have been struck, one is on fire and oil is running into the river. A number of refugees are on the warships.

The fighting at Tampico was described as heavy with the rebels in possession of Dona Cecilia and Arbolported that Rear Admiral Mayo had delivered another letter to General

TWO BROTHERS CHOKED TO DEATH

Five and Three Year-Old
Lads Get Marbles in
Their Throats

Mother Removes Them
and Pulmotor is Used
in Vain

BOSTON, April 10.—A seemingly harmless game of marbles that the two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Russ of Swampscott began happily yesterday afternoon ended in a tragedy when each of the lads, in the absence of their mother, swallowed a glass "agony" and choked to death before a physician could reach them.

The victims were five-year-old Veryl and three-year-old Sherman. Three men with a pulmotor, summoned from Lynn, worked over them for three-quarters of an hour but could do nothing. In the opinion of the physician who was called the lads probably were dead when their terror-stricken mother with her fingers removed the marbles before he could reach the scene.

Mrs. Russ left the children in the kitchen in the middle of the afternoon and went upstairs to rest. When she last saw them alive they were playing with two glass marbles, half an inch and three-quarters of an inch in diameter respectively. They were rolling the spheres around a board and allowing them to trickle down past a series of pegs into slots in the base of the board.

Soon after the mother went to her room the children's prattle ceased and after a short silence she heard strange sounds, half-gurgling, half-choking. Mrs. Russ rushed downstairs and found both sons prone on the floor, black in the face.

She had the presence of mind to telephone for a doctor and then, pending his arrival, sought to assist her children herself. Though she got the marbles out without great difficulty, the boys did not stir or show any sign of life.

When the pulmotor was of no avail, Medical Examiner Joseph P. O'Shea was summoned, viewed the bodies and pronounced death due to asphyxiation. Only two weeks ago the Russ boys came near death when they swallowed some poisonous substance. Their recovery was due to the large amount they took, for most of it was thrown off. They had always shown in marked degree the childish propensity for swallowing anything and everything they could lay their hands on.

A CUPFUL OF HOT MILK

Not every one appreciates the value of hot milk. Many persons who cannot digest cold milk and that which is heated and a pinch of salt added it agrees with them perfectly. Milk so hot that it must be sipped will often soothe the nerves of a person too tired and excited by the events of the day to sleep.

For a woman tired and hungry after shopping a cup of hot milk and a crisp cracker, a piece of toast or a graham wafer will supply the needed refreshment. A little flavoring is an acceptable addition, such as a pinch of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, vanilla or maple extract.

Then again hot milk is valuable for the toilet. It is good to apply to a burn. Should the skin be dry or chapped wash it night and morning with warm skimmed milk. This is far more healing than the average cosmetic. Milk has a way of softening and whitening dark complexions. It is beneficial for those who live in steam-heated rooms and might be used to advantage as a face lotion upon retiring.

TO VACCINATE NEW YORKERS

If a recommendation by Health Commissioner Goldwater is adopted, all unvaccinated persons in New York will have to bear their arms to vaccine points. A canvass was made recently of a cross section of the city and 12,437 persons were questioned. It was found that while about 96 per cent of these had been vaccinated, the average elapsed time since the last successful vaccination was 11 years. Vaccination does not protect beyond seven years.

In his report Dr. Goldwater said: "Infants and children under school age should be vaccinated in order to protect others as well as themselves. Of late years, owing to the comparative frequency of vaccination among children, smallpox has become a disease of adults. We run the risk in New York City of an outbreak among children, a reversion to the condition of bygone years when they were the first and heaviest sufferers."

The report went on: "Inspectors visited every home in typical city blocks, tenement houses occupied by white and colored tenants, and blocks of high class apartment houses. By letters and inspectors the desired information was obtained from various large department stores. Insurance companies and the three largest charitable organizations in the city. A vaccination census was also taken of the employees of the New York public library, the New York stock exchange and the bureau of infectious diseases."

The total result showed that 4 per cent had had smallpox, and that 3 per cent had never been vaccinated. "These crude figures," the report added, "are, at first sight encouraging and seem to show that New York city is fairly well protected against an epidemic of smallpox, certainly as well as and probably better than any other large city in the United States. This view is borne out by the fact that New York city, notwithstanding its own population of nearly 5,000,000 and its large floating population from all parts of the country, amounting at times to 200,000, has been remarkably free from the disease for a number of years."

American and Federal Leagues Clash Over Signing of Hamilton

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—After the loss of Earl Hamilton to the Federals yesterday and the announcement that Clem Clements would go to Chicago today, where it is said he, too, will join the new league, the local American league club today began building intrenchments to protect itself from further onslaught by the Federals. The first and strongest defense the Browns president has thrown about his players, it became known today, was the elimination of the 10 day release notice from all 1914 contracts. This clause had given the club right to drop any player upon ten days' notice. The Federal league in its attempt to retain Hamilton, it is said, will argue the lack of mutuality in the ten day release clause.

Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Americans, has held interviews with the players who were said to have visited St. Louis during his stay here and he announced he did not believe another member of his team would go to the Federals. Stovall returned to Kansas City with Hamilton but C. G. Madison, president of the Kansas City Federal club, remained here to continue the overture to the major league players. In answer to the declaration of Robert L. Hedges, president of the local Americans, that the American league, the National commission and organized baseball in general would prevent Hamilton from playing with the Federals, Madison said:

"We have George Baumgardner and Gus Williams of the St. Louis Browns under irrevocable contracts to play with the Kansas City Federal league team and other Browns have expressed a willingness to sign contracts with us."

"If the American league makes a step to prevent Earl Hamilton from playing with us we will not take steps to enforce our contracts with Baumgardner and Williams, but we will sign other Brown players."

10 DAYS IN WORKHOUSE

PHILIP NOVICK, I. W. W. LEADER IN NEW YORK, FOUND GUILTY OF DISTURBANCE

NEW YORK, April 10.—Ten days in the workhouse was the punishment given Philip Novick yesterday for his participation in the I. W. W. disturbances in Union square Saturday. The last to be tried of the 10 men arrested, Novick, this evidence tended to show, interfered with a policeman who was arresting Joseph F. O'Carroll, a young I. W. W. leader.

O'Carroll, clubbed by the police, it is charged, was freed by a magistrate and the alleged assault upon him is being investigated. Of the others arrested, Vincenzo Minnella was sent to the workhouse for 15 days, Joseph Lancia was put under bonds to keep the peace and the rest were discharged or received suspended sentences.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and Itching Scalp

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

Greatest Jewish Festival of Year
Begins at Sunrise Today—How
it Will be Observed

The Jewish festival of the Passover, which marks the sparing of the Israelite first born and the exodus of the Israelites from Old Egypt, will begin this evening and continue until a week from tomorrow. Every Jewish home in Lowell is being prepared to usher in the Passover the greatest feast of the entire year among orthodox Jews as one of the most joyous of holidays. The festival of the Passover is the oldest on the Hebrew calendar. For weeks great preparations have been going on, marked by unprecedented bustle on the part of the housewives and their servants in an effort to have everything thoroughly cleansed. New dishes and other utensils are brought into use. Those who do not buy new dishes, must renovate the old ones by a process known as "Kashris" which is spread of matzoth, a shibboleth of lamb, commemorative of the paschal sacrifice; a roasted egg, a mixture of apples, nuts and wine, to symbolize the mortar used by the Israelites in the construction of the storehouse of the Egyptians while they were in a state of slavery.

Upon the table is always placed some parsley greens, indicative of spring and the resurrection of nature. The services are interrupted for the family dinner and close with a number of merry folk songs, expressive of the character and nature of the observance.

Services during the eight-day festival will take place in the synagogues on Howard and McIntire streets while the observance will be celebrated in nearly all of the local Hebrew homes.

The Jewish name for the Passover is Pesach, and it falls on the first full moon of the spring, from the 14th to the 21st of the month of Nisan, or April.

After all the preliminaries have been attended to, the ceremony proper begins. The hands are washed and various blessings are recited appropriate to the occasion. The master of the house, breaking one of the three matzoth in two pieces, and pointing to the roasted shank and egg, lying before him, recites in Chaldean: "Lo, this is the bread of affliction, which our ancestors ate in the land of Egypt; let all those who are hungry enter and eat thereof; and all who are in need, come, and celebrate the Passover."

The youngest member of the house then asks the classic four questions, and then the head of the family replies: "Because we were slaves unto Pharaoh in Egypt, and the eternal, our God, brought us forth from thence with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm; and if the Most Holy had not brought forth our ancestors from Egypt, we, and our children, and our children's children would still continue to be slaves to the Pharaohs in Egypt."

As the story of the Exodus rolls on, each of the various dishes is taken in turn, and its significance explained in picturesque language. A portion of the Hallel is then recited, and the reply closes with a benediction. In which it is hoped that the holy temple will be rebuilt and the ancient rites and sacrifices restored. The hands are again washed, and after pronouncing grace over the matzoth, the meal proper is served.

In the days of the Second Temple this festival was observed in a most elaborate manner. In the year 65 A. D. history says 3,000,000 Jews visited Jerusalem for the celebration of the Passover, and in the days of Nero at the Passover celebration 25,500 lambs were slain, also indicating an attendance of nearly 3,000,000 Jews. The city could not accommodate all those who came from far and near. Tents were accordingly thrown up outside of the city walls. The Roman authorities, fearing the spread of sedition during these times took extra precautions to prevent political disturbances.

The Passover celebration of the present time differs, of course, from that of 2000 years ago; yet it differs only insofar as the changed civil and economic conditions have had their effect upon Jewish life. The sacrifices are not made and the journey to Jerusalem is not undertaken for the temple

135 PLAYS UNDER BAN

CATHOLIC THEATRE MOVEMENT, STARTED IN NEW YORK, ISSUES "WHITE LIST"

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Catholic theatre movement, an organization which investigates plays to determine what is good for Catholics to see in the theatres, issued today its first "white list" of entertainments in the form of a printed folder called "The Bulletin," which will be sent to Catholics throughout the country.

The Bulletin names in its "white list" 135 plays produced during the last 25 years, the titles ranging from plays of ancient history to some of the latest New York successes. In February last a dozen plays were named by this movement as examples of those which would be placed upon the "white list." Of the 135 plays named in the list only five of them are now being played in New York.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Myster is a Disinfectant and Antacid.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus interfering with and preventing the proper action of the stomach and leading to probably all the troubles of the stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are of little value in cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a powerful of laboratory manufactured simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause greatest distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little Common Sense Myster, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

THE BUSINESS LETTER

HOW TO WRITE IT SO AS TO HAVE THE DESIRED EFFECT—GOOD ONES BRING RESULTS

Well written letters bring business. Therefore, business men should give special attention to turning out such letters—letters that will attract and hold their readers' attention, get themselves read, convince and invite action.

Every important business letter is a proposition having these essential aspects: The need, that is, the conditions and requirements of the proposition; and the need met or the specific ways and means that are adopted to satisfy the requirements. When these have been expressed, only an indirect action and a conclusion are required to be added, making the complete structure: 1. introduction; 2. the need; 3. the need met; 4. conclusion.

In composing a letter, I concentrate under this plan by dealing with one of these steps or sections at a time, attending to my entire and exclusive attention. I take my mental stand first on the need as defined and being all my thinking force to use to make a clear statement of some one actual condition or requirement, then, of another, then of another. I write down the thoughts as they come on a slip of paper, a short sentence to each, sticking close to the particular point.

When the mental point leads to the next dry I drop the word and start a fresh slip of paper with the word not, exceeding in the same way. The work done on this section also, I read the two sections of notes, making corrections, cutting out repetition, putting in afterthoughts; then I write an introduction and a conclusion if any are necessary.

Suppose it is a letter asking employment as advertising manager. The need and the need met are your prospective employer's always. Get busy on the need.

Concentration brings to light first, let us say, the condition that the concern has a rapidly growing business but down the answer to that thought, perhaps in the words: "I take it that your advertising department is at a stage where it needs supervision," etc. Concentrate again and bring out another condition, that the advertising department is non-productive and its work is tentative and has to fight for recognition in the concern. Put down the answer to that point, perhaps saying: "The job of your advertising manager is to show results," etc. Are there any other conditions that come readily to mind? If not, concentrate on requirements.

The first that occurs perhaps is the need for a man to pitch right in and help to build up the work of the department until it makes good with the "powers that be" in the concern, and the question arises: What kind of man with what experience and qualifications? Put down the answer. And so on.

Now for the need met. Concentrate to show what you, as an applicant for the place, can do to fill the requirements under the conditions as these have just been rehearsed by yours-elf. Mentally ask yourself questions, put down concise, single point answers. Your letter will stand up before you know it, and it will be effective.

Try this method. Compare with it the driving of a nail. A strong man or a dozen strong men cannot push a nail into hardwood, but a child with a hammer can by a few strokes, each concentrating his pliny strength into blif, bang, bang on the nail head.

ARTIFICIAL MILK MADE

Synthetic milk, containing all things needed, even to bacillus vulgaris, is the latest product of the laboratory. The discovery, which is expected to be of great interest to mothers, is a process of manufacturing a pure and wholesome milk of high nutritive value, possessing all the virtues of the natural product, none of its many dangers. It can be made up in any proportions desired; that is, with more or less casein, fat, sugar or salts, and thus can be supplied to children and invalids according to a medical prescription.

The discovery originated many years ago as the result of the ingenuity of a Chinese, who saw a possible substitute for milk in the native drink prepared from the soybean. His efforts, however, met with only partial success, owing to the fact that the fluid prepared by him had an exceedingly penetrating and to western palates—disagreeable taste. It was left to a German chemist to lay the foundations of the present synthetic milk by suggesting a composite fluid made up of all the ingredients of cow's milk in correct proportion.

The fluid as far as its appearance is concerned is indistinguishable from rich cow's milk. It is delightfully smooth to the palate. On the other hand, the taste seems to some persons slightly different from that of ordinary milk. It is said that even this slight "taste" can be removed at will.

The advantages of the new milk are obvious. It is of course free from all suspicion of being contaminated with "milk borne" diseases, like tuberculosis, scarlet fever or diphtheria.

HOME FOR ARTISTS PLANNED

Eleanora Duse, the greatest actress in Italy, has contributed $2000 toward the foundation of an artists' home or club in Rome. Signora Duse says that Italian actors and actresses in Italy are relegated to a sort of ghetto, and it is high time that they should have a home or club of their own in which to meet and live, with a library, a reading room, a lecture hall and other comforts. Very likely Signora Duse will give her villa in Rome for the artists' home, which she hopes to have inaugurated next May. A committee of the leading Italian actresses has already been appointed to make the necessary arrangements and collect funds toward the realization of this scheme, which is strongly advocated by the Women's national council.

Mascagni and Puccini are simultaneously composing two new operas taken from Dumas' novel, "The Two Lits."

the "Wooden Shoes." It is not known whether the choice of the same subject was a mere coincidence or not, but it is certain that both composers are rushing their work with the object of producing their new operas one before the other. Mascagni says that he is well on and ahead of his rival and he hopes to get in first. In any case, he adds, he is quite prepared for a fight, meaning of course litigation.

Gabriele D'Annunzio has composed a scenario for a moving picture film. He admits that it is a "disaster" and an "indelible shame" for a poet like him to fall down so low, but as he has to earn money to "buy raw red flesh for feeding and exciting the courage of his greyhounds" naturally he decided to make the experiment and wrote a play entitled "Castrin," which will shortly be produced.

The mere announcement that I am selling these celebrated goods at popular prices ought to be and was sufficient for the record business you saw in my store this week.

It is an old saying, go farther and fare worse. Is there a man in New England who hasn't heard of Sherriff's Worsteds? Is there a man in Lowell who thinks he can buy better goods than Sherriff's at any price? Is there a man who reads this ad. that would buy a suit elsewhere, without investigating my offer?

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Anti-Vaccination Bill Allowed by Senate — The Boston Elevated Condemned

BOSTON, April 10.—The state senate, by a vote of 25 to 9, yesterday

attended the public schools if their parents are opposed to vaccination. The bill was favorably reported by the committee on public health although the three physicians on that committee dissented.

Senator Clark of Brockton, one of these physicians and chairman of the committee, opposed the bill. He gave a brief history of the discovery and use of vaccine and of the smallpox epidemics which have ravaged the world in years past. He said this bill would tear down the barrier which for generations had held the terrible disease of smallpox in check.

Senator Norwood said the matter had been threshed out in the committee and that only the three doctors had dissented. He was sure he could give some terrible cases of those who had died because of vaccination. He hoped the bill would go through as reported by the committee and without amendment. Senator McCarthy favored the bill. He also said that lockjaw resulting from vaccination had caused many deaths.

Senator Bazeley said he thought this bill one of the most dangerous from the point of view of the public health that had been before the legislature. He said he hoped it would be killed. The thing to do, he said, is to stop the outbreak and not to wait till the epidemic is at our doors.

Senator Doyle of New Bedford said that vaccination alone had saved his city from a serious epidemic of smallpox. The amendment offered by Senator Mack was adopted, as was also an amendment proposed by Senator Norwood, that unvaccinated pupils may be excluded from the public schools when it is "deemed necessary" in case of smallpox epidemics. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

Boston Elevated

A bill to remove all elevated railway structures in Boston proper, Roxbury and Charlestown and providing subways instead was yesterday substituted by the Massachusetts house for an adverse committee report. The successful fight for the bill was led by Rep. Tague of Charlestown.

In opening the debate, Mr. Tague declared: "We were told in a public meeting in my district by the officials of the Elevated company that the road would be absolutely noiseless; that it would go through the back of the town and not hurt the property. The people of Charlestown get absolutely no benefit from the Elevated road and it has demoralized the property we have bought with our life savings. 'We are willing to pay back the money the company has invested in the elevated structure, but the Elevated continues to shake its finger in the faces of the people and refuses to do anything to remove this nuisance unless the people build subways and give the Elevated company the perpetual right of way. We have no right to give this company an eternal monopoly of the Boston subways.'"

The committee on metropolitan affairs has voted 7 to 5, with two members not committed, to report the bill based upon petition of Robert Robinson of Boston, to amend the Boston city charter so as to provide a city council of 17 members elected by districts.

The social welfare committee resumed its hearings on the pension bill. Asst. Adj. Gen. Wilfred A. Wetherbee of the U. S. R. urging the bill, which provides that any Civil war veteran who has worked for the city for five years or more and who has become physically incapacitated shall be entitled to a pension.

Rep. Murphy of Lowell spoke for the bill to pension Lowell laborers. Rep. Henry of Salem urged pensions for city and town laborers. Rep. Curley of Cambridge advocated a bill to prevent present city hall employees in Cambridge from being discharged.

Rep. Canessa of Revere and John P. McDonald spoke for the matrons of the Boston House of Detention. Dr. Rufus W. Sprigg asked for a pension. He had been examining physician of the firemen for 31 years, devotes all his time to the work and is now too old to do the work. Mr. McDonald said he understood Mayor Curley was in favor of the bill.

Although a hearing was set for yesterday afternoon before the committee on taxation on taxing bachelors, no hearing was held and a postponement granted until April 16. About 40 were present including Mrs. Charlotte Smith and four or five other women. In favor with several bachelor legislators to oppose it. The gallant Rep. John L. Donovan of Boston espoused the cause of the women, asserting that no gentleman could speak against the bill without having first given the women an opportunity to indorse it. None of the remonstrants appeared to have the courage to deny this, and the hearing was continued.

Public Health

A telegram was yesterday received by Gov. Walsh from Surg. Gen. Blue, U. S. N., stating that he had detailed Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr to consult with the governor and the legislative committee on public health regarding pending health legislation in Massachusetts. It was in response to the request made by the committee that he obtain experts to aid in forming a plan for the reorganization of the state board of health. Asst. Surg. Gen. Kerr has made special studies of organization, powers and duties of state and local health authorities.

LODGE ON TOLLS REVISION

In speaking on the tolls question before the senate yesterday Sen. Lodge made not only the greatest speech heard in congress during the controversy but one of the greatest speeches of his career as statesman and student of international affairs. It is in the main a calm and dispassionate statement of facts, revealing the distinguished senator's knowledge of international law and treaty rights, but there are times when it momentarily abandons the facts involved and rises to true declarations of principles that should actuate every patriotic American in putting aside political differences, personal dislikes and party affiliations in a sincere effort to help his president and his government to solve questions in which are involved so many serious international complications.

Up to the present the opposing parties in the Panama tolls matter either took the view that this country has the right to exempt its own ships from paying tolls, or has not the right, under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty—and they supported the president or opposed him accordingly. Senator Lodge takes the view that this country has the right to exempt its own vessels, even in the strict interpretation of the terms of the treaty, but he goes farther than anyone who has hitherto spoken on the matter by declaring that to exempt our ships merely because we are strong enough to interpret the treaty any way we choose is a great economic and political mistake. He, therefore, throws his immense influence on the side of President Wilson, declaring that his party politics ends "at the water's edge" and he advocates the policy advanced by the more sincere leaders in congress, viz.: that government aid be given to our domestic shipping if it be found desirable, by some method that will achieve the same end without arousing the animosity of any foreign power.

Mr. Lodge in his introduction wisely dwells on the historical facts leading up to the disputed treaty, thus applying to its terms the interpretation of the period rather than the interpretation of the present. After introducing many astute arguments and acknowledging that the language of the treaty is too vague to admit of a positive reading of its intent, he finally says: "I am of opinion that under the terms of the treaty we have a legal right to exempt our own vessels no matter what trade they are engaged in." He also said that in his opinion the "all nations" of the treaty does not include America, though this he calls "a fairly arguable point." To support his theory he advances the fact that of the six rules of the treaty, the other five do not in anything apply to the United States, and sums up this view as follows: "It seems to me difficult as a general proposition to argue that five of these six rules adopted by the United States for the use of the canal should not apply to the United States and that one and one only should so apply."

"At this point, however," continued Mr. Lodge, "I part company with those who insist that because we have the right to refuse to collect tolls from or to exempt our own vessels from the payment of tolls, we, therefore, should exercise that right. . . . In this case it appears to me that it would be most unwise to exercise the right of exempting our own vessels from tolls simply because we have the right to do so." He gives as the first reason for this view the honest difference of opinion that exists as to the aims of the treaty, and the fact that England is supported by the opinion of the world. "With such a difference of opinion among ourselves," he said, "I am not willing to expose the United States to the imputation of bad faith among all other nations by insisting on deciding a doubtful point, upon which we ourselves are not agreed, in our own favor simply because we have the power to do so." The second reason he gives is that the same end could be achieved by another and inoffensive method. "If the American ships pay the tolls," he explained, "and the United States hands back the amount of the tolls, no one denies that this procedure is wholly legitimate under the provisions of the treaty." He went on to explain that this method is pursued by all nations which use the Suez canal, and he condemned those who urge the retention of the clause with the avowed intention of throwing defiance at other countries.

The most delicate part of Senator Lodge's address and that which reflects most credit on his broadness of view and his diplomacy in international affairs was the clause in which he urged the support of the administration, on the ground that the foreign policy of this country would be confused by retaining the offensive clause. He showed how other nations would hesitate before entering into treaties with a country whose international reputation for honor is not high, and he also pointed out the industrial need for cultivating feelings of good will with other nations, particularly with South America. In no uncertain terms he also scored the insincere elements in and out of congress who would make of the tolls controversy a political machine, and in conclusion he launched forth in laudation of the great Panama canal enterprise and voiced the hope that no action of the American government should cloud its benefits in the opinion of all the nations of the earth. Surely those who heard the speech and those who read it will view with disdainful resentment the effort being made in other quarters to throw discredit on the president in his high purpose of establishing the reputation of this country for international probity with all the nations of the world.

MUST MEET COMPETITION

There was a time when this part of the country assumed industrial superiority as a matter of course; industries and manufactures were few and New England had almost a monopoly. The feeling of security engendered by this state of affairs is still alive in all our important centres but it is becoming more and more apparent daily that if this part of the country is to keep the industrial lead or even keep up to its present standard, there must be more individual effort and more community effort of the type advocated by the principal speakers at the prosperity conference called by Governor Walsh recently. The slogan must be "Lowell for Lowell and for New England," and all who have political, financial or moral influence must become imbued with this enthusiastic spirit if Lowell and New England are to be what we would wish them to be.

The south and the west are competing with us daily, and many of their leading cities are adopting methods of booming their advantages that would put us to shame. A Lynn paper noted an instance in point. Circulars are flooding the mails emanating from Chattanooga stating that the chamber of commerce of that city will give $100 to any individual who will give information that will eventually land a new industry in the southern city. It is only the keenest type of competition that gives rise to movements of this nature and to ignore such enthusiasm or its fruits is to be guilty of civic folly. Circulars such as that mentioned—and there are but one form of advertising activity—go all over the country and create a favorable impression for the enterprising city which sent them broadcast.

In New England, or in Massachusetts, to be more specific, while a few cities are forging ahead with great strides, the great majority of industrial centres are standing still or making only enough effort to keep them from positive retrogression. Yet during this time the western cities are doubling their population and their area within ten or twenty years, and they are never finished in their campaigns for industrial and commercial supremacy. Occasionally we hear of spasmodic efforts being made to get a remedial spirit aroused in this section but what we need most is a calm, cool, persevering effort at civic booming which shall include the needs of all New England as well as the specific needs of each community. We must not be too selfish in our efforts at up-building, for when we lend a helping hand to a neighboring community we encourage others to do likewise to us. It will be a grave mistake if the seed sown by the prosperity conference will be allowed to fall on stony ground, for there is evident need for the work mapped out and while we are neglecting it the west and south are pushing such activity to the limit.

Massachusetts especially needs the cultivation of the energetic boom spirit, because we have some natural, political and economic disadvantages which other states do not bear in the same degree. We are far from raw material; we have long freight hauls; taxation is not equitable or calculated to aid our industrial centres; labor is insistent and legislation occasionally blunders out in something which imposes a check on industrial expansion. When Canada and other parts of this country offer more favorable conditions, or conditions that seem more favorable there is every incentive for our thoughtful public men to organize for the betterment of New England as a whole and each of its component centres in particular.

TREATY WITH COLOMBIA

An international agreement that both directly and indirectly affects the Panama canal tolls controversy is the treaty with Colombia, which has been successfully negotiated by the administration after years of animosity and disaffection in the southern republic. Coming at the same time as the commendations of Senator Lodge regarding the necessity for cultivating the good will of foreign countries, this treaty is peculiarly gratifying, but it is still more acceptable as the righting of an evident wrong, for though expediency may have justified the taking of Panama by this country, through the instrumentality of Roosevelt, it has never been denied that the isthmus was taken merely because we wanted it, and until now no reparation has been made. It is to be hoped that the financial consideration will heal the wounds made on little Colombia's dignity as well as the more specific but less important financial damage.

No country, no matter how great or how powerful, can afford to have an international reputation for dishonorable dealings, and this fact becomes more apparent yearly, for just as popular opinion is becoming stronger the world over, under all forms of government, so it is becoming more evident that national greed and intrigue cannot be hidden successfully under the robes of suave diplomacy. The standard that governs individuals is held to govern nations, and America has not been held blameless by the world generally in its dealings with Colombia. The little republic which believed itself wronged protested vigorously but, being only a little republic, without much apparent effect, yet the Colombian affair did the reputation of America for fair dealing incalculable damage, and hurt trade and trade opportunities not only in Latin America but throughout the world.

If by the payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia and by the other concessions the southern republic becomes reconciled to the United States a great step will have been made in the creation of the spirit which President Wilson, Senator Weeks, Senator Lodge, Secretary Redfield and other eminent statesmen point out as necessary for the furthering of American foreign trade, and what is still more important, removing a great stain from the shield of this country. If this is followed—as there is every hope—by the revision of the tolls provision to which England objects, the present administration may well claim to have again restored the reputation of this country for honorable dealings with every nation of the earth. The government has at last realized the fact, apparently that to exercise a right merely because we are strong enough to do so is not always good policy. This great and prosperous country cannot afford to be unfair or unjust to any nation on earth, whether it be a great nation like England or an unimportant one like Colombia.

VETERANS ON WAR

When in the past this country went to war, the loudest shouters did not make the best fighters, and at the present time a great many who would not be called upon to serve in Mexico are urging a war that would mean the death of thousands of our best young men. Those who have fought are surely qualified to judge of what war entails and, therefore, it is significant that when the policy of President Wilson towards Mexico was praised a few days ago at the Boston gathering of the G. A. R., the speaker was roundly cheered. To advocate war is one thing and to take part in it is another, and those who have borne the brunt of battle are usually loudest in praise of peace.

Seen and Heard

The more we see of April the more sorry are we for the mean things we said about March.

In Germany the newspapers play April fool jokes on the people. In Berlin a week ago a crowd gathered in a square at midday, expecting to see an aviator who had been announced to fly upside down, and later in the day many people collected at the zoological gardens to see a chimpanzee perform the tango.

About all of the "beach combers" know that gulls are fond of sea clams and can tell of clam feasts of the birds, but the champion yarn along that line comes from Chatham, where it is told that a couple of clambers left seven bushels of the big blivies on the shore for a little time and when they returned they found the gulls, which had discovered the feast, had eaten all of the clams and were ready for more.

The horse cars are to disappear from the streets of Cambridge, Eng., and motor bus service is to be instituted in their place. During the last weeks of the horse car service each car bore a placard urging mothers to take their children for a ride before it was too late, and before such a remarkable present experience and such a fruitful reminiscence for the future should be snatched from them forever. Spring practice is as important for fly-swatters as it is for those who go to the southern training fields in the hope of improving their batting average. And one good swat now is worth 100, thereafter, later in the season. Not only is it good to get the muscles limbered up for the outdoor season, but the results are better. Scientific fly-swatters tell us that a fly is capable of depositing 150 eggs at a time and producing five or six batches in a season. Grammar school arithmetic can figure out the advantage of swatting the fly at the first peep of spring.

Preventive medicine is engaging the attention of some of our most useful citizens. Preventive fly-swating may be practiced by anyone. No preliminary practice or scientific knowledge is required. School children, instead of being urged to bring in the earliest flowers that bloom, might well be encouraged to compete for the fly-swating championship of the school. It is not only necessary to swat the fly but to swat him early and often. Boston Traveler.

Cape Cod has been made envious by the laurels of the bard of Lynnlock Creek, that Pennsylvania genius to whom the world owes this incomparable and perfect stanza:

That Sonestown is lovely:
There's where you can have the fun;
The girls don't whistle, the boys don't smoke,
And the big men seldom drink rum."

The Hegister of Yarmouth, once famous for fish and salt sheds, now given over, we fear, to summer folks, has a large class of footmasks, and one of them is perhaps first in war poetry as the Sonestown singer is first in peace poetry. Ponder these mighty and resonant lines on "The Fate of Mexico":

"Villa's gun
Has popped the bun.
The Federals are strung to the trees.
The final blow
In Mexico
Has fled the foes like bees."

"Rum and toddy,
The uniforms muddy
Have bedraggled with the dust,
Today looks bright,
But tomorrow it's light
In the din of the battle's lust."

Gen. Sherman forgot in his definition of war its heroic inspirations, its wakening of the heavenly muses.—New York Sun.

INDIRECTION

Fair are the flowers and the children, but their subtle suggestion is fairer; Rare is the rosebud of dawn, but the secret that clasps it is rarer; Sweet the exultance of song, but the strain that precedes it is sweeter; And never was poem yet writ, but the meaning outmastered the meter.

Never a daisy that grows but a mystery guided the growing;
Never a river that flows, but a majesty scatters the flowing;
Never a Shakespeare that soared, but a stronger than he did unfold him,
Nor ever a prophet foretold, but a mightier seer hath foretold him.

Back of the canvas that throbs the painter is hinted an hidden,
Into the statue that breathes the soul of the sculptor is hidden;
Under the joy that is felt he that infinite issues of feeling;
Crowning the glory revealed is the story that crowns the revealing.

Great are the symbols of being, but that which is symbolized is greater;
Vast the create and beheld, but vaster the toward creator;
Back of the sound broods the silence, back of the gift stands the giving;

Back of the hand that receives thrills the sensitive nerves of receiving.
Space is as nothing to spirit, the deed is outdone by the doing;
The heart of the wood is warm, but warmer the heart of the wooing;
And up from the pits where these shiver and shudder from the heights, where those shine,
Twin voices and shadows swim starward and the essence of life is divine.

BIG TEXTILE SHOW

TO OPEN APRIL 27—NATIONAL ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR BIG EXHIBITION AT BOSTON

About everything new and old in use for economical production of cloth from cotton and wool will be displayed in Mechanics building, Boston, during the week of April 27-May 2, when the fourth national textile exhibition will be held. It will be "Textile week" in Boston, for thousands of experts in the industry will be in the hub to attend the many conventions of associations within the industry that are to be held in connection with the exhibition which is to be the largest ever held in America.

To the layman who is interested in things mechanical, the coming textile exhibition will be nothing short of phenomenal for many of these wonderful machines that seem almost human will be in operation during the show turning out the finished product. During the two years that will have intervened since the last show there have been many wonderful improvements in textile machinery and with most of these in operation the textile show ought to be the most interesting show in Boston for many years. The coming show will occupy 15,000 square feet of space, and will be five times larger than any previous show of its kind in the United States.

Several hundred textile experts will come from Norfolk, Va. This party will be made up of members of the southern textile associations which party will hold its convention in Boston during the exhibition. The National Association of Woolen and Worsted Overseers, the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, the Southern Textile club of New England will also hold their conventions during "Textile Week."

The American Cotton Manufacturers' association which is to meet in New York has changed the date of its

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

The Ideal One is a Mild Laxative—Tonic that Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion. Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested food and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

MRS. MARY A. P. DAVIDSON

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative- tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicine of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University, Mead, N. H. She is 73 years of age, and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy. A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. J. Caldwell, 411 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

QUARANTINE LAWS

Three cases of the department of agriculture against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co., for violation of the twenty-eight hour law have recently been terminated in Kansas. The penalty in each case was $100 and costs which were respectively $18.00, $16.50 and $15.25. The Union Pacific Railway Co. was fined $100 and costs of $23.51 for violating the same law.

The law in question prohibits the confinement of live stock in cars for more than twenty-eight hours without unloading for feed, water, and rest (when a special request is signed by the shipper the time may be extended to thirty-six hours).

A case against Henry E. Brown for violation of the live-stock quarantine law was terminated on March 23 in the eastern district of Pennsylvania. The defendant was fined $100.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Discussed at Board of Trade Meeting—Must Have Cleaner Streets

There was a conference in the board of trade rooms yesterday afternoon and it had to do with the cleaning of Lowell's streets, yards and alleys. The conference was attended by Mayor Murphy, City Engineer Kearney, Supt. Kernan of the park department, Chief Saunders of the fire department and Supt. Welch of the police department.

Chief Saunders told of the work being done by the fire department relative to the inspection of dangerous alleys and congested blocks with the idea of obliging tenants and abutters to keep passageways free from accumulations of rubbish. He said that the children were responsible for a great deal of the rubbish in the street and the rag or junk men are a close second. He said that the junk man would dive down into a barrel on the sidewalk or in an alley and scuttler paper to the four winds.

Supt. Welch called attention to the fact that there is a law against throwing rubbish of any description into the streets, and he believed that it would be a good idea to make an example of some of those who are in the habit of throwing everything into the street. He believed that a few instances of actual punishment for disregard of the law would have salutary effect.

It was suggested, however, that before proceeding to the rigid enforcement of the ordinance that cans or receptacles of some kind be placed at convenient points for the deposit of such refuse.

Mayor Murphy told of one piece of corporation property that had been cleaned three times in one week by the board of health and yet remained filthy. It is understood that the ordinance relative to public ways would not cover alleys on private land. The mayor suggested that perhaps it would be well on account of so much paper falling from ash teams that the ash men be instructed to remove nothing but ashes. He believed there were some concerns that would be glad to remove the papers.

The matter of clean streets and alleys was discussed pro and con and the mayor will shortly call upon the citizens for a general clean-up day as a result of yesterday's conference with the board of trade.

HEARS FROM JUNGLE

AMERICAN MUSEUM GETS WORD FROM CONGO EXPEDITION—500 SPINNERS

From the heart of the jungle of Central Africa word has been received by the American Museum of Natural History from James Chapin, one of the leaders of the Lang-Chapin Congo expedition, which has penetrated the interior of African wilds in the interest of the museum and in cooperation with the Belgian government, says the New York Sun.

The Congo expedition started for the jungle in May, 1906, and during its work of exploration thousands of specimens have been collected for the museum, including examples of the white and black rhino, elephants, the okapi and buffaloes. The letter from Mr. Chapin to Dr. Frederic A. Lucas, director of the museum, is dated Avakubi, Jan. 12, 1914, and says in part:

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to inform you that the task of transporting to Stanleyville the collections deposited at Avakubi has been completed and that fifty loads as well as those from Medje have likewise been forwarded to Stanleyville, where all our savans are reported to have arrived without the slightest mishap."

The state officials have always greatly assisted us in the most cordial manner and the work has progressed steadily and successfully. "Up to the present time 637 porters have been sent off as well as nine large canoes, the contents of which would represent loads for at least 180 men, by way of the Aruwimi river."

"Both of us, I am happy to add, are enjoying excellent health, and we look forward with pleasure to the accomplishment of the work of transportation from Medje and our return to Stanleyville."

The Congo expedition has been unusually successful in its work among the Mangbetu. The Mangbetu is very ancient and it is said to have been founded several hundred years ago by Hamite wanderers from the Nile. Okondo, the present king, has extended great favors to the museum's expedition and has arranged many dances and sham battles for its study. He also gave the members of the expedition permission to take photographs of the king's village of 100 huts, each with its paintings and carvings, and also of his three queens, in whose royal dress figures were elani belts and numerous ornaments.

The expedition has also visited Dongu, Farajo and Aba, travelling with a caravan of 150 men, which gives an idea of the size of the collection. In a summer report it was stated that the collections numbered approximately about 5000 specimens.

H. B. Anthony, who has been conducting an expedition for the American Museum through Gator Lake and the Faintu canal zone and who accompanied former Congressman George Shiras on his houseboat in that region, returned yesterday with a collection of 125 specimens of mammals for the museum's collections. The specimens are considered valuable for scientific study and are mostly new to the museum.

DIAMOND NOTES

Local fans who expect to see fireworks the minute Manager Red McMahon strikes town next week will probably be disappointed. Red is an unusually gentlemanly fellow but he has enough red blood not to stand anything but a square deal.—Lowiston Journal.

"Chubby" Carroll of the Worcester club evidently has a pretty lofty conception of his value to the Busters. According to the Inconic Burkett, "he wants the park" before he will sign up for the season. As Jesse has need of the park for a location for the home games, "Chubby" will have to take his pay in some other form. That form declares Burkett, will be the same salary that was paid him last year, and not a cent more.

Binghamton of the New York State

league was after Fletcher Emerson "Studs" Watkins, who has been signed by Manager Duffy of the Portland club. Watkins has had a successful career as a twirler in the attractive regions of Pennsylvania for several seasons. He is 21, and weighs 155 pounds. He is a left-handed deliverer.

Binghamton was put on the map by Eddie Henderson, he of the strong arm and silent tongue. From Binghamton Edward wended his way Lowellward.

Fred Lake, in a little speech to the Fitchburg Trade and Merchants' association, Wednesday night, urged the members to give their support to the New England league team this season. Trust Freddie for being there with the smooth talk. He probably talked them all into buying season tickets.

Jake Pfeiffer says he is going to make things fly around Pawtucket this season and that any team that wins the pennant from his entry will know that they have been in a pennant struggle. Jake always was a fighter and it's a good bet he keeps pretty close to the top.

Hugh Duffy says he keeps hearing good things about Dowell, the outfielder he has secured from the Southern association and he expects this newcomer will fill the vacancy left by Joe Burns much better than he had thought possible.

Mer. Frank Chance of the New York Highlanders refused yesterday to discuss his probable pitching selection for the opening game with the Athletics. He admitted, however, that he had been captivated by the work of Keating in Saturday's game. It would not be surprising if the youngster who proved the only winning pitcher a year ago were honored with the first assignment.

"No one has to tell you what I think of Ed Walsh," said the leader of the New Yorks. "I ought to appreciate his value. I saw him enough in the world's series of 1906 and later in the city championships we played with the White Sox out in Chicago."

But just listen to this. Walsh never in his life had such a fine spittball as Keating showed Saturday. You should have heard Sweeney growling. Why, Ed's hand was pulled up from catching it. There is no reason why Keating should not be a second Walsh if he behaves himself. He certainly has the physique.

Ira Thomas, captain of the Athletics, has wired Jack Coombs to come north from Palestine, Tex., and assist in the coaching of the pitchers. Thomas had a chat with Coombs' doctor on Saturday. He learned that Coombs was recovering rapidly. Ira immediately asked if Coombs could take part in the coaching. When informed that it really would benefit the Iron man he had Joe Ohi, Mack's private secretary, notify Coombs that he was needed at Shibe park.

The baseball public is beginning to clamor for the Federal league schedule, but the outlay magnates are acting with the same sagacity, in regard to the schedule, as they have employed in certain other matters. To draw up the best possible schedule is a matter which requires a great deal of time and much consideration.

President James H. O'Rourke of the Eastern association said recently that he had not heard anything from the league directors who are said to desire a meeting in which to reveal the provision for 20 extra Sunday games, made at the last meeting. It is reported in Springfield that four of the directors have decided to ask for the meeting, but as yet Mr. O'Rourke has received no request from them.—Bridgeport Post.

Joe Burns, the outfielder whom Providence bought from Hugh Duffy's Portlands, has not been delivering the goods, in Manager "Wild Bill" Donovan's opinion. In the spring training, and will be disposed of shortly. Burns was sold to Portland by Jimmy Gray.

Bill Rose, who finished the 1913 season with the Worcester team after Burkett contract. Business in Worcester is going on as usual despite Bill's holdout and Burkett is continuing his plans for opening the season.

GIRL KILLED BY A CAR

HAD JUST BOUGHT STICK OF CANDY—MOTORMAN ARRESTED

BOSTON, April 10.—After spending a penny for candy in a neighborhood store, Mildred Sweeney, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweeney of 3 Dunn court, Dorchester, was knocked down and fatally injured by an inbound Quincy car as she was crossing Dorchester avenue near her home about 6 o'clock last night. The little girl died on the way to the City hospital.

Chapman Dunlap, motorman on the car, was taken to Station 11, Fifth corner, where he was charged with manslaughter. Frank I. Wilkins, superintendent of Division 3 of the Elevated, furnished bail for his release. The amount of the bail was not stated. The little girl was given a penny while playing about her home by a neighbor and she at once hastened to a nearby candy store at 1152 Dorchester avenue. With a stick of candy in her hand she began to retrace her steps, and ran in front of the big electric car.

The car was jacked up and the body of the little girl taken from the forward trucks. She died on the way to the hospital, where it was stated that death was due to a compound fracture of the skull.

GUESTS OF MOTHERS

The Lowell Rescue league were the invited guests of the Maternal circle of the Trinitarian Congregational church in Boston street, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. A. Flather.

The program consisted of solos by Miss Lena Bowen and an address, "Advice to Mothers," by Mrs. E. H. Beebe of Lynn. Her remarks were of a most helpful nature and pointed out the duty which mothers owed to their children in warning of the sins of the day. Mrs. Beebe was followed by Miss Emily Skilton who briefly recounted the need of vital rescue work in this city.

CLAIM RAILROADS UNDERPAID

The railroad companies of the United States claim that data compiled by the post office department, properly interpreted, shows the railways to be underpaid by $22,000,000 annually for carrying the mails.

This statement is made in a pamphlet issued by the committee on railway mail pay, representing 264 railroads handling mails on 218,000 miles of line, through its chairman, Mr. Ralph Peters, president of the Long Island Railroad company.

The railroads point out that whereas post office revenues increased over $33,000,000 from 1907 to 1912, the railway mail pay in that time actually decreased over $200,000—before the parcel post was established.

The pamphlet also directs attention to the fact that the post office department estimates a further increased annual revenue of about $60,000,000 on account of the parcel post, and in spite of this, no practical action has as yet been taken adequately to compensate the railroads for carrying the increased burden.

POWDERY SCAB DISEASE

A NEW AND DANGEROUS POTATO DISEASE—METHODS FOR THE CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10.—Powdery scab of the potato is a European disease which doubtless followed imported potatoes before the quarantine law went into effect. Every possible effort is being made by the U. S. Dept. of agriculture to prevent this disease making inroads on our potato industry, and the cooperation of all interested in this crop is much needed. In dealing with this new potato malady, the department is issuing a bulletin (No. 52) entitled "Powdery Scab of Potatoes," which thoroughly explains the disease and gives all the practical advice available at the present regarding its control.

Powdery scab does not attack the portion of the potato vines above the ground. It is primarily a disease of the young tubers, which develops as they mature in the ground. The disease is apparent by small, slightly raised pimples and a slight discoloration of the surface. When cut open, the infected areas appear faintly purplish and extend from approximately the outermost cells of the tuber toward the deeper layers.

The "powdery-scab" fungus, if conditions are favorable, may eat large cavities into the immature potatoes. Besides consuming parts of the tubers it stunts their further growth and causes them to be deformed. Last spring the department imported 19 varieties of potatoes from Scotland for seed purposes. All were found to be infected with powdery scab and had to be condemned. Nine varieties were imported from England for similar purposes and were all infected in the same manner. The disease has been found on potatoes from Belgium, Norway and Sweden. On the potato's native heath—South America—the disease has been found. It was reported in several provinces of Canada in 1912. From Canada the disease has made some headway across the border into northern Maine. This is the one place where there is real danger at present from the infection, but active measures are being taken to drive out the disease and to prevent the shipment of diseased potatoes to other sections.

The seriousness of powdery scab may be realized from the following statement by a conservative Canadian scientist:

"The disease should by no means be regarded lightly. Severe attacks occur when potatoes are planted year after year on infected land. Where this is practiced the result will be potatoes hardly superior in quality to those badly affected with the canker. This fact is worthy of notice, especially since, as in the case of canker, no preventive measures have proved of much value."

Object to "Scabby" Potatoes

Any kind of scab or other injury that mars or defaces the potato tuber is a more serious handicap in the American markets than those of some European countries, due to the fact that consumers abroad offer fewer objections to scabby potatoes than consumers in the United States. There is even a belief prevalent abroad that scabiness is an indication of superior quality. In the United States, when potatoes are put on the market, scabby potatoes must be sorted out, and therefore are of no use except for stock feed or the manufacture of starch. In Maine the price of scabby potatoes in the autumn of 1912 was 50 cents per barrel, while clean stock brought $1.50 per barrel.

In the country as a whole, hundreds of thousands of bushels of potatoes are left in the fields because they are too scabby to market. There are frequent instances in the New York markets, according to potato dealers, where earload consignments are rejected because of the presence of numerous scabby potatoes. When the soil becomes infested with scab its value as potato land materially depreciates. This is especially true in sections where potatoes constitute the chief crop.

In addition to the fact that potatoes affected with powdery scab are probably less acceptable to the American consumer, there is also the probability that American varieties of potatoes may prove more susceptible than the European. Introduced parasites are often more destructive in a new environment than in an old one. The varied climatic and soil conditions of several of our states offer a wider range for the new potato malady. The brief experience with this disease in Eastern Canada gives no hint of what its behavior might be in the southern trucking districts, the central west or the irrigated sections of the United States. Related potato diseases have proven more destructive in the western than in eastern potato territory.

Particular importance also attaches to the fact that Maine is the one state now seriously menaced. Maine is the chief source of seed potatoes for the Central, Atlantic and southern states, and adjoining the portion of Canada where the powdery scab is now most serious. If Maine potatoes should become generally affected, only the most extraordinary efforts can check the spread of powdery scab to nearly every other state.

As yet no method of controlling this disease, when it once gets in the soil, has been found. The new bulletin of the department relates the results of certain experiments which are interesting, but they are of such a preliminary nature that further study will be required before they can be recommended. The best advice that can be given a farmer whose fields have produced a crop infected with powdery scab is this: Don't grow potatoes for several years on a piece of land that has produced a crop infected with this disease.

It is not yet known how many years the fungus may live in the soil, but its nature suggests that it can probably live for several years.

Sacks and Barrels Spread It

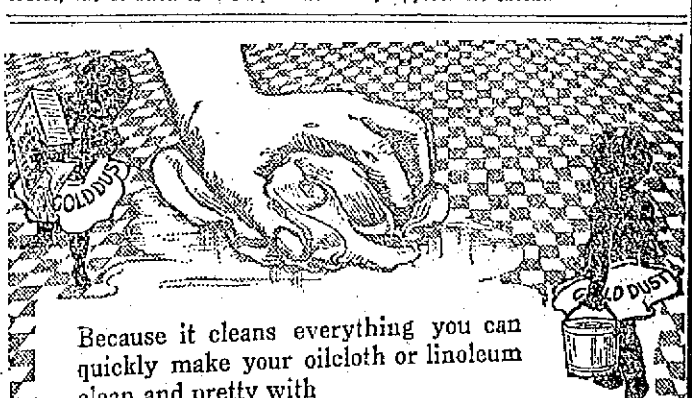

It is well known that second hand sacks, barrels, and boxes are often used in marketing potatoes. Seed potatoes shipped from the northern states to be grown in the south are put up either in sacks or barrels. European potatoes coming to this country are shipped in 165-pound gunny sacks. In some of the western states similar sacks but holding 125 to 150 pounds, are used. These sacks cost from 12 to 16 cents each, depending upon their quality and whether they are new or secondhand. Sacks of good quality can be used many times, and this has come to be common practice. In both New York and Boston

there are firms that act as clearing houses for potato sacks, buying second hand sacks from any one who may wish to sell them and shipping them to potato dealers either north or south. It may happen, therefore, that sacks that have previously contained diseased tubers coming from Europe or elsewhere will be used for shipping select seed from the north to the south.

There is considerable chance of potato diseases being spread by means of old sacks. Second hand barrels may also communicate these diseases. The question arises as to how this spread of disease can be prevented and, of course, the solution is a simple one—by using only new sacks. But this would increase to some extent the cost of potatoes and bring about the accumulation of large quantities of old sacks. It seems very likely that some means of sterilizing old sacks could be put into practice which would make them fully as harmless as agents in disseminating diseases as new sacks. This could probably best be carried out by firms dealing in sacks. It seems probable that subjecting the sacks to steam sterilization for several hours at a pressure of 15 to 20 pounds would render them free from noxious diseases without increasing their cost to any appreciable extent.

VIRTUES OF A NAME

"What's in a name?"
Well, scores of clever young women who are engaged in quality named enterprises in any large city will tell you that there is a great deal in a name. They have proved that there is charm and drawing power and very, very good business in it.
In fact, in a good many of the attractive lines of business which women have chosen for themselves nowadays the name is the thing, and a little shop which otherwise might be passed by almost unnoticed will have a hollow worn in its threshold if it has a unique name, a snappy swinging sign and an individuality of its own.
A store by any other name might perhaps smell as sweet, but a millinery shop, dubbed simply "Jones Hats," would never look half as inviting to the majority of woman-kind as "The Buff Bandbox," near by. And what woman with an ounce of imagination would hunch at commonplace, uninteresting "Smith's Restaurant" when she could refresh herself "At the Sign of the Old Iron Kettle," say—a shadowy little place with gay flower boxes on the sills.
Wouldn't you yourself prefer to buy

your gifts at a tiny shop where everything you got was marked with a little green paper announcing that it came from "The Treasure Chest," and agent you always convinced against your better judgment that milk coming from the Pink Clover farms must be better than any other milk?
New York probably has more odd little shops and artistic handcraft studios than any other place in the world, and there isn't any doubt that a good share of their allurements is due to the novel and pretty names that have been chosen for them. Women are at the head of many of these attractive establishments, and these women have learned that when the glamour of imagination is added to the plain matter of buying and selling the result is apt to be doubled and tripled business. They know, too, that in no way is the imagination appealed to more quickly than by a name indicative of a charming interior.
Most of the cutting places that are oddly and prettily named are the ones that cater to the vast class, the shop-keeping woman. The best of good is always to be had—that goes without saying; but the real magnet that draws hordes of women to the tiny tables scattered in candle-shaded corners or in the open court at the rear is the name and the charming atmosphere lent by an open fireplace, a decorated china, or a collection of antique on the softly colored walls. And mostly it's the name that brings in the patronage.
Many of the little novelty shops in New York have begun to adopt enticing names, with prompt results in adding ed prestige and dollars. If you are mere woman, you can't help wanting to see the hats to be had at "The Little Bonnet Shop," and "The Mending Shop" has a comfortable, every-day sort of air—like the sewing room upstairs, you know—that sounds like a haven of refuge to the woman who has to have something done to every garment she owns.

The little touch of imagination and sentiment with which women are investing their business ventures is making it much more attractive to other women to enter commercial life. The pretty name and the refined, artistic setting make it seem almost more like entertaining than like commerce, yet these very features bring a pleasant fringe of dollars to the dainty table which serves instead of a cash register, and the pleasant play which such surroundings make of a business transaction is a delight both to the business woman and to the shopper.
Ask the successful woman who has invested her commercial work with poetry and imagination, and she will tell you that there's everything in a name.
SCHOOL BOYS IN THE SHOPS
Real industrial training that prepares for real jobs is described in a bulletin on the co-operative plan at Fitchburg, Mass., issued by the United States bureau of education. Boys in the Fitchburg high school, who attend alternate weeks in school and shop, are made to feel that their vocational training is serious business. Here are some of the directions given to each "co-op" student when he starts as an apprentice:
"Remember that the object of work is production. Your foreman measures you by the quantity and quality of your work. Social position does not enter. In the shop you are not a high school boy, you are an apprentice. Wear clothes accordingly. If you get the mistaken idea that any work given you is beneath the dignity of a high school boy, just remember you are an apprentice and get 100 per cent busy.
"It is your business to get along smoothly with the workmen and foremen; and theirs to get along with you.
"Do not expect any personal attention from the superintendent. He will probably ignore you entirely, but he knows whether or not you are making good, and in most cases, his idea of you depends upon your ability to please your foreman. Don't be a kicker and don't continually bother your foreman for higher wages.
"Never try to conceal defective work. Take your full measure of blame, and do not make the same mistake twice.
"Watch, in a quiet way, what things are being done around you, and don't be afraid to ask sensible questions. A good rule is to think over a question twice before asking. A reputation for having 'horse sense' means that you are making good.
"Foremen and workmen will take pleasure in showing you, if you show yourself genuinely appreciative of little attentions. If they tell you something you already know, don't spoil their pleasure by telling them you already know it, but let it be impressed on your mind all the deeper; for the conversation may lead to something which is entirely new to you.
"The foot act of one co-op hurts every co-op. See that your actions in and out of the shop do not bring discredit on the Co-op course.
Representatives of the United States bureau of education and others who have observed the work say that the spirit of these directions is carried out everywhere in the Fitchburg plan. Vocational training of the Fitchburg type is an opportunity for 'worth-while' work, not an easy way of dodging the grind of academic studies.

THE REJECTED STORY

Magazine Readers Should Be Specialists in the True Sense and Well Compensated

Doubtless unknown merit will be heartened and some magazine pundits annoyed by Mr. Henry Snyder Harrison's direct testimony in the case of contributors versus the editors, which is always on the trial docket but will never reach the court of last appeal, says the New York Sun. Mr. Harrison's evidence is given in the April number of the Atlantic Monthly and he calls his statement "Adventures with the Editors." He deposes that in December, 1910, he had the good fortune to have two book manuscripts accepted for publication, one of them being the story "Queed."

While waiting for royalties Mr. Harrison wrote several short stories, 11 altogether, and put them in circulation among the magazines, only to learn that they were not a limited market for his wares. "Speaking in the large," he says, "I could not sell my stories; few seemed to find them meritorious at all, although there was said to be 'a short story famine in the land.' Five days after 'Queed' came out a New York editor wrote a complimentary letter to the author and craved the pleasure of publishing some of his short stories. This editor had rejected five of Mr. Harrison's manuscripts within a brief period and was politely reminding of it. But business being business, the editor, putting the blame upon his (anonymous) assistants, asked to see the stories again. The author concluded that he would not share the fruits of his success with one who had seen no merit in his work, a most valiant resolution.

To another editor who in the remote past had accepted and published a story of the now successful author three (anonymous) manuscripts were sent upon request. One of them this editor had rejected the year before, but after publishing it he wrote that all the stories printed by him had been "tremendously successful." The author asked the editor about the phenomenon, and for once got an honest confession.

"I think I can tell you why editors so frequently reject the earlier and often the best work of writers: It is because any new writer who sends in first class work sends in work that is very different from what editors are used to. That is reason Kipling's work was rejected by the — when he brought his great body of books from India."

Not regarding himself as a genius, Mr. Harrison did not have the flattering notion to his soul, but he thought the statement might explain why editors were often cold to the unconventional story. A third member of the guild having written to the rising author to express pleasure and envy upon reading some of his stories in a rival magazine was also put on the witness stand. Why had he rejected three of the stories? Thus cornered, this editor marshaled those reasons for rejection with which contributors are so familiar, but also spoke of "the lack of judgment of our readers." The fact was, however, he had signed the rejection slip with his own initials.

It seems to be Mr. Harrison's opinion that "the tradition of chief editorial infallibility" is a hollow pretension and he thinks that "the editor sometimes lacks the reasonable faculty of discrimination." That is to say, that the magazine editor is human; never more so than in trying to keep up appearances. It may also be honestly debated whether in periods of glut in magazine offices the manuscripts of the obscure are conscientiously read, if read at all. Mr. Harrison makes one excellent suggestion. In other businesses the buyer is generally a competent and well paid employee. Why, he asks, should readers for magazines not be specialists in the true sense and well compensated? We fancy that genius would be discovered often and that greater profit would accrue to the magazine enterprise enough to require discriminating judgment in its sub-editors.

Co-operation

Every person who reads the following paragraph and gives it a moment's consideration will, I think, accept it as true:

Our operators are desirous of giving good service and are anxious to avoid errors. Error calls simply make additional work for them; therefore, every instinct of self-interest suggests that they answer calls promptly and correctly.

Mistakes occasionally will occur, some unquestionably resulting from operating errors, others from the calling of wrong numbers by subscribers. Not infrequently some defect in the delicate equipment of the central office is found to be responsible for a fault which the subscriber attributes to the operator.

It is our duty and our desire to strengthen these weak points in our service, whether the weakness be human or mechanical, and we can do it if subscribers do not wait until criticisms become complaints.

May I suggest this form of co-operation: If there are slow answers, or if there is doubt of the accuracy of "wrong number," "line busy," or "don't answer" reports, I recommend that the chief operator be called at once. She is directly in charge of the operating room and responsible for the discipline. Therefore service criticisms should be discussed with her rather than with the regular operator whose obligation of service to other subscribers forbids the consideration of matters outside the regular routine of handling calls made by number.

If the trouble is persistent, I want to hear of it and I will be especially grateful to those whose criticisms give dates and facts upon which to base a definite inquiry.

WELFARE OF THE CHILD

Important Questions to be Discussed at Third International Congress April 22-27

"Are the fundamentals in education taught as thoroughly today as they were in the old-time school?"
 "Are pupils developing the power of concentration today as fully as they did in the schools of our forefathers?"
 "Are present-day schools preparing children for life as fully as did the schools of a quarter of a century ago?"

These three questions of the highest concern to every parent and teacher, not only in the United States but in the whole civilized world, are set for discussion and authoritative answer at the forthcoming Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child, to be held under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations in Washington, April 22-27.

SLEEPY DROWSY DAYS

can be avoided by renewing the blood with the nourishing food- tonic, Scott's Emulsion; it overcomes that tiredness and languor of balmy Spring days and it strengthens the whole system. Every druggist has it. Shun substitutes.

dence, R. L. are among others expected to participate in the discussion, which has been arranged for Saturday evening, April 25.

Dr. O'Shea is making careful preparation for this feature of the congress program. It is stated at the Washington headquarters, and is selecting as participants those whose opinions will have the weight of authority based upon wide study, observation, and experience. The discussion is thus assured of being one of the most valuable contributions of the problems involved.

Following this symposium on present-day educational methods and tendencies, Dr. O'Shea is also planning for another, entitled "New times bring new problems in child training." This discussion, like the first, will attempt to throw light upon the following important questions:

"Can the individual home train its children effectively with regard to social, ethical, and moral problems in contemporary urban life?"

"Is it feasible and desirable for communities to act as a unit in determining the conduct of the young in present-day life?"

"Will a school as a social center

Make it "Yellowstone" this Summer. Why Not?

If you have never been there go this summer. If you have—don't need to argue you to go again—you will anyhow.

You can talk about your "trip to the Sun" but right here in good old U. S. A. is the world's wonderland of beauty and interest. Just imagine falls nearly twice as high as Niagara—then a 1700 foot chasm with sides a riot of color that rivals the glory of the rainbow. You'll never cease to wonder at "Old Faithful" Geyser—the magnificent mirrored lakes; and on every hand scenery that defies description. You will surely delight in the stage coach navigation, reminding you of the frontier days. And then I would like to tell you about the attractive and comfortable hotels.

Leave it to me and I'll plan every part of the trip—there and back—and have the details of preparation and starting of your hands. It's a part of the service of the road—"The Burlington Route" (C. B. & Q. R. R.) I shall appreciate it if you will stop in the office or write and get our folder about Yellowstone Park with a splendid map in colors and full description.

solve the problem of the social, ethical and moral training of the young in present-day American life?"

These three questions, vitally touching the relation of the parent to the training of the child, are also designed to focus attention of parents and teachers upon new problems that are the product of modern civilization. The tendency of parents to shift the responsibility for the entire training of children to the schools, community action as expressed in juvenile courts and otherwise, in determining youthful conduct, and the value of the modern use of schools for social center purposes are to be fully considered in this supplementary discussion.

The whole program, extending for a week, is rich in contributions to child welfare, and is expected to be one of the most important international gatherings ever held in Washington or in the United States.

Mrs. Frederick Schott, of Philadelphia, an official of the United States bureau of education, is president of the national congress under the auspices of which the Third International Congress on the Welfare of the Child is to be held. Its officers, committee members, and managers comprise many of the leading educators and philanthropists in the United States.

One of the latest tenants in the new Sun building is Edward F. Slattery, Jr., son of Edward F. Slattery, probate officer, who will engage in the real estate business. Mr. Slattery, Jr. is a very popular young man. After graduating with honors from the High school he secured a position in the office of A. R. ## HAMILTON MILL FIRE

An alarm from box 28 at 8.31 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to the Hamilton Mfg. Co. in Jackson street, where a slight blaze was in progress, and when the firemen arrived on the scene the blaze had been extinguished by the automatic sprinklers.

The fire started in one of the machines in the picker room, which is located on the top floor of a four-story building. The flames quickly spread to the walls, but before any serious damage was caused the automatic sprinklers got going and the fire was quickly extinguished. In the meantime someone rang in an alarm and the department quickly responded, and remained on the premises about half an hour, after which the all-out signal was sounded. The damages which were slight were caused mainly by water.

BALSAM OF PERU

Said to be Valuable in the Treatment of Tuberculosis

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Naturally one would expect Balsam of Peru to come from Peru—but it does not. It is like the American Indians that don't come from India and the Panama hats that came from Ecuador, or America which was not discovered by America. Balsam of Peru is a case of misnomer. Peruvian balsam comes from Salvador, and the little Central American republic has something of a corner on the market for it seems to be the only country able to produce this valuable pharmaceutical resin in commercial quantities.

"Balsam of Salvador (or Peru, as it is known in the Pharmacopoeia) is a viscous grayish red, semi-fluid mass, of pleasant odor not unlike vanilla, and bitter, burning taste"—writes Albert Hale in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union. "It is not very stable when exposed to air and must therefore be kept for many kinds of ointments, salves, poultices and local applications."

The historic, or even prehistoric, use of the balsam was almost altogether surgical. Applied to wounds, it seemed to have a wonderful power to stimulate the healing process, while being at the same time a natural antiseptic, incapable of doing harm. Even today, with all the eliminations that have gone on in surgical practice, the balsam is of great value. It is good for certain skin diseases and the parasitic irritations that so frequently distress the residents of the tropics, whether called climatic acid, in tuberculosis, or in the case of the "fleurbaeny," the particular ingredient which characterizes the balsam and which has been called climatic acid. In tuberculosis preparations of climatic acid have had their value, and are still trusted for certain stimulating effects so that this balsam should be treasured as another of the contributions of American flora to the welfare of mankind.

After the conquest of the west coast of Central America by Alvarado, shipments of indigenous products from there went eastward across the Isthmus of Panama and as the European wanted but little about the real source of his new supplies, he concluded that this balsam came from the same place from which quinine was made, hence he misnamed it, and the erroneous appellation stuck.

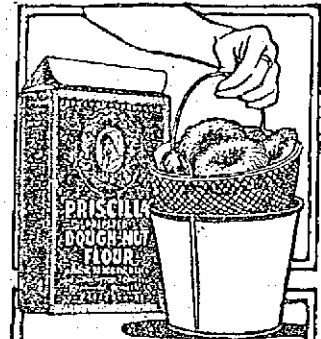

The balsam tree flourishes only along the western Pacific slope of Salvador, between the ports of Acapulco and La Libertad, a distance of not over 40 miles, and covering an area of not more than 750 square miles. It is one of the most beautiful trees of the tropics, tall and slender, with a trunk of from 12 to 18 inches in diameter, and a crown of small, dark green leaves. At full development it measures about 40 inches in diameter and reaches a height of 80 to 115 feet. The bark looks somewhat cracked and is of a grayish or ashen color, with whitish blotches due to the parasitic lichens that cling to it. A few branches spring from it until the spread is reached. The outer wood is white, the inner red or almost black, and very hard. As it is also very durable it affords good material for construction work and furniture.

The balsam, or sap, is gathered during the dry season and in the following manner: A hole is made in the outer bark either by pounding the surface with a blunt instrument or done, thus separating the outer from the inner layers, or is cut with a sharp knife, to form an opening six or seven inches wide by 10 or 11 inches long. From this perforation of the tree then exudes, after a period of from five to eight days, the mature sap, which is collected by means of tying pieces of absolutely clean cloth over the wound, which absorb the liquid. When the flow ceases it is again stimulated by heating the tree by means of burning torches. The clings in which the cap has been collected are subsequently boiled and this sap expressed mechanically forms the crude balsam.

This is again refined, foreign substances removed and the liquid poured into rectangular tins containing about 55 pounds each, and thus shipped to its final destination. A good balsam tree will yield from four to five pounds of sap a year and if properly cared for will live to be 100 years old. Salvador exports annually about 130,000 pounds of balsam of which the United States takes something like 85,000 pounds. The price is usually about from $2.50 to $3.25 per kilogram (2.2 pounds), and an export duty of 1 peso (10 cents) per quintal gross (101.4 pounds) is imposed by the government of Salvador.

FOIL THE SUMMER COTTAGE

It is not too early to begin planning the furnishings for the summer home. An attractive and inexpensive material used in several different ways is the allover flit, really designed for curtaining. It comes in both cream and white and is about a yard wide, there being seven of the five-inch squares in a width. These squares when cut apart can be used in various ways. A luncheon set has the summer made up of squares put together with an iron thin insertion or a loose jagged stitch done with heavy thin thread. The plate dollies may be similarly made of the four squares, while one square constitutes the tumbler dolly. These squares when finished with

DO NOT SCOLD THE CHILDREN

Nervous mothers, worried from morning till night by the care of children and the duties of the household; nervous children worn out by over-study, unable to sit still or stand still or to keep their minds concentrated on anything long, both need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

For dresser covers in summer bedrooms, double pillows and cushions no prettier material could be chosen than this fabric. Some hostesses provide the guest room with pretty night-gown cases to rest against the pillow, and for these envelope affairs nothing is more suitable than this flit, lined with a soft satin in a pale shade and finished with a cluster of satin ribbon roses fastened to the flap.

When serving tea on the veranda the tea caddy is indispensable. Pastoral covers can be made of the allover flit net. Little pasteboard cases to place over cake or sandwiches to protect them from flies may be covered with the lace.

OPERA HOUSE

Following the customary rule, the Opera House today to the pictures, but tomorrow, Saturday, the second installment of the series story "Zigzag" will have a hearing. Last Saturday's success in the picture, and for these envelope affairs nothing is more suitable than this flit, lined with a soft satin in a pale shade and finished with a cluster of satin ribbon roses fastened to the flap.

The story of the second part shows "Zigzag" in the clouds, how he has numerous episodes as in the first part, but evades capture by his quick wittedness and the help of a pretty girl who has fallen in love with him. The story is a comedy, and is a very good one. It is a comedy, and is a very good one. It is a comedy, and is a very good one.

"PEG O' MY HEART" The seat sale for J. Hartley Mann's comedy of youth, "Peg O' My Heart," will commence tomorrow at 3 a. m. for the forthcoming engagement at the Opera House Wednesday evening, April 15. The mail orders for seats have been heavy for this attraction and it is not to be wondered at when the managing director, Oliver Morosco, comes out with the announcement that "Peg O' My Heart," which is now in its second year at the Cort Theatre, New York, will undoubtedly continue through two solid years of uninterrupted run, which will be the longest engagement on record for a comedy in this country.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE For downright funny comedy, played in an annual vein, there is nothing better than "A Dramatic Cartoon," which Norton and Nicholson present at the B. F. Keith Theatre, this week. The whole situation is out of the ordinary, and the character sketches introduced by Miss Norton and Mr. Nicholson are of the "different" kind. No story is told in the sketch. It just shows a condition wherein a bride and groom of three weeks run into many difficulties in their restricted quarters in New York. They work in a department store and have a hard time making both ends meet. Miss Nicholson and Horton offer a snappy character comedy, in which two vaudeville actresses show their troupes. Guerro and Carmen, instrumentalists, offer in the manner the better known grand opera, and Knyce & Dunn have a very pretty singing and whistling act. Robb's elephants run through a lot of difficult stunts to the great delight of children, and Webb & Burns offer an Italian singing and comedy act. Nat Adine, clown, opens the bill, and the Pathé Weekly pictures close it. Phone 28.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE Miss Gladys Matvern, the new leading lady who is to appear with the Merrimack Square Theatre players in their opening spring engagement next week, commencing Monday afternoon, is a young woman of unusual ability. She was engaged at one time with Louis Mann in the piece, "The Man Who Stood Still," and at other time appeared with Angela Bingham and others. She just closed a long and successful engagement at Schenectady, N. Y. The other new members of the company are all capable and well-known theatrical circles. "The Man on the Box," which is to be the opening attraction, is one of the best comedies of seasons. In it Walter Scott Wells is sure to appear to particular advantage. He sure and be with the "first nighters" on Monday, when a grand welcome will be given all of the old favorites and the new ones to be. Only a few more opportunities remain to witness that marvelous photo-drama, "Traffic in Souls."

THE OWL THEATRE Another big attraction has been booked for Friday and Saturday at the Owl. It is a five-part production entitled, "From Gutter to Footlights." Many dramatic situations are to be seen in this massive production, and it will surely afford a few thrills to the onlookers. The other five reels on the program include the Pathé Weekly, "The Mutual Girl," a Keystone comedy and others. Coming for the first four days of next week, films of Maud Sarah Bernhardt and Mme. Reljane plays with themselves in the leading parts, will be shown. A big treat is also being prepared for the Sunday patrons.

THE CASINO You won't forget the date—Monday, April 13. Naturally, you are interested in the inauguration of the dancing season, and you want to know—If you do not know already—where dancing is to be enjoyed under conditions altogether wholesome. The new dancing motion means nothing unless the conditions are right for the pleasure, you might as well remain at home. First of all, you must have a hall properly ventilated, otherwise the disease of dancing is waiting to be fatal. Then you must dance upon surface absolutely smooth. Who wants to hop over lumps every other step? Then, of course, the music is a big feature. The thrill of dancing—its very life—depends upon melody, and the least discord is instantly reflected to the dancing atmosphere. The Casino offers you every incentive to dance in absolute comfort and with positively beneficial results.

Freckle-Face

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles, while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

INVESTIGATE DEMANDS

EASTERN RAILROADS FORM BUREAU TO COLLECT DATA AS TO WAGES AND CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, April 10.—As a result of the negotiations over the demands of their engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, the eastern railroads have decided to form a bureau to take up the work hitherto done by the managers' conference committee. The bureau will collect data as to wages and working conditions.

The secretary of the new bureau will be J. G. Wolter, assistant to the third vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The new bureau was to have opened April 1, but has been delayed by Mr. Wolter's work as one of the arbitrators having complaints of misapplication of the award of the arbitration board.

It was not decided whether the managers' conference committee which was appointed two years ago would be abolished.

WATSON'S HAT IN RING

BOSTON CITY COUNCILLOR ANNOUNCES HE WILL GIVE CONG. PETERS BATTLE IN 11TH DIST.

BOSTON, April 10.—City Councillor J. A. "Jerry" Watson has officially cast his sombrero into the congressional ring in the 11th district.

Yesterday he announced that he will give Congressman Peters a battle for re-election, and that he will begin his fight at once.

His open letter to the voters of the 11th district is as follows:

Gentlemen: After thoughtful consideration, and at the suggestion of a number of my personal and political friends, I have decided to seek the democratic congressional nomination from this district. In order to wage a winning contest, and as I am without any great financial means, and as I am not seeking financial aid from the public service corporations, I must start my campaign early. Consequently I beg to inform you at this time of my candidacy, and respectfully request you to give it such attention as you deem worthy. Sincerely,

James A. Watson,
Councillor City of Boston.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Important reforms in the methods of pleading, procedure and practice in federal courts are proposed in the Clayton bill reported to the house by the committee on the judiciary, of which Congressman Clayton is chairman. This bill will unquestionably be enacted at this session, as the sentiment in its favor is overwhelming. It has been approved by President Wilson, Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, Ex-President Taft, Attorney-General McReynolds, Senator Root, the American Bar association, the bar associations of forty states and many commercial organizations. The Clayton bill provides that the supreme court of the United States shall have power to prescribe the forms and manner of service of writs and other processes, the mode and manner of framing and filing proceedings and pleadings and to regulate generally and prescribe the rules and forms for the entire pleading, practice and procedure to be used in all proceedings at law of whatever nature by the district courts of the United States. In reporting the Clayton bill from the judiciary committee Representative Webb of North Carolina, who drew the report, said: "The committee in favorably reporting this bill does so only after painstaking research and inquiry, aided by experienced lawyers in active practice, law teachers and authors. It is keenly conscious of the difficulty and gravity of the subject, the previous inability of the lawyers to agree on the form that the practice should take, the organized struggle of the last five years in procedural reform, the present urgent public demand for it made known by thousands of communications and the imperative necessity of a speedy, complete and fundamental reorganization of the entire pleading, procedure and practice in vogue in the inferior federal courts. The committee believes the bill makes possible the complete solution of a problem in a manner surprisingly in accord with both professional and lay sentiment. This has been effected by the character of the program embraced in the bill, that made it possible for lawyers entertaining wholly divergent views to accept it. Provision is made for these views to be discussed before and settled by the supreme court, to which plan there is no dissent. The bill deals only with one great principle, leaving all details to the supreme court, which is its feasibility and merit."

SEVERAL NEW BUILDINGS

In Process of Construction In Centralville—Club Being Converted Into Apartment House

The old Spindle City club building in West Sixth street at the corner of Enell street, is the scene of considerable activity, for a gang of men are now at work on changing over the structure into a six-apartment dwelling house, the change being made by Contractor Jacques Boisvert.

This fine building was constructed several years ago for the Spindle City club, an organization composed of pug athletes of West Centralville. The club, however, did not prove successful and then the owner, Jacques Boisvert, had two bowling alleys installed and he rigged the other part of the main floor with several pool and billiard tables, while the upper floor served as a skating rink. A few months ago another club known as City Athletic was organized and the entire building was leased, but for some reason or other the proposition of a club was abandoned.

The members of the Centralville Social club speak on frequent occasions either leasing or purchasing the property, but finally they decided otherwise and purchased a tract of land in Island street, where work on the construction of a new club house will be started soon.

Finally Mr. Boisvert decided to convert the building into a dwelling house and a few days ago plans were drawn for six apartments and several stores. The roof, which is a pitched one, will be lowered and made flat and the change will mean an expenditure of several thousand dollars.

Mr. Boisvert is also building a four-apartment house at the corner of Boisvert and West Sixth streets. Each tenement will contain six rooms and the building is being constructed of cement blocks.

Contractor Morion is changing over a cottage at 394 Central street into a two-apartment house, and the work is progressing rapidly.

The John H. Johnson Co., contractors, are planning to erect a number of Mexican bungalows in the Oakland in the vicinity of Andover street and work will probably be started shortly.

A Mrs. Desjardins is having a three-apartment house erected in Enell street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with the latest improvements.

WATER MAIN

If the way were clear. There was no obstruction met with and the sewer men decided that neither the 24-inch main nor any of the connecting sewers were responsible for the trouble.

There was but one other place to lay the blame and that was with the six-inch water main and that will be investigated. The chain test, of course, was not given all of the sewers in that vicinity this morning because of the fact that a number of them are unobtainable. In order to reach all of them and to ascertain just what the trouble is it will be necessary to dig up the street for several yards. If the leak is in the water main it stands to reason that the water must be finding its way into the sewer as it does not show on the street surface. It was stated today that surface water has found its way to cellars in Gorham street in the vicinity of where the pavement is sagging and the old-timers, as was stated in The Sun yesterday, lay it to bad sewer construction. Sewers were installed there some 26 years ago or thereabout and it was contract work, too. The officials of the sewer department have come to the conclusion that the undermining of the street has been going on for some time and they figure that if the trouble is with the water main the leak must be a very small one, else it would show a greater sinking of the soil.

Frederick W. Farnham, superintendent of sewers, recalls that there was a sewer laid on the westerly side of Gorham street in 1888. Mr. Farnham was employed in the department at the time, and had something to do with the laying of the sewer. From Middlesex to Appleton street it is a 21-inch sewer. From Appleton to Winter street it is an 18-inch sewer, and from Winter to Summer street it is a 15-inch sewer. The depression comes about 75 feet up from the corner of Appleton and Gorham streets, and is about 40 feet in length. Mr. Farnham says that as he recalls it the sewer was well constructed. On the other side of the street there is an old sewer and it has been found to be all right.

Mr. Farnham said: "We have made only a superficial examination as yet. We have been probing at it with sticks and pulling knotted chains through, but the only way to fully determine the difficulty is to excavate and that is what we will have to resort to."

Four Traverse Jurors
At a special meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon the following traverse jurors were drawn to serve in Cambridge, beginning Monday next: Thomas B. Rafter, 12 Walker street, motorman.

DEATH IN SAND DREDGE

BODY OF MAN DISMEMBERED AND SENT THROUGH 4-INCH PIPE FOR LONG DISTANCE

NEWARK, N. J., April 10.—Captain John Hanson, master of a stone barge, was knocked into Newark bay yesterday afternoon and drawn into a government sand-sucking dredge half a mile away from shore through a 4-inch pipe 2000 feet long, into the Newark meadows. In passing through the dredge the body was cut into four pieces.

The barge May Madison was being towed from Newark to New York by a tug. In passing through the draw of a railroad bridge the barge hit into a stone pier and the toll crew Captain Hanson overboard.

An hour after Captain Hanson had fallen from the barge the four men at the further end of the pipe on the meadows were surprised to see parts of a man's body shoot out of the pipe with the flood of sand and water.

The sections formed a man's complete body. In a pocket were found papers identifying the body as that of Captain Hanson.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dandruff. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

FIFTY INJURED

Airship Explodes and Was Blown Against Trees at Rome

ROME, April 10.—Fifty persons, mostly peasants, were injured by the explosion of an airship near Canto, not far from Como. Two of the injured are dying. The officers of the airship were badly burned.

The airship landed in open country owing to slight damage to the steering gear and was moored to trees with the help of a thousand persons who gathered to see the craft. A gust of wind snapped the ropes and the airship was hurled against the branches of the trees. The envelope was torn and there followed an explosion accompanied by huge flames. Only the framework of the machine was left.

The airship, which was named the Citta di Milano, was built by Signor Forlanini and its cost was defrayed by popular subscription started by a Milan newspaper. Signor Forlanini was aboard the airship today. He was uninjured. He said the explosion was caused by a cigar.

The airship was of the semi-rigid type and about half as large as the newest Zeppelins.

GATELY'S

209-211 MIDDLESEX STREET

road, is the undertaking of the university of North Carolina. The university stands on the doctrine of Wendell Phillips that "agitation is education." It is the attitude taken by Arthur W. Dunn, U. S. Bureau of Education.

With a record of emphasis upon debate from its founding in 1795, the university has gone about to systematize and universalize discussion of every conceivable question of vital local interest, not only by the youth of the state in the high schools, but by adult organizations of farmers, of women, or of any other available group.

For some years graduates of the university have established debating clubs in the schools where they have gone to teach, members of the faculty have answered communications, and materials have been sent to all parts of the state from the university library and the state library commission. Recently a high-school debating union was organized, including more than one hundred schools, to conduct state-wide debating contests.

As a part of its extensive plans in this direction, the extension bureau of the university has just issued a manual on Public Discussion and Debate "to stimulate discussion of public questions chiefly by high-school students, but also by community clubs and public organizations." This manual suggests a large number of questions of immediate interest in North Carolina. A considerable number of the questions are analyzed, arguments pro and con being given. References are given to easily available material, much of which may be obtained by application to the university, to the library commission, or to public officers. In addition to this, instructions are given as to how to organize for such discussions and how to conduct them.

While some of the questions suggested for discussion are of national significance, the chief value of the work of the university lies in the way it focuses attention upon real problems of immediate local concern. For example, it is "Resolved,

"That _____ county should provide a medical inspection of schools;

"That all county officers in _____ county should be nominated through a legalized direct primary;

"That the stockman is a worse enemy to the forests of North Carolina than the lumberman;

"That the town of _____ should establish a tax-supported library;

"That it is expedient for _____ county to increase the salaries of its public school teachers at least 25 per cent."

"That the farmers of _____ should form a co-operative marketing association."

These are only illustrative of a wide range of subjects.

The manual points out that "public discussion in North Carolina during the past decade has undergone a most desirable change. Emphasis—hitherto placed largely on things political and national, is being placed on questions affecting the every-day life of North Carolina. To make this change even more far-reaching, every North Carolina community should resolve itself into a community club and devote itself seriously to the quiet, persistent study of its economic, social, educational, and religious problems.

"The plan of organization and the method of procedure in such clubs should be simpler than that of the school societies. Their object should be open, frank, earnest discussion. The building up of a strong, constructive, community spirit, and community interest should be a second object. Out of such discussions, characterized by such a spirit, will inevitably come the solution of the problems upon which the welfare of the community absolutely depends.

THE RUINED CHIMU CAPITAL
Chan-Chan, the ruined old capital of the Chimus, is not in China, notwithstanding that the name might suggest such a location to the uninitiated. If the Chimus ever lived in Oriental lands our archaeologists have failed to discover the fact. They were Americans, just as were the Incas, whose traditions traced back an unbroken line of kings for a thousand years before the Spanish conquest, and whose civilization is so much better known to us, and once upon a time these same Chimus were formidable rivals in all the arts of war and peace, of the Incas. They dwelt along the shores of Peru, as did the Incas on the high Andes, and like the Carthaginians of old, were a seafaring people.

"Mystery abounds in pre-Columbian America," writes Walter Vernier in the March issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, "and the further modern research penetrates into the ancient civilizations of Mexico, Central America, and the west coast of South America, the more the mystery of their origin seems to deepen. Among the problems presented to archaeology and anthropology none, perhaps, is more fascinating than that of the Chimus people of Peru. What we read of these dwellers of the north coast of the land made famous by the Incas is contained in casual references by the early Spanish chroniclers; what we see of their civilization consists of stupendous ruins near the modern town of Trujillo."

The ruined temples and palace walls of this ancient city, richly ornamented in bas-relief, the vast irrigation works, the mounds containing the sepulchra of once powerful rulers, all indicate that the ancient Chimus were worthy rivals of the "Children of the Sun" who finally conquered them.

The Incas, so tradition says, came from the south to settle the region once occupied by an ancient race of cyclopean builders. The Chimus of the coast are said to have come from the north on a flotilla of rafts, and savants are not agreed as to the time of their invasion. Some think there is evidence of two earlier civilizations; others that everything points to a relatively short occupancy of the valleys, extending over only a few centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. Racially the Chimus, in common with nearly all the Pacific coast peoples of South America north of Chile, present the characteristics found among a large portion of the ancient and modern inhabitants of Central America and Yucatan utterly distinct from the highland type of the Inca Conquerors.

Be that as it may, there are remarkable evidences of the advanced civilization of this extinct race. The irrigation works, aqueducts, reservoirs, and canals whose ruins may still be seen make it certain that the engineering skill of the Chimus was of the very highest order. The water was brought down from the Mochi river, which was tapped at a considerable distance from the city. The aqueduct is 60 feet high, and from the top of the ridge overlooking the city, one can trace the plan by which the water was distributed down the slope over the city and the surrounding land. Everywhere are canals and reservoirs irrigating fields and gardens, protected by a great wall which ran for miles on the island side of the city.

A study of these ruins suggests a differentiation in irrigating land for cotton and corn cultivation. The long-staple cotton of Peru was extensively cultivated even in this remote period, and finely woven cloth, dyed in gorgeous colors, was worn by the wealthy class of the city.

In the art of pottery they were in advance of even the Incas, for of all the remarkable work in clay that has been excavated in Peru none can compare in skillful workmanship with that found in Chan-Chan. Some of these figures, heads and groups, were portraits of contemporaneous persons, and the observer is struck with the forcefulness with which the varied expressions of the face are depicted. It is from relics such as these that we get our knowledge of the intellectual, moral and religious life of these ancient Chimus, whose only living trace may be found in the language, the Mueche, still spoken in the port of Elton, Peru, and the neighboring territory. The empire was conquered by the Incas some 150 years before Pizarro arrived upon the scene, and as a race they have vanished from the face of the earth, having been scattered and finally absorbed by the conquerors.

BATTLE ON RADIUM ORE

Walsh Bill Which Provides for Prior Right by Government to Purchase Lands Discussed

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The battle precipitated by Secretary Lano of the interior department to safeguard the radium ore-bearing public lands of the United States reached the open in congress for the first time today when the Walsh bill as amended by the senate mines committee was called up for consideration. Chairman Walsh of the mines committee obtained on Wednesday the unanimous consent of the senate to take up the bill today, asserting that the matter was urgent as every month saw hundreds of Colorado located in the radium fields of Colorado and that over which the government would never be able to exercise the rights conferred by the bill. As amended, the Walsh bill provides for a prior right of purchase by the government on all radium ores taken from lands located after the passage of the act. It also provides for a government-owned and operated plant for the reduction of radium ores and the manufacture of the various radium salts employed in the treatment of cancer and other diseases. The bureau of mines it was stated at the committee hearings already has perfected a process of extraction and is prepared to begin radium making.

"TEDDY IN 1916" KILLED

EFFORT TO RECOMMEND NOMINATION OF ROOSEVELT RULED OUT BY MAINE REPUBLICANS

AUGUSTA, Me., April 10.—An effort to have the republican state convention yesterday recommend the nomination of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate for president in 1916 met with failure.

A resolution, proposed by the Yarmouth republican caucus, was introduced as an amendment to the platform and ruled out of order. The resolution adopted by the republican national committee last December, fixing the basis of representation in the next national convention, were approved without objection. Maine is the first state to take action.

Tribute to Mrs. Stevens
The convention paused in its deliberations to pay tribute to the memory of Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, the dead temperance leader, and the first woman to be honored by the placing of the state flag at half-staff. A resolution was adopted by a rising vote, the delegates standing with uncovered heads.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted without debate, except on the question of mileage books. An amendment to declare for a law to prevent the railroads of Maine charging a greater sum than two cents a mile was defeated. The convention referred the question to the proposed public utilities commission.

The platform condemned the national democratic administration for its "hurried surrender to Great Britain in the matter of the Panama Canal," for its "violation of platform pledges," and for its "vague vacillating policy in dealing with conditions in Mexico."

National prohibition was favored and any proposal to resubmit the Maine prohibitory liquor law was opposed.

The Underwood tariff law is believed to be "unjustly sectional, and a menace to our industries," and the party's belief in protective tariff was reaffirmed.

PATROLMEN ON TRIAL

ARREST OF REPRESENTATIVE P. JOSEPH McMANUS NOT FORGOTTEN, AS MANY SUPPOSED

BOSTON, April 10.—It became known yesterday for the first time that Patrolmen Herbert W. Andrews and Timothy J. Kelley, both of Division 2, Court square, were on trial before a board of police captains on a charge of false arrest preferred by Representative Joseph McManus of Ward 13. The two policemen arrested Mr. McManus on an electric car in Adams square the night of Dec. 13, charging him with intoxication. In the municipal court the next day Judge Murray discharged Mr. McManus and told Patrolman Andrews that he must have lost his head in making the arrest. Representative McManus and several friends had come from a dance in Charlestown, and were waiting in Adams square for a car, when one of them is said to have made some remark about "boy cops" that did not make a pleasant impression on the two policemen against whom charges are now made.

After the men got on their car the patrolmen boarded the car and arrested Representative McManus.

It is said that during the months since the affair happened Representative McManus has received a number of anonymous threatening letters signed ostensibly by "friends of policemen." It was supposed, however, that the case was practically forgotten.

SELMA, Ala., April 10.—The battleflag of the 76th Ohio regiment, captured by General William Hardee's corps of the confederate army, will be returned to Ohio representatives at the reunion in Jacksonville, Fla., in May. The flag will be accepted by Governor Cox of Ohio.

VIOLATE ORDINANCES

Night Lunch Carts on Private Land in Inverhill Come Under Fire Regulations—Must be Moved

HAVERHILL, April 10.—Six night lunch cart men who operate carts on private property were notified yesterday by the police that their wagons were being maintained in violation of the city ordinances and "must be moved."

The order was issued to the police by Alderman Bartlett, after he had received a ruling from the city solicitor that the carts were in violation of the city ordinances and "must be moved."

Restaurant men have for several years protested against the increasing number of night lunch carts. In the last three years six have been placed on private property off the main streets. They are connected with the sewers and piped for water and gas. They are held to be permanent buildings.

The night lunch cart men say they will not give up their places and business without a contest. The new order does not affect 10 carts that have permits to locate nightly on the public streets.

ARGUMENT OVER WOMAN SUFFRAGE THE CAUSE OF MURDER IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 10.—As the result of a shooting, which was caused by an argument over woman suffrage, a well-dressed man, believed to be William Woods of San Francisco, is dead, and James Franche, alias "Duffy the Goat," is being sought by the police on a murder charge. A young woman is also wanted in connection with the murder. The shooting took place Wednesday night in a cafe in what was formerly the segregated district. ### DR. YARROS URGES CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH FOR MEN ABOUT TO MARRY

BOSTON, April 10.—"We should protect those about to marry by requiring a certificate issued by a qualified board of health, specially appointed," was the kernel of Dr. Rachelle Yarros' lecture to women at the women's municipal league, 6 Marlboro street yesterday afternoon.

Her topic was "Some Aspects of the Social Hygiene Movement."

Dr. Yarros is chairman of the social hygiene committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and is lecturing under the auspices of the American Medical association, public health education committee.

"We would all prefer," said she, "that parents take the responsibility of ascertaining the fitness of the prospective husband of their daughter, but unfortunately such responsibility will be neglected while the knowledge of certain facts is yet insufficiently known to the general public, consequently the burden falls on the state. We must have laws passed by the legislature substantially like those of California and Indiana, which require a clean bill of health. The campaign which would be required to pass such laws would in itself be of inestimable value."

ANOTHER BREAK REPORTED AT BOSTON—BOWLING ALLEY OFFICE WRECKED

Several other safes have been cracked by similar means during the past three weeks.

PRIORS OF MEN SENTENCED DIE BASE HOPES ON NOTE WRITTEN TO SULZER

NEW YORK, April 10.—The first of the four gunmen sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing today for the murder of the gain Herman Rosenthal, today based hopes for a reprieve for the condemned men on the alleged "evidence" discovered by E. E. Browne, a Jewish clergyman, which he was prepared to present to a supreme justice together with an application for a new trial.

"This evidence—a note or memorandum—Mr. Browne submitted to Governor Sulzer yesterday. Its authenticity was admitted by Frank M. Thorslund, assistant to Dist. Atty. Charles S. Whitman, who prosecuted the gunmen. It read:

"Be careful of anything from Lul and Margolis." It was sent to Gov. Sulzer, who at the time was preparing for his trial for impeachment when it was reported that Lul and Margolis were to be employed to so evidence in behalf of Sulzer. Lul was a witness against Becker and gunmen, and Margolis against Becker. This note, Rabbi Browne believes, credits Lul and Margolis with authority of the district attorney's office."

C. F. Wahl, counsel for the gunmen, today prepared to make his appeal to the governor for a stay of execution until after the Becker trial. He based his arguments on the signatures of ten of the jurors who tried the gunmen to an appeal for executive clemency and also on the fact that court of appeals had "discredited" testimony of Lul.

But Johnson says that the southpaw will be forced to don a St. Louis uniform if it empties the exchequer of the league. Organized ball is making a great howl about the manner in which they are being used but does not seem to realize that they were the first to perpetrate the baseball outrages, so-called. It is all right, if organized balls puts something over on the Feds, but if the outlaws retaliate there is nothing too bad for them.

A party of Lowell fans with Jack Donnelly at their head will be present at Tuesday's Red Sox opening with the Boston Americans. Manager Gray has been at the first home game of the Boston Americans in years past but does not feel that he can leave his squad or recruits this year. It's a different proposition than last season. With anyone of a half dozen veterans to leave in charge of the squad Jimmy could take a day off but nothing doing on vacations this season.

Speaking about baseball superstition and the manner in which the players themselves act brings us back to "Shorty" Doe. "Shorty" sent up word to Jack Kelley, who will be associated with John Cull this year in the secretariat of the local club, to reserve Dally's locker for him. "Tommy went up and is going to stay with the big show," wrote the insider from Lynn, "and I want his locker," meaning by all this, of course, that Dally's locker is a place of honor. The Lowell catcher's footsteps would be greatly enhanced.

Thirteen players will report to Fred Lake on next Monday morning and some of them are well known along the circuit. Killhullen, King, Collins, Sager, Cook, Little, all except the first named being pitchers; Kane, first base, Sweet, second base; Honegan, shortstop; Spikes, third base; Ryan, Mackey and Kennedy in the outfield, are the men who will wear the Fitchburg colors this season. Killhullen, Sweet and Kennedy are all good players. Count them up!

Mehlman, the Textile school catcher, has a great whip and throws to the bases without an effort. He is green yet and does not know the easiest way to play his position but right now he is better than the average schoolboy backstop. When he learns the fine points of the game Mehlman ought to be able to earn his living during the baseball season.

The majority of the fans who witnessed the Chip-McCoy fight in New York the early part of the week did not realize that the affair was an encounter for the honor of the Chip family. It was a struggle pure and simple on the part of Chip for the Pennsylvania scrapper came on to the big town on purpose to humble McCoy in his own ballcock.

McCoy, a few weeks ago, took the measure of Chip's younger brother who is also a middleweight. In fact, the younger Chip is heavier than McCoy but McCoy allowed him to come in out-weighting him but quite a margin. The Brooklyn slugger gave young Chip the picking of his life in their ten round go, but he held up so badly that it was with difficulty that his seconds managed to keep him on his feet as the bell rang for the finale.

So Chip, the recognized middleweight champion, decided to hook up with McCoy. The bout was arranged under these conditions and McCoy knew that he would have to travel at top speed or receive the worst beating of his career. To all know the results now, how McCoy slipped over the sleeper in less than two minutes with the only two blocks that he struck during the bout, right to the stomach and a left hook to the jaw.

A return match has now been arranged between Chip and McCoy and the result will be watched with great interest from a crowded house. It could be a peculiar thing if history repeated itself. When Chip hung his K. O. on Frank Klaus the boxing fans all over the country looked up in surprise. It must have been a lucky one, they said. But when Chip beat the then-recognized champion of his class in his second bout there was nothing to it. If McCoy should again beat Chip his success will be assured.

Walter Johnson of the Senators, the premier pitcher of both major leagues and called by many the greatest laborer of all time, has not been going along very brightly in his pitching. In a game this week Johnson fanned three men in one inning and then "beamed" the fourth man to face him. However, next Tuesday will probably be a different matter. It is doubtful if the Red Sox will enjoy any such experience in their opener at Fenway Park.

Frye, the southpaw pitcher of the Harvard team, was the whole show in the Harvard-Colgate game at the stadium yesterday afternoon. Colgate got but three hits off the Crimson twister and two of these were lucky ones. Frye landed on the ball for three singles and laid down a neat sacrifice on his fourth appearance at the plate.

President Wilson assured the Washington management yesterday that he would leave the first ball into the diamond when the Senators open at home with the Red Sox on April 23. The first ball will be thrown to Ray Collins for the big southpaw will face Walter Johnson in the opener. Collins may also be used for the first home game at Fenway park.

Phinney Hoyle will meet a tough customer next Tuesday night at the opening of the Atlas A. A. in Boston when he will box Gus Lennay. Lennay is an old and experienced ring artist but it is doubtful if he can stand off the more powerful local boy. If Phinney gets a few of those back handers from the Boston boxer's middle finger, McManis will qualify as a sponge tester.

Manager Gray is thinking seriously of giving his men some road work every morning during the first week of their training. According to the Lowell insider there will be no more 10 o'clock appearances for every player, he recruit or veteran, will have to be at the baseball office no later than 8:30 a. m. Ruben DeGroot will do some talk talking when he hears about the early rising rule.

Billy "It" McMahon, manager of the Lewiston club, will leave Lowell tomorrow for the Maine city and be on hand to start off next week with his club. The veteran leader of the Lowell Lewiston team has been working out with the Textile school nine and his arm has been carefully nursed for the past ten days. "Red" looks for the best season this year that he has had for the past ten years.

McMahon and Pitcher Lohman were teammates for several years down in Texas. The local man says that he is some pitcher and that he should make good with Lowell this year. "He's got the greatest appetite I ever saw," said Red to the writer this morning. "Everybody called him 'Steaks' Lohman down that way on account of his fondness for tenderloins." "Steaks" may pasture a few Texas longhorns out at Spaulding Park this year for his own commissary department.

Joe Burns, the pitcher, sold to Duffy by Lowell last year and who went up to the Providence club at the conclusion of the New England league season, will perhaps be back in the Portland ball yard this year. From reports Burns has not proven himself to be strong enough for the International circuit and Duffy may get him back. He will be a big addition to the Portland club if he does return.

Barrows, former captain of the local club, has met with another injury. The ex-Lowell outfielder broke his leg last spring and while south with his International league club this season twisted the injured member so severely that the doctors are uncertain just how long he will be out of the lineup. Barrows is with Rochester this season.

President Larkin of the Red Sox is thoroughly disgusted with the weather that his club has been subjected to this week. None of the charges of Manager Bill Carrigan has been able to get into uniform since Monday. Another year, states the Red Sox owner, the Boston Americans will stay at Hot Springs until the first of April.

The Lowell baseball club will play its first exhibition game a week from tomorrow at Spaulding park. St. Anselm's college nine of Manchester will face the champions on that date, and Manager Gray's squad will receive a thorough workout. Gray's hopes are high in this regard. The club's hopes are so that we won't mind it if the weather is a trifle cold. The club's antics in this game last year were the funniest that were seen at the park during the season.

RUSH WORK ON YALE BOWL.
NEW HAVEN, April 10.—The progress made in the construction of the Yale bowl is such that Secretary David Dagget of the Yale committee of 21 today expressed confidence that the bowl would be ready for the football game with Harvard next fall. Collections to date with interest, Mr. Dagget said, amounted to $366,949. Expenditures included $103,122 for real estate and about $175,000 for construction work. Approximately the cash on hand is $47,000.

REV. EUGENE J. VINCENT

Young Priest From Salem Coming to St. Louis' Church—Rev. E. J. Comeau Transferred

Rev. Eugene J. Vincent of Salem, Mass., a young clergyman who was ordained to the priesthood on Monday, April 6, has been assigned as assistant pastor of St. Louis' church, this city, by William Cardinal O'Connell, and the young priest will begin his new duties next Monday.

The coming of the young priest to St. Louis' parish will necessitate some changes in the parish, and accordingly Rev. E. J. Comeau, who has been acting assistant pastor for the past six months, will be transferred to another field. Rev. Fr. Comeau came here shortly after the death of the beloved pastor, the late Rev. J. N. Jacques, or shortly after the appointment of the present pastor, Rev. J. B. Labossiere. During his short stay in the parish the young clergyman, who came from Nova Scotia, made a host of friends, who will be grieved to learn of his departure.

Eugene J. Vincent, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Treffe Vincent of Salem. He was born at St. Elizabeth, Que., Sept. 16, 1887. He pursued his studies at the Joliette college and later entered the Grand seminary at Montreal, Que., where he remained three years. A year ago he made his entrance at St. John's seminary, Brighton, and last Monday he was ordained by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell.

The young clergyman will celebrate his first mass at St. Joseph's church, Salem, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and Monday morning he will come to this city to assume his new duties. He is a brilliant young man and there is no doubt that within a short time he will make many friends in Lowell, inasmuch as he is young and active. It is probable that he will be given the care of the young men of the parish.

Fr. Vincent has four brothers, St. John, Abner, Almerie and Adrien, all residing in St. Elizabeth, Que., as well as four sisters, Mrs. Zolique Belleville, Mrs. Philippe Bonlangier and the Misses Flore and Aurore Vincent, all of Salem.

HOLY THURSDAY

Impressive Services at Sacred Heart—Sermon by Rev. Fr. Webb

At the Church of the Sacred Heart the ceremonies of Holy Thursday morning were particularly impressive. The solemn high mass was sung by Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. B. J. Fletcher, O. M. I., Rev. T. F. Wood, O. M. I., as deacons. At the conclusion of the mass the celebrant, attended by his ministers and other clergy, with altar boys and sanctuary chorists proceeded from the main altar through the church to the altar of repose, where the host, consecrated at the mass, was kept until the mass of the presanctified this morning. The repository was a work of especial beauty, hidden in and surrounded by masses of palms, bay trees, Easter lilies and cut flowers. During the day a large number of devout Catholics visited and adored the Blessed Sacrament.

In the evening the office of the tenebrae was sung under the direction of the rector, Very Rev. T. W. Smith, O. M. I. The sanctuary choir and the organ choir alternated in the chanting of the office. The sermon was preached by Rev. Charles W. Webb, O. M. I., of Tewksbury. It was in part:

"Today, my dear brethren, throughout the length and breadth of this world, the Catholic church commemorates the institution of the Eucharistic Sacrifice; and in order to impress upon the minds and hearts of all the faithful this prodigy of God's love and self-sacrifice, she bids us go back in spirit to that first Holy Thursday and there witness the solemn scenes enacted at the last supper. There we behold Jesus Christ in the midst of His chosen ones. Jesus for the last time has offered the Paschal Lamb. That shadow is now about to pass away forever and the reality to take its place. All the long dark centuries of expectation, of prophecy, of hope are now about to fade away as stars before the rising sun, and the daily mass, innumerable communions and universal devotion to the Most Holy Eucharist to take their place. And so in view of these, our Blessed Lord tells His apostles how He has desired to eat this Paschal with them as a surpassing proof of His love and affection.

"With this same intention, also, He tells His apostles and through them to the generations of the Catholic priesthood united with a devout and faithful laity in the centuries that are to follow. Do this for a commemoration of My Body and Blood, the Blessed Eucharist is the abiding memorial of Jesus Christ, the Saviour—yes, the most powerful of memorials, for in it we have Jesus Christ Himself, Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity, on our altars to guide us, to rule us, to be our spiritual food in this perilous journey through life.

At last the supreme moment has come. Jesus takes bread into His holy and venerable hands, breaks and blesses it. Then the apostles hear His sweet words break the sacred silence: 'Take ye and eat for This is My Body.' And in like manner, they see Him take the chalice of wine into His hands, bless with blessing and thanks, saying: 'Take and drink ye all of this for This is My Blood, which shall be shed for the remission of sins.'

In the fullness of this intimate presence among them Jesus bids His apostles make their first act of faith in Him, present in His sacrament, present under the broken fragments of bread which He gives into the hands of each, present in the chalice of which He bids them drink. That sacred body which the apostles hold in their hands and receive into their breasts has not yet been crucified; that sacred heart has not yet been pierced with the lance, those sacred hands and feet have not yet been nailed to the cross, that precious blood has not yet been poured forth and drunk in by the host of Calvary. Nevertheless, Christ says: 'This is My Body.' 'This is My Blood.' Nay, more, He bids His apostles, 'Do this.' Break this body; shed this blood. Already has Jesus, in His love, laid down His life on the upper table, anticipated His crucifixion and given to His priests the power of offering that same sacrifice in memory of Him: 'Do this for a commemoration of Me.'

The sermon this evening on the passion will be preached by Rev. P. J. Phelan, O. M. I.

TO ENTER FIRST CLASS

Leominster Postoffice To Be Advanced On July 1, Receipts For Past Year Exceeding $40,000

LEOMINSTER, April 10.—Postmaster Thomas A. Hills has been notified by the government that the postoffice will be raised to one of the first class

July 1; the receipts for the year ending March 31, 1914, being $40,759.75, sufficient to authorize the advance from second class, where the limit is $40,000.

The office was made second class in 1874, when Mr. Hills was appointed, and he has served as postmaster ever since. When it was so rated it was one of the smallest second-class offices in the state. Now it is declared to be the third largest, either first or second class, in the county, exceeded only by Worcester and Fitchburg.

SEAL PELTS SIGHTED

THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN WASHED FROM DECKS OF MISSING SCHOONER

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 10.—Seal pelts thought to have come from the missing sealing steamer Southern Cross were sighted today several miles south of St. Mary's bay by the steamer Kyle which had been searching the coast for a week. The pelts are skins which have been roughly removed and to which considerable fat usually adheres, causing them to float readily. It is believed that they either were washed from the decks of the Southern Cross or floated to surface after she went down. None of the sealing fleet which came in last week, from St. Lawrence grounds where the Southern Cross had been seal hunting, lost any pelts off the southern coast. The Kyle reported by wireless that she would continue the search in the vicinity, although the weather was foggy at the time.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Though there has been no expression from the White House as yet, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Charles W. Webb, O. M. I., of Tewksbury, who are to be married soon, believe the wedding will be a quiet family affair.

Washington is daily expecting an announcement of the date and hour, which profess to be well informed think it will be April or early in May. Should the wedding take place so early, it is more than probable that the invitation list will be small.

BOSTON EXPORTS

BOSTON, April 10.—That the movement of foreign trade through the port of Boston in 1913 corresponds in general to the record of foreign trade of the United States during that year, is shown by the annual statistical report of the Boston chamber of commerce, made public yesterday. The report says:

"Boston records an increase in exports, and nationally there was an increase in exports. Likewise, the United States trade shows a decrease in imports, and Boston's trade shows a decrease. Boston's exports in 1913 were $70,933,481, an increase of $6,240,335 over the 1912 record; imports were $124,068,555, a decrease of $15,712,557.

"For the entire United States, exports in 1913 were $2,184,042,210, compared with $2,309,217,393 in 1912, and imports $1,704,035,480 in 1913, to compare with $1,818,079,055 in 1912.

"Undoubtedly the pending tariff decrease in 1913 largely explains the decrease in imports. The itemized report of imports shows that the decrease appears principally in wool, hides and skins, cotton and cotton manufactures, sugar, chemicals, dyes, iron and steel—all of these being commodities notably affected by the new tariff.

"The biggest item of Boston's foreign trade is its trade with England. This is $74,435,786, with British India second with $17,500,000, Germany third with $16,537,432 and Egypt fourth with $14,121,449. Our largest South American trade is with Argentina, and it amounted to $7,062,604 in 1913.

"Noticeable in Boston's commerce is the movement of coal. Receipts in 1913 aggregate 7,115,993 tons, to compare with 6,578,017 in 1912 and 6,418,031 in 1911. The big increase rolled up last year is a direct index of the industrial activity of New England, especially the Boston district. More than 6,000,000 tons of this coal came by sea.

REPRIEVE FOR GUNMEN SMALL ARSENAL

NEW YORK, April 10.—Counsel for the four gunmen awaiting execution for the Rosenthal murder announced this afternoon that they had found two new witnesses whose testimony they believed would gain a reprieve for their clients and might lead to a new trial. These witnesses, they said, had remained in the background for fear of their lives, but they came forward with affidavits today because they believed that unless they told what they knew the gunmen would go to the electric chair.

POPE'S EASTER MESSAGE

DUTY TO STRIVE TO BRING ABOUT PEACE—PRAYS THAT THIS EASTER MAY BRING PEACE

LONDON, April 10.—In a message to the world for Easter, the pope, through the Standard's Rome correspondent, says:

"The message of the church to the world at Easter is the eternal one. It is this—Christ has risen. But, though the message is an old one, it has its application always to the newest events. Hence it is a message which always has a new force. "Christ rose to bring peace to the world. It is thus the duty of his followers to strive to bring about peace. "I pray, and I desire that all should pray, that this Easter may bring peace to all the world. "In our minds there rises first of all the thought of two regions of the earth which most of all at the present time stand in need of this blessing—the Balkans in the Old World, Mexico in the New World. May Easter bring them peace. "May all who control the destinies of the nations work to this end, and with this peace may there come inspiration into the minds of all men, and especially all rulers, that their ideal which alone is a guarantee of universal peace application always to the newest events. Hence it is a message which

GOV. WALSH FORMALLY NOTIFIED SENATE AND HOUSE OF DEATH OF FORMER GOVERNOR

BOSTON, April 10.—Gov. Walsh formally notified the senate and house today of the death of former Governor Eben S. Draper and requested that suitable action be taken. It is expected that committees to attend the funeral will be appointed.

As is customary there will be a special joint session later when eulogies will be delivered and resolutions adopted.

Immediately on reading the governor's message the house passed an order for the appointment of the speaker, Grafton Cushing, and two other members as a committee to attend the funeral and then adjourned out of respect. Other members of the committee will be Representatives John C. Gerry and Walter L. Collins, both democrats, of the Milford district, which includes Hopedale.

The senate took similar action, the committee being President Calvin Coolidge and Senator W. A. Bazelzy of Uxbridge.

THE SATURDAY FEATURES

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM SPECIAL WRITERS WILL BE OF INTEREST TO EVERYBODY

The special features contributed by Lady Lookabout, The Man in the Moon and Spellbinder for tomorrow's paper will be especially good. Lady Lookabout hits the women who are sarcastic and tells why Gorham street is sagging. She wonders why it didn't sag before. Her story will interest Commissioner Morse. The Man in the Moon would send shiftless husbands either to Mexico or to the gas box, and he has also a word to say in defense of janitors. The Spellbinder this week tells a few things about woman suffrage, the militants and the quiet American brand, dealing also with the anti-suffrage movement and to what extent the advanced feminist will usurp the callings and prerogatives of men.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

At Haverhill in Observance of Good Friday—First Time in History

HAVERHILL, April 10.—The public schools, for the first time in the history of Haverhill, today only held one session in observance of Good Friday, the school board having ordered the closing of the schools by a vote of 2 to 1, with one member not voting and Mayor Moulton not being present.

Rev. John J. Graham, R. E., preaching in St. James' church last Sunday, advised the parents of Catholic children to keep them out of school on Holy Thursday and Good Friday in observance of the two holy days. He declared that people, irrespective of religious denomination, were yearly showing more and more reverence, and making Good Friday a real holy day.

The parochial schools as usual were closed Wednesday for the rest of the week, and yesterday it was estimated that fully 1500 children of Catholic parents remained away from the sessions of the public schools, the total enrollment in the public schools being about 6500.

The idea of closing the public schools after holding one session today originated with Dr. John F. Croston, his argument being that Protestants were unfit in holding religious services on Good Friday.

Dr. Croston, who is a Catholic and is president of the school board, was supported in his stand by Judge J. Otis Carlton, the latter claiming that the public schools had often been closed for other reasons and that the argument advanced by Dr. Croston was a much more important one.

Mayor Moulton was not present at the meeting when the action was taken, and Herman E. Lewis, another member of the board, voted against the closing of the schools, while Mrs. Grace H. L. Oatman, the fourth member, said she did not thoroughly understand the question and so declined to vote. The schools being ordered closed by a vote of 2 to 1.

DISROBING ACT

The unusual spectacle of a middle-aged man doing a disrobing act at the corner of Merrimack and John streets about 3 o'clock this afternoon drew a large crowd of passersby to the vicinity and congested traffic for several minutes.

Officer Joseph Considine, however, noticed the crowd and immediately started from Merrimack square for the closing of the schools, while Mrs. Grace H. L. Oatman, the fourth member, said she did not thoroughly understand the question and so declined to vote. The schools being ordered closed by a vote of 2 to 1.

Without wasting any time in preliminaries, Officer Considine ushered the would-be "September Morn" into Balley's drug store. There it was learned that the man's name was Peter Patinaude, who resides at the corner of Main and Plain streets. The ambulance was summoned and the disrober was taken to his home, as the police were unable to ascertain what "allied the man."

SHE LOST HER WAY

Mrs. Bertha Berthume, an old lady over 70 years of age, and whose home is in Barre, Vt., came to the police station late this afternoon in a pitiful state of exhaustion. She had been wandering through the streets of the city since early morning.

The old lady is stopping for a few days with her son-in-law and daughter.

ter. Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Lord, of Lawrence street, and has not been the best of health since her arrival. Early today she was missed by her daughter and until the police notified the latter of her mother's whereabouts the family were frantic by trying to locate her.

It was thought that Mrs. Berthume had wandered away from the hotel and fallen into the canal and the police were called upon to aid the family in their search. How the old lady happened to locate the police station is known for she is not acquainted with the city.

ALIBI FOR "DAGO FRANK"

Affidavit Says Gunmen Was Far From Scene Where Murder Was Committed

NEW YORK, April 10.—An affidavit purporting to establish an alibi for "Dago Frank" (Frank Moss, former Assistant District Attorney, attacking the credibility of two men who were witnesses at the trial of Charles Becker of the gunmen and an alleged discrepancy in the decision of the court of appeals which reversed Becker's conviction, were the points about which counsel for the gunmen, deemed to die on Monday for the murder of Herman Rosen, that centered their fight today.

The affidavit, that of Pickle Reo, a special officer in a Harlem dance hall, who swears that he saw "Dago Frank" far from the scene of the murder about the time it was committed, was rushed to Governor Glynn by Special Messenger. Notice of it was incorporated in memoranda previously placed before the governor.

The note written by Frank Moss concerning the two witnesses, Luban and Margulies, was today placed in the hands of C. G. F. Wable, the gunmen's chief counsel. How it would be used—possibly for court action—was explained by Wable's partner, Lionel Klinge.

"Mr. Moss' note," he said, "shows that he didn't believe Luban was truthful. Yet he placed him on this stand as a witness. It also shows that Moss didn't believe Luban after he had testified. If any assistant district attorney did not believe his own witness certainly nobody else should believe the man."

"Mr. Wable and myself will get this note before the governor as soon as possible. If we again fail to sway the governor to change his decision, then we will take the whole matter before some justice of the supreme court."

the various transactions. Commissioner McChord announced that the principal matter to be considered at present were the relations of the Billard company to the financial operations of the New Haven. Walter D. Hines, counsel for the present management of the New Haven said at the hearing that it was the policy of Chairman Elliott and the present management to cooperate in every way with the commission and furnish all information.

Pres. Whipple Called

Harry V. Whipple, president of the Merchants National bank of New Haven, the first witness, refused to testify as to his business relations with the Billard company. He said he was not a stockholder in that company but had been up to last fall.

"To whom did you sell your stock in the Billard company?" he was asked. "I must decline to answer that question as I regard it as an invasion of my personal rights," replied Whipple.

Judge Stoddard, counsel for the New Haven, explained Mr. Whipple's declination to reply.

"We challenge the right and the jurisdiction of the commission," he said, "to inquire into any act of the Billard company. Our conclusion is that such an inquiry is beyond the commission's authority. Acting upon the conclusion we have decided to decline to answer questions relating to such matters."

"Were there any relations between the Billard company and the New Haven during your incumbency as treasurer of the Billard company?" Mr. Whipple was asked.

Overstepped Power

"Suppose," suggested Chief Counsel

Folk of the commission, "that it can be shown that the Billard company owes the New Haven railroad many millions of dollars, do you think that it would be desirable to conceal this fact in view of the desire of the senate for the information?"

"I think," interrupted Judge Stoddard, "that the senate resolution has gone far beyond the powers either of this commission or of congress. Neither the commission, nor congress has any power to investigate the relations, if any, of the Billard company and the New Haven railroad."

A series of questions was put to Whipple intended to develop evidence of financial relations between the Billard company and the New Haven or not, whether the New Haven, through its subsidiary, the New England Navigation Co., did not advance to John L. Billard a million dollars on his four promissory notes or whether Billard was indebted to the New England Navigation Co. for two million dollars.

Refused to Give Books

The counsel for the committee said Mr. Whipple had been directed by subpoena to bring books, documents and contracts of the Billard company.

"Are you prepared," he inquired, "to produce these books and documents?" "I am not," Whipple responded, and declined to say whether his refusal was because the books were too bulky.

To Samuel Hemingway, president of the Second National bank of New Haven, a similar line of questions was put. He also declined to answer.

A. S. May, treasurer of the New Haven, testified that the road did not hold securities of the New England Navigation Co. but did own all the stock.

"What obligations of John L. Billard or of the Billard company were held by the New Haven or the New England Navigation Co?"

"Only such," replied Mr. May, "as were necessary to the conduct of the affairs of the New Haven."

Knew Nothing of $1,000,000

"Did Mr. Billard give his note to the New England Navigation Co. for $2,742,500?"

"I think so."

"What transaction did that note represent?"

"It is impossible," responded the witness, "for me to explain all the details but I think the transaction was in connection with the acquisition of Boston & Maine stock."

Mr. May said he knew nothing about a million dollars said to have been turned over by the New England Navigation Co. to Billard.

MOUNTED POLICEMAN CATCHES TWO FUGITIVES WHEN CAR STOPS AT OPEN DRAWBRIDGE

BOSTON, April 10.—A race between a mounted policeman and a trolley car, with the odds on the car until they reached an open drawbridge, ended yesterday afternoon on Dorchester avenue with the arrest of two men in the front vestibule on charges of highway robbery.

The men under arrest, William D. Edwards, of 508 Columbus avenue and Frank B. Lorenz, of 78 West Rutland square, robbed Solomon Ingalls of Portland, Me., of $30 on Congress street, it is said.

Mounted Officer Thomas Connolly had been watching the two men, who met Ingalls on Dewey square and walked him along Atlantic avenue until Congress street was reached. The officer followed at a distance and heard a cry for help. He saw the two men running, and as a South Boston car came along they boarded it.

The officer made his way along the crowded thoroughfare and kept the car in sight, but was not successful in stopping it. However, just as it reached the Dorchester avenue bridge, the gates were closed for a steamer to pass through.

Connolly rode up to the front of the car and ordered the motorman to open the door, but the motorman failed to understand. Connolly then rapped on the window of the car where he saw the pair and ordered them to come out.

THE FARM LAND

New England Not Deserted by Agriculturists as Many Suppose

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The land and the farming of New England have often been criticised. There are two chief classes of critics. These are composed of people who have known the farming of these states 20 years ago, and of those who are seeing it today in a superficial manner.

For a generation or two past the changes in farming the country over, had left the farming of New England in a depressed condition, according to a specialist of the department of agriculture. The reaction of the last decade is now remedying this depression. It was true that New England land could not produce some of the staple crops in competition with the land of the Central states, especially wheat, that land was low priced. The present change is due to the large and growing consuming population of New England and the difficulty in importing some of the perishable or bulky farm products from other states.

Observation from railway trains often results in statements which exaggerate the amount of rough land in New England. As a rule some of the poorest land lies in sight of the railways, while the rest of this region is by no means all of the same character. The tillable land is much more extensive than is often understood, and the non-tillable is a valuable asset as grazing or woodland.

The development of profitable farming on New England land has not yet gone so far but there are now many sections where the land is really cheap, considering its productive capacity. To make the production of crops pay good interest on the value of the land, it must, of course, be so chosen as to avoid the speculative values caused by suburban or summer residences, or in a few cases by over-estimated farming values.

Avoid Cheap Land

The very cheap land is often to be avoided also, because it is not fitted for farming and is at the moment devoid of forest covering. Some of the cheap farm areas of large enough in average, or produce too little income to justify a farmer and his family. Such farms, however, may form desirable parts of a larger farm business. Most of the real farming is done on land valued at from $10 to $100 per acre and the greater part of it is permanent on the land worth from $25 to $50 per acre, the whole farm taken together.

The distinctive features of New England farming are due to the fact that the region as a whole is particularly adapted to the growth of grass and trees. New England is the region of farming which depends on the grass crop, predominance. These kinds of farming are probably supplemented by orcharding, and derive great help from the presence of woodland. The last furnishes winter employment for many farmers and their teams.

Heavy plowing for the market on the moist or heavy soils of New England is more profitable than corn growing in the Central states. Potatoes on the well drained lands of northern New England and apple orchards on the uplands of all but the most northern part are profitable and command markets which are not so easily reached from other states.

Timothy and small fruit crops are in demand and are profitable to raise near to any of the larger towns and cities. Market milk is also a paying product even somewhat further from the cities, but is not so universally profitable as has been supposed, when it has to be sold for the prices frequent at points more remote from the cities.

Winchester Physician Held Officers at Bay With Revolver—Captured and Handcuffed

WINCHESTER, April 10.—Shortly after 1 this morning the police received a call from the neighbors of Dr. Hermann Everett Hichborn, residing at 69 Mystic Valley parkway, and upon arriving there discovered the house illuminated from cellar to garret. Policemen James V. O'Connell and James P. Donahay found the doctor at an open window in the rear of the house where he was talking loudly and gesticulating wildly.

The men talked with him for a while attempting to have him open the door and surrender, but he stoutly refused, saying, "No, never. You are not police officers."

Policemen John A. Harold, William A. Rogers, Daniel C. Kelley and Alexander J. Mullen of the local force, in company with Officer Brennan of the Metropolitan police, then appeared.

Upon being informed that unless he opened the door they would force it open, the doctor threatened to shoot the first man who made a move in that direction. Donahay and O'Connell burst through the rear door and went upstairs, where they found two rooms in complete darkness. In one of these a year-old infant, an adopted child of the doctor, and in the other apartment were the doctor and his wife.

Dr. Hichborn was in a corner of the room with his wife in front of him, clasped to his breast as a shield, while over her shoulder he held in his right hand a loaded revolver, which he pointed at the officers standing in the doorway. The only light in the room was furnished by the flashlight of the officers and every movement that they made was covered by the revolver.

The only light in the room was furnished by the flashlight of the officers and every movement that they made was covered by the revolver.

Finding that this method would not work, after arguing with the doctor for almost an hour, Officer Donahay went to a neighboring house and borrowed a ladder. With this he climbed to a small slanting roof directly beneath the window of the room in which the doctor and his wife were standing. Flashing his lamp for several minutes he succeeded in attracting the attention of the doctor, who turned to the window to determine the cause of the light.

Then Officers Rogers, O'Connell and Harold pounced upon him and wrested the revolver from his hand. They overpowered him and threw him upon the bed, where they placed handcuffs upon him and his wife. While on the way to the station the doctor fought furiously, but Mrs. Hichborn offered no resistance.

At the station, when Dr. Hichborn was carefully lodged in a cell, Dr. Chas. F. McCarthy was summoned and word was telephoned to the doctor's father, Dr. H. G. Hichborn of Cambridge. Shortly after Dr. and Mrs. Hichborn with the family physician arrived at the station and after a consultation with the other doctors and the police it was decided to send the young man to the Psychopathic hospital in Boston, where he will be held for a week until observation. Mrs. Hichborn returned with her husband's parents to Cambridge.

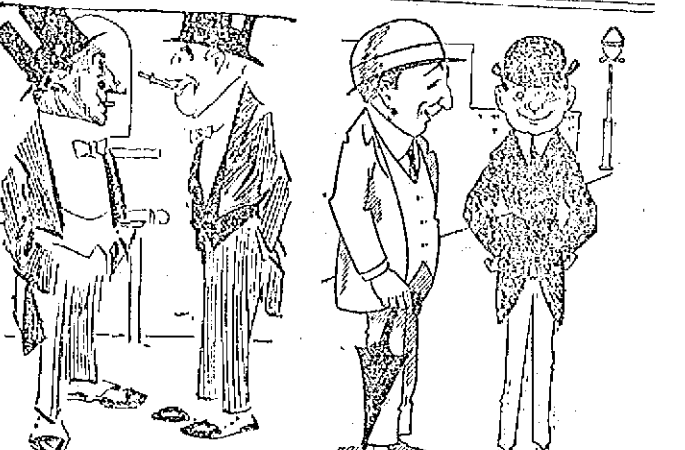

Dr. Hichborn is about 35 years of age and is employed as a dentist in the office of his father on Boylston street, Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Hichborn are not well known here, having come to this town only recently, after purchasing the house that they now occupy.

The doctor has been under a great nervous strain for some time past, and yesterday his wife passed the greater part of the day walking the floor with him trying to quiet his nerves.

The revolver with which Hichborn covered the movements of the police was not loaded, they discovered later.

SOLEMN OBSERVANCE OF GOOD FRIDAY

Held in All the Local Catholic Churches Today—Sermons on Crucifixion—Holy Thursday Services Last Night

In the ceremonial of the Catholic church Holy Week represents symbolically the period between the triumphal entry of Jesus Christ into Jerusalem and his resurrection from the dead after his crucifixion. As it nears the time of the glorious triumph over death the services become unusually impressive, though mourning and sorrow are typified in the ritual of Good Friday. On yesterday, which is designated "Holy Thursday," the institution of the blessed sacrament is commemorated. In the gospel story it is related how the evening before his death Christ called his apostles together and ate with them in Jerusalem, the famous picture by Da Vinci recalls the scene to the popular mind. The Catholic church has always taught that when Christ broke bread and gave it to his apostles, saying "This is my body which is given for you," and giving them wine said, "This is the chalice, the new testament in my blood which shall be shed for you," he gave them the power to change bread and wine into his body and blood.

To typify the death of Christ the blessed sacrament is removed from the tabernacle on the high altar on Holy Thursday and is deposited in a beautiful repository or altar of repose, surrounded with lights and flowers. Thousands crowd into the churches on that day to honor the real presence of Christ in the blessed sacrament. In all the Catholic churches of this city yesterday the altars, of repose were things of rare beauty, decked with Easter lilies and other flowers, white predominating in the color, and gilt-terring with hundreds of wax candles. Last night as usual the Tenebrae services were sung, and in most of the churches there was a sermon on the blessed sacrament. Fr. Callahan preached in St. Patrick's; Fr. Shaw in St. Michael's; Fr. Phelan, O. M. I., in the Immaculate Conception, and Rev. Dr. Keeler in St. Peter's. This morning the mass of the presanctified was celebrated, so called because the host used in the sacrifice was consecrated on the preceding day.

In all of the churches of the city the services today reflect the mourning of the Apostles and disciples of Christ when his body lay in the tomb. In the afternoon the stations of the cross will be given solemnly, commemorative of the journey of Jesus to Calvary, and from station to station the Subar Mater, one of the oldest and most beautiful hymns in the church ritual will be sung by the choir. Tonight after the Tenebrae or chant of penitence and sorrow there will be a sermon on the passion and death of Christ and then will follow the adoration of the cross, the sign of salvation. Fr. Curtin will preach at St. Patrick's; Fr. O'Brien at the Immaculate Conception; Fr. Phelan at the Sacred Heart, and Fr. Callahan at St. Margaret's. There are few Catholics that do not strive to be present Good Friday evening to hear the sermon on the passion, and it is expected that all the churches of the city will be crowded to capacity.

Tomorrow morning the principal ceremonies will be the blessing of holy water and the lighting of the paschal candle. Then will follow the splendid services of Easter with their triumphant joyousness banishing the gloom of Lent with light and flowers and the ringing of bells.

SWINDLES IN FRANCE REFUSED A LICENSE

M. FAURE, PUBLIC PROSECUTOR WHO RESIGNED DURING ROCHETTE TRIAL HONORED TODAY

PARIS, April 10.—M. Faure, the chief public prosecutor who resigned office in consequence of rumors in circulation during the trial of Henry Rochette, the man who is alleged to have carried out extensive swindles in France, was today appointed vice president of the court of appeals at Aix-Les-Bains.

MAN 22 WISHED TO MARRY ACTRESS OF 22 IN BOSTON—BOTH DIVORCEES

BOSTON, April 10.—A romantic pursuit of a marriage license, in which Miss Gladys Dudley, a vaudeville actress, aged 22, joined with her fiancé, Thomas E. Call, 40 years her senior, was rebuffed in Boston, it was learned yesterday, when the Rich New Hampshire lumber merchant and his blushing bride-to-be, who married originally at 15 and divorced at 17, were turned down by the city registrars.

The reason for this was that neither

ASPHYXIATED BY GAS FROM BUCKET FIRE

Three Boys Started Fire in Deserted Van—Father Found Son Unconscious, One Companion Dead and the Third Dying

NEW YORK, April 10.—Three small boys crawled into a deserted moving van in a vacant lot in Harlem last night, stopped up the cracks to keep out the chill, then squatted around a fire they kindled in a bucket. Patrick Kenny, father of one of the little fellows, searching for him, chanced to look in the van today. He found his son Frank unconscious. John Scanlon, a 15-year-old companion, was dead and the third boy was apparently dying. Gas from the bucket fire had asphyxiated them.

Mr. Call nor Miss Dudley were able to show papers proving that they had been divorced from their former spouses.

Miss Dudley was in private life Mrs. Gladys Turner. She married Mr. Clifford Turner, leading lawyer of Rochester, N. H., in 1907, and divorced him two years later.

Her fiancé has also had his family troubles. He married Miss Mabel Cross of Reading some years ago. Following the wedding Mrs. Call entered on a social campaign which quickly established her as the social arbiter of Portsmouth, N. H., where she and her husband lived in magnificent style.

Portsmouth people were shocked to the core when they learned that Mrs. Call was seeking a divorce. She obtained it and piled on an extra thrill by promptly marrying Lemuel W. Pope, a veterinary surgeon and Spanish war veteran.

Portsmouth folk had barely recovered from this blow when they received the announcement of Mr. Call's plan to wed the vaudeville actress.

Call and the young actress will, it was reported from Portsmouth last night, seek to marry in New Hampshire, now that they have failed in Boston. Call has a beautiful summer home at Allon Bay, but spends most of his time in New York and Boston.

His young fiancée has had innumerable admirers from the time she blossomed into womanhood. Her early marriage was a sensation at the time it occurred.

Mrs. Turner, or Miss Dudley, is rich in her own right, and intimate friends of the couple say that her marriage to the 22-year-old lumberman will be a pure love match, as she has not the slightest reason for wishing for his money. Her father was a prominent Portland, Me., lawyer, and her mother was a wealthy woman.

TRUSTEES REAPPOINTED

BOSTON, April 10.—Miss Mary A. Dierkes of Dorchester, trustee and secretary of the Boston Infirmary department board, and James P. Cleary, trustee of the children's institutions department were yesterday reappointed by Mayor Curley.

The mayor also instructed Commissioner Bourke of the public works department to advertise for bids for $100,000 worth of asphalt for side streets in the South End and Roxbury, running off Washington and Tremont streets and Shawmut avenue, streets which the mayor characterized as "mud holes," and streets upon which the city has spent thousands of dollars in repair. The mayor said that he would make a saving of $50,000 in some of the departments to pay half the expense and would call upon Commissioner Bourke to make a saving of $50,000 in his department for the remainder.

With the appropriation of $100,000 the mayor proposes to expend approximately $1,000,000 for street work, or about twice the amount that has been spent in any one year for some time.

He said he had inspected every side street from Duane street to Dudley street terminal of the "L" road and believes that the work of asphaltizing should be done as soon as possible.

ROOSEVELT IN DANGER

ACCORDING TO CABLE MESSAGE RECEIVED IN BUENOS AYRES—PARTY MISSING

BUENOS AYRES, April 10.—There are rumors here and in Rio Janeiro that the Roosevelt party has met with a mishap.

A cable message received here from Manaus yesterday says that the Brazilian river gunboat Cuidado De Manaoas arrived at Manaus with two members of the Roosevelt party.

The gunboat searched the Arapuan river but found no trace of Col. Roosevelt. The crew are all suffering from fever and the supplies were exhausted.

Leo C. Miller of the American Museum of Natural History, and Captain Amilcar DeMagalhaes, both members of the exploring party, were brought to Manaus. Mr. Miller said he saw Col. Roosevelt last on the Duva river on Feb. 27 and that he might be expected to reach Manaus at the end of the month.

Mr. Miller and Captain Magalhaes went down the Ciparano river to the Madeira river, a tributary of the Amazon. One officer of the Ciudad De Manaoas was left on the watch for the explorers in the region which they are expected to traverse on the way back to civilization.

WHOOPING COUGH

Need of Segregated Centers for Care of Children Discussed

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The urgent need in New York city and other populous districts of segregated centers where children suffering from whooping cough can be cared for was discussed at a meeting last night of the section on pediatrics of the academy of medicine. As a result of the discussion it was unanimously voted by the many doctors present to submit to the health commissioner a recommendation that such centers be provided in this city.

Whooping cough carries away a large number of children yearly, said Dr. John Brannan, president of Bellevue and allied hospitals. That many succumb to tuberculosis following their recovery from whooping cough he declared to be a well known fact.

STEAMSHIPS FOR HUB

VESSELS TO RUN TO HONOLULU, PUERTO, MEXICO, SALINA CRUZ AND OTHER POINTS

BOSTON, April 10.—Through the efforts of Wm. S. McNary of the board of directors of the port, Boston is to secure a new steamship line running to Honolulu, Puerto, Mexico, Salina Cruz and other points on the Pacific coast.

Some months ago Mr. McNary talked with the directors of the American-Hawaii Steamship company in New York and interested them to the extent of running a boat temporarily from this port. It was announced yesterday that the business had been so successful that the line had determined to run a steamer monthly from pier 4.

It was also announced by the port directors that the Merchants & Minors' line had intended to remove from their location on Atlantic avenue to pier 2. On the motion of Mr. McNary the directors of the port have agreed to locate their offices on the Commonwealth pier, thus saving the state a rental of $7500 a year.

The girls declare now they will not return unless the old scale is restored.

The water in the well was only three feet deep. The boy had been playing around the cover of the well, when the rotted boards gave way. ## Verdict for Dr. Allen Against Telephone Co. — New York Company Wins Case

The jury in the case of Dr. Otis Allen vs. the New England Telephone and Telegraph company returned a verdict after considerable deliberation last evening for the sum of $37.50.

Another Case Called

The next case called was that of Joseph Harvey of Lowell vs. Jacob F. Allen and Margaret Forays, both of Lowell, an action of contract to recover for labor and material furnished in installing a bathroom in a house of the defendants. The plaintiff claims that he did the work according to the agreement and the defendants still owe him the sum of $65.30. The defendants, in their declaration, state that they had an oral contract with Dr. Harvey to the effect that he was to install a bathroom in their house and to do other work for the sum of $65. They further claim that the $65 was paid in due time. Forney and Tierney for the plaintiff, and Col. James H. Carmichael for the defence.

Verdict of $105

A verdict of $105 for the plaintiff was returned by the jury in superior court this forenoon after a little over an hour's deliberation in the suit of the Electro Importing Company of New York vs. W. C. Hinkley of Lowell. The jury was charged by Judge Sanderson shortly after the opening of court and after coming back once for instructions brought in the forementioned verdict. Mr. Dearborn of Boston appeared for the plaintiff and W. D. Regan for the defendant.

The case of Rose Gagne, charged with being a lewd, wanton and lascivious person, was again continued today. George F. Foye appeared for the defendant and asked a continuance until Monday. The girl lives in Salem, Mass., and her parents are expected to arrive in Lowell before the case comes up again. William Brown pleaded guilty to non-support of his minor child. ## Maj. Gen. Wood of Army Sends Letters to School Heads Indorsing Student Camps

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, today sent out to school superintendents all over the country a letter endorsing the student military instruction camps to be held during the coming summer. Alluding to the fact that these camps have the hearty endorsement of President Wilson and former President Taft as well as leading educators, General Wood says: "Knowing the benefit of a certain amount of military training to a nation and that in the United States such training can only be obtained by voluntary effort and that the great majority of young men are unable to afford this training as given in the various military schools and colleges, the secretary of war has decided to establish four students' military instruction camps during the coming summer in which students 18 years of age or more—members of the graduating classes at high schools throughout the country—are eligible to attend; this at the minimum cost for food and clothing and transportation. "These camps are of great value not only to the students of a physical and educational standpoint but to the nation, in that it spreads among its citizens a considerable amount of sound military information and increases by just that much the number of partially trained men who would be available and greatly needed in time of emergency. "The camps will be held at Asheville, N. C., Burlington, Vt., and Ludington, Mich., from July 6th to Aug. 7th, and at Monterey, Cal., from June 26 to July 31.

MANEUVERS ABANDONED BOY VOYAGES ON FLOE

PLANS FOR BIG EVENT ABOUT BOSTON CALLED OFF—INSTRUCTION CAMPS ARE PLANNED

BOSTON, April 10.—Plans for the big army, militia and navy maneuvers about Boston have been abandoned, according to reports made at a meeting of commanding officers of the state militia yesterday. For the first time in several years the state troops will eliminate maneuvering and hold camps of instruction.

The heads of the Massachusetts militia will recommend that a joint camp of instruction for the Fifth division—all of New England—will be held on Cape Cod with the Second brigade from July 13 to July 13. The Second brigade includes the fifth, eighth and ninth regiments. The First brigade, including the second and sixth regiments, will have its camp in southeastern Massachusetts from July 5 to July 12. The Second Corps Cadets will hold camp near Roxford from July 11 to July 15.

All of the state cavalry bodies, including Troop A (amateurs), Troop B (Troop C and Troop D), will go to Connecticut and hold a joint camp with cavalry troops from Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut. This camp will be held near Pomfret.

These plans are provisional, according to the adjutant general.

ICE CAKE BREAKS WHEN RIVER CLEARS BUT BOY STEERS TO SHORE SAFELY

BANGOR, Me., April 10.—The ice wedge on the Penobscot river and the port of Bangor opened to navigation yesterday afternoon. This is about the average time of opening, although nearly two weeks later than last spring.

An exciting episode of the clearing of the ice was the voyage of a small boy who was standing on the edge of the ice above the Bangor-Brewer bridge when a floe broke off, sending him adrift down stream. The boy used a stick for a paddle and worked his ice cake in toward the Brewer shore. A riverman broke off another floe and, with a board for a paddle, put out to rescue the boy.

The latter managed to steer his ice cake toward a wharf so that he got ashore, while the man floated down river some distance and finally made a landing.

ORDERED BACK TO JAIL

ROCKLAND, Me., April 10.—Ex-Albany Fred M. Blackington, who was released from the county jail by Sheriff Tolman a few weeks ago, was ordered back to that institution yesterday by Associate Justice Leslie C. Cornish.

This order was given after the judge had listened carefully to the report of a physician sent by the court to make an examination of Blackington's physical condition. Judge Cornish further directed that in case of a recurrence of the prisoner's violent spells that sufficient medical aid be provided and, if necessary, that he be confined in special quarters. About half of the term to which Blackington was sentenced for attempted blackmail has expired.

Judge Cornish allowed a continuance of the civil case in which the prisoner is a party.

HAIL AND WIND STORMS

DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE TO VEGETABLE AND CITRUS FRUIT CROPS

OCALA, Fla., April 10.—Hail and wind storms, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature last night, did much damage to vegetable and citrus fruit crops throughout Central Florida. Orange groves and melon and tomato fields suffered severely. Southern Florida, however, where the bulk of the peninsula's citrus fruits are produced experienced only a cool rain. Frost in the state was confined to the northwestern section, where crops were not sufficiently matured to suffer materially.

The heaviest loss was in this section, which was swept by a storm of cyclonic proportions. Houses were unroofed, windows broken and several orange groves destroyed. The melon crop in this and adjoining counties, the center of the melon belt of Florida, is believed to be almost a total loss.

LITTLE DAMAGE AT ATLANTA ATLANTA, Ga., April 10.—Damage to fruit in Georgia's peach belt after last night's low temperature was small, according to advices received today. A brisk wind protected fruit trees on high ground and frost was experienced only in the lowlands.

THE SUN IN BOSTON—THE SUN IS on sale every day at both news stands of the Union station in Boston. Don't forget this when taking your train for Lowell.

Mr. Draper was stricken at a hotel here a few hours after his arrival on his way home from a trip to Florida and Cuba.

As soon as his condition was noted by the physicians telegrams were sent to members of his family in Massachusetts, summoning them to his bedside. They arrived here yesterday.

BORN IN MILFORD

Draper Came of Revolutionary Stock—Family Long Connected With Manufacture of Machinery

BOSTON, April 10.—Eben Sumner Draper was born in Milford, in Worcester county, June 17, 1858, the son of George and Hannah (Thwing) Draper. The family is one of the oldest in Massachusetts, being descendants of James and Miriam (Stansfield) Draper, who came from Yorkshire, England, to Roxbury in 1647.

A great-grandfather of the former governor was Major Abijah Draper of Dedham, who fought in the Revolutionary war.

Pioneer Manufacturers

The Drapers had been manufacturers and inventors of weaving and spinning machinery for many years before their removal from England to this country, and they continued in the same industry after settling in Roxbury.

Eben S. Draper seemed to inherit the family trait in his love for things mechanical and after graduating from the public schools in West Newton he was admitted to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and completed a course in the department of engineering.

Immediately after finishing his work at Technology, he determined to follow in the footsteps of his ancestors and enter into the manufacture of weaving and spinning machinery. With this purpose in view he began work in the Hopedale machine shops where he was trained in various details of the business.

Later he entered several cotton mills in Lowell, Manchester and other of the New England textile centers, studying every phase of the business. In all he put in three years learning the practical end of the industry, which was to be his life work, and was the knowledge thus acquired he became selling agent for the several Hopedale concerns in introducing new machinery.

His advancement was rapid and upon attaining his majority, he was taken into the firm of George Draper & Sons, of which his father was the controlling factor. With the reorganization of the company into the Draper company in 1856 he was elected selling agent.

During the early part of his life Mr. Draper confined his interests solely to business and it was not until 1882 that he became a conspicuous figure in the political life of the state, although prior to that time he had served the republican party as a member of the Milford and Hopedale town councils.

He was also chairman of his senatorial district committee and a member of the congressional district committee.

In 1892 he was chosen chairman of the republican state committee, and the following year declined nomination for re-election. He continued to serve on the committee, however, during the next three years.

He went as a delegate from Massachusetts in 1896 to the republican national convention at St. Louis and was made chairman of the Massachusetts delegation.

Four years later Mr. Draper's activity in the republican ranks had won him the respect and admiration of all his co-workers, and he was republican presidential elector for the 11th congressional district.

Mr. Draper was a member of the Massachusetts militia for three years, and upon the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he was made president of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid association by Governor Wolcott. This association purchased and equipped the hospital ship Bay State at an expense of $200,000, also raising $200,000 more for the care of the Massachusetts soldiers and sailors. He was also chairman of the Massachusetts Association for the Relief of California.

Lieutenant-Governor

In 1905 the republican state convention unanimously nominated him for lieutenant-governor of the commonwealth, and he was elected and was inaugurated in January, 1906. He was twice re-elected.

In 1908 he was nominated for gov-error by the republican state convention and was elected. He served two terms—1909 and 1910.

During the time of his service as governor he took a determined stand on labor questions and reciprocity which embittered many people. Considerable storm was evoked over railroad matters and his advocacy of the New Haven-Boston & Maine merger, which he finally forced through the legislature by the creation of the Boston Railroad Holding company and the making of that company's bonds legal investments for savings banks.

Mr. Draper was bitterly attacked by the American Federation of Labor for his veto of the 8-hour law for public employees and opposition to the 54-hour law, which he contended would handicap further the great productive industries of Massachusetts and kill competition of mills.

Defeated by Foss

With the opposition engendered by his attitude on labor matters and reciprocal relations with Canada concerted against him Mr. Draper, while contending that he was right, found strong forces lined up against him. He began his campaign for the term, to be defeated by the Hon. Eugene H. Foss, the democratic candidate.

Mr. Draper always had large business interests under his care. He was associated with the Hopedale Machine company, the Dutcher-Temple company, the Hopedale Machine Screw company, the Globe Yarn Mills, the Continental Mill Co. of Lowell, the Glasgow Thread company. He was vice-president of the Mayville company and director of the Draper company, the Milford National bank, the Queen City Cotton company of Vermont and the Sawyer Spindle company of Maine. He also had always retained an active interest in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a member of the corporation.

Devoted to Home Life

Despite his many business and political interests, however, Governor Draper always devoted much time to his home life. He was married in 1883 to Miss Naamie Holston, the daughter of General B. H. Bristol of Kentucky, secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Grant and a candidate for president against Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

Mr. Draper took his bride to Hopedale, to a home he had built opposite that of his elder brothers. They had three children, two sons and a daughter.

Mr. Draper's chief recreations were golf and yachting. He was a sportsman of both. On his estate at Hopedale he built a course and expended a great part of his leisure time there. His stables were noted, and he kept many thoroughbreds.

While lieutenant-governor Mr. Draper purchased a beautiful home at 150 Beacon street, Boston, which he made his winter home until it was destroyed by fire in October, 1903, with a loss of $150,000.

Failed After Wife's Death

Mr. Draper's wife died suddenly from heart disease at Hopedale, Sept. 24, 1913. From that time on the ex-governor failed rapidly, never reconciling himself to his loss. This spring Mr. Draper had a mausoleum designed by Tiffany studio in New York, erected in her memory in the Hopedale cemetery.

A Unitarian in Religion, Governor Draper was some years ago elected vice-president of the American Unitarian association. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Metropolitan club, of New York, the Hope club of Providence and the Somerset, Algonquin, Union, Middle-

BROKE ON $10,000 A YEAR

MISS KATIE SCHERMHORN OF NEW YORK WANTS $5000 A YEAR MORE FROM PARENTS' ESTATE

NEW YORK, April 10.—It was fourth in a complaint yesterday that $10,000 a year is not enough for the support of Miss Katie Schermhorn, years old. The complaint was filed in the supreme court in an action against the trustees of the estate of her parents. She is engaged to be married and wants $5000 a year more. A decree was appointed by the court to decide the question.

The girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Schermhorn, died seven years ago leaving several million dollars' worth of real estate. "Miss Schermhorn has always been carefully and expensively nurtured and brought up, and has been maintained and supported in elegance and luxury," her guardian declares in the present action.

When she is 21 years old Miss Schermhorn's income will be increased under her parents' will.

POPULAR PRIEST TRANSFERRED EX-GOV. DRAPER DEAD

Rev. John Burns of St. Peter's Goes to South Boston

Great Regret Among His Parishioners at His Departure

Few changes among the priests who have ministered in this city have ever been received with more genuine regret than the transfer of Rev. John F. Burns of St. Peter's to the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, to which he has been assigned as assistant to Rev. Fr. Robert J. Johnson. The report that Fr. Burns is to leave for other fields of labor has spread through the parish and on every side are heard expressions of regret, for he has been loved and respected by the people he has served so well. Coming to St. Peter's about six years ago, he took up the work that ordinarily falls to the Catholic curate with zeal and enthusiasm, and he leaves a lasting testimony to his efforts in the Holy Name society for which he labored untiringly day and night. Through his efforts mainly it has been
